Scorching Weather Brings In Summer With 90-Degree Heat

Beaches Are Crowded, Fire Warning Sounded

Summer started yesterday with a scorching opener that sent temperatures above the 90-degree mark and residents flocking to beaches and parks.

Late morning temperatures today indicated that the afternoon would be even hotter, and the fire danger greater.

San Anselmo had the top mark of 94 degrees yesterday, while San Rafael and Novato hit the 90-degree mark.

Temperatures started to climb again this morning and shortly before 11 a.m., Novato reported 90, and Woodacre, 88. In San Rafael the temperature reached 84 at noon.

It was estimated 9,600 persons jammed Stinson Beach State Park, where the temperatures ranged from 75 to 78 degrees yesterday afternoon.

Despite the heat, there were no displays of the new, controversial topless bathing suit, reported Robert G. Carlson, park supervisor.

ALL ILLEGAL

"As far as I'm concerned they are illegal," Carlson said. He said the law requires that beach attire conform to accepted public standard, and he didn't believe the topless suits have yet been accepted by the public.

There was a crowd at the beach again today.

There were 2,700 visitors to Samuel P. Taylor State Park, another of the cooler spots, where the high reached about 75 degrees, reported Neil Power, park supervisor. The camping grounds were filled every night over the weekend and picnic tables were all taken by 11:30 a.m. yesterday, he said. "People were sitting all over."

TAKING DIP

The heat drove some residents to break the law by taking a dip in the Cascade Reservoir in the Cascade Canyon of Mill Valley Saturday. Police reported swimmers were advised to leave the reservoir and they noted that the reservoir fence has to be repaired in places.

The Marin County Fire Department received a high fire danger report from the U.S. Weather Bureau because of the high temperatures and low humidity.

Residents are urged to be extremely careful with fires during the hot weather, the fire department reported.

High temperatures in other communities yesterday were: Woodacre, 89; Santa Venetia, 88; Ross, 83; Belvedere and Mill Valley, 82.

The Weather Bureau predicted that coastal fog will lower temperatures tomorrow, but above-normal temperatures will continue in Northern California during the first part of the week.

POLLY DIDN'T WANT THEIR CRACKERS

Terra Linda firemen tried to get the bird Saturday but could not quite manage it. The bird, a parrot, last seen flapping away over a back fence, was still at large today.

The parrot was found about 1 p.m. Saturday in a tree in the yard of Francis L. Murray at 483 Las Colindas Road, squawking occasionally. A child came by and said he was the owner and would like it back.

Firemen were called, put a ladder up to the tree and started to climb, as the parrot remained placid. As a fireman reached out for the bird, it took off for another tree, and then another, and then . . .

"Perhaps if we had soaked him down first . . ." mused one fireman.

Field Trip Shows Plans For Flood Control Work

Construction of the proposed 6.8 million dollar Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project could start in 1967 if it gets local backing, according to Clarence Elmore, project engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers.

Elmore outlined the project during a three-hour tour of the creek Saturday by city and county officials and interested residents.

The federal funds, $5,534,000, would cover construction and $1,338,000, reimbursable by the state, would cover right-of-way and utility easements. But the local communities benefiting from the project would have to pay $26,200 annually for maintenance and operation.

This could be done either through by forming a flood control zone, or as a joint project between the towns and the county.

Unless the project is favored by a majority of the communities involved, "it will come to a screeching halt," Elmore said.

Residents will have to decide whether to accept the project as proposed, seek changes or have no project at all, he said.

During a pre-tour briefing at College of Marin, Elmore said the Army Engineers propose to maintain the existing beauty of the creek as much as possible, but some trees will have to be removed.

The first object is flood control and second, esthetics, he said. "We are here to relieve danger, and the project is designed to protect lives."

As the project is planned, from just east of Highway 101 to Fairfax there will be earth embankment, levees and concrete channels. The width will range from 260 feet east of the Bon Air Bridge to 25 feet in "the upper reaches," Elmore said.

About 60 persons, traveling in two buses, started the tour at the

Clausen In Move To Save State Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two California Republican congressmen proposed today constitutional amendments to offset last week's Supreme Court decision that membership in both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis.

Reps. John F. Baldwin of Martinez and Don Clausen of Crescent City said this principle would give the Los Angeles area complete domination of both the state House and Senate. They said their proposal is essential to the well-being of Northern California.

"There would be little purpose in having two houses in state legislatures if one house is the exact duplicate of the other house," they said in a statement.

The amendment they proposed

Traffic Breaks Record For Golden Gate Span

Father's Day traffic over the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday set a new all-time record.

The bridge district reported today that 90,131 vehicles crossed the span yesterday. Greatest number ever clocked in one day before was 84,162 on Aug. 18, 1963.

Supervisors Carry Through Nursing Swap

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today re-affirmed its desire to pull the bedside nursing program out of the health department and put it in the medical department.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked that the transfer be delayed, at least until the final budget time. But the rest of the board agreed that the action taken Frfiday, in approving the medical department budget, should stand.

Bored members learned today for the first time, however, that the change will mean firing the nurses now in the program, since the medical department will contract with a private nursing service.

County administrator Alan Bruce said that medical director Dr. Michael Scholl had explained that there would be such a contract on Friday, but the board members seemed surprised. Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker then said perhaps Fusselman was right and there should be a delay.

Bruce said to turn back now would create new complications, and the board decided to stand by its previous action.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, continued her fight against the transfer, saying she could see no advantage in

Thief Dampens Wedding Gaiety

Besides losing a daughter, Richard J. Argento of 111 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo, is missing a camera worth $199 and a case of champagne glasses following the wedding of his daughter, Diane, 19, in San Anselmo yesterday.

Argento reported to Marin County sheriff's office that his eight-millimeter movie camera and a case of rented champagne glasses, valued at $40, were stolen from his car between 3 and 6 p.m. outside the wedding reception at Star Hail in San Anselmo.

Miss Argento was married to John William Crowley of San Francisco in a 2 p.m. ceremony at Saint Rita's Church in Fairfax.

Sit-In Rulings Reversed By High Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court reversed the convictions of Negro sit-in demonstrators in Maryland and South Carolina today on technical legal grounds which skirted the deeper constitutional issue of racial discrimination in public accommodations.

The vote upsetting trespass convictions of 12 demonstrators at a Baltimore restaurant and two college students at a Columbia, S.C., drug store was 6 to 3.

The controlling opinion by Justice William Brennan confined itself to narrow questions of procedure in the prosecutions.

However, three members of the majority — Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Arthur J. Goldberg and William O. Douglas — indicated that they would have voted to declare racial discrimination at public accommodations such as restaurants and hotels unconstitutional.

The dissenters in the trespass decisions were Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White. On their behalf, Black said the court improperly dodged the big issue of whether a state can enforce its trespass laws against a person who refuses to leave a privately owned restau-

Brawl Makes Old-Western Fete Realistic

A ballroom brawl in Novato at the height of the Western Weekend celebration Saturday quickly drew a throng estimated at 150 people, and peace officers of three jurisdictions to quell it.

Two men were jailed after the fight, which Police Chief Robert di Grazia said involved only about 10 people but drew a big crowd of onlookers. California Highway Patrol and county sheriff's officers joined Novato police to break up the disturbance.

The throng pressed into the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue, where the fists started flying, lined the street outside and spread down to Highway 101, the police chief reported.

Arrested for the 3 p.m. Saturday fisticuffs were William Carnaghan, 21, of 209 Mirada Drive, San Rafael, and John Earl Neighbors, 25, of 912 Railroad Avenue, Novato.

Carnaghan was charged with assaulting Officer Alfred W. Schroeder; Neighbors, with being drunk and resisting arrest. Bail for Carnaghan was set at $1,129; for Neighbors, at $579.

Police said Neighbors once escaped after being arrested for drunkenness. Somebody opened the door of a patrol car, and Neighbors "took it on the lam." He was picked up again later at the carnival grounds.

Police were unable to say whether Western Weekend had anything to do with a fight between Andrew Louis McGue of 620 Arthur Street, Novato, and his wife. But at noon Saturday, police were called to find them fighting with a saw. Mrs. McGue had her husband arrested. He was later freed on $496 bail.

Novato police were on double shifts during the weekend to handle the added work of the

WESTERN WEEKEND

Novato Is Recovering From Biggest One Yet

They whooped it up by the thousands in Novato Saturday and yesterday—more thousands, said Police Chief Robert di Grazia, than ever turned out for a Western Weekend before.

Di Grazia estimated the crowd that lined Grant Avenue for Saturday's parade exceeded that of last year, which was put down by police as "more than 20,000."

A float stalled in the parade, a fire broke out while firemen were having a waterball fight, and only two couples paid admission to an outdoor dance. But these were minor failings. For almost everyone, Western Weekend was "a whopping success."

From crowning of queen Jeanie Bergala on Friday night to award of a pony to 5-year-old Steve Bovaird on 20 Stacia Court, Novato, last night, it was one long round of excitement.

Steve, who got the pony as top prize in a Junior Chamber of Commerce drawing at the carnival grounds, cried and hugged and kissed the animal in a parade up Grant Avenue to Oscar Houge's Paint Store. Houge agreed to keep the pony until the boy's parents figure out a way to take care of it.

The Novato Junior Women's Club float stalled in front of Wright Hardware at 1305 Grant Avenue midway in Saturday's long parade. All efforts to start it failed for 45 minutes. Finally it was taken under tow, proceeding in that fashion to the end of the route. Parade judges disqualified it for failing to make the route under its own power. After the parade was all over, Police Chief di Grazia discovered the truck was simply out of gasoline.

The annual waterball fight between the Novato and Kentfield Fire Departments turned out to be a no-decision affair, as both departments left the battle to put out a fire.

The water was spraying fast

Viet Struggle Held Worth Risking War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Paul D. Harkins, outgoing U.S. commander in South Vietnam, said today that the struggle against Communist guerrillas in Southeast Asia is "very much" worth risking war with Red China.

Harkins made the comment to reporters as he returned to Washington from his post in Saigon. He said he believes that if the Communists take over Southeast Asia, "it would be a threat to the whole western world."

His remarks came not long after the State Department said that "there can be little doubt in the minds of leaders throughout the Far East and the world" that the United States is prepared to help "repel Communist aggression" in Southeast Asia.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

German Power Play

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, Communist leader of East Germany, says he wants no separate peace treaty with the Soviet Union. An East German news agency quoted Ulbricht as telling a group of visitors from West Berlin that he wants East Germany to become so strong that it can carry through a policy leading to a peace treaty for both German states.

CDC Shifts To Pierre

FRESNO (AP)—Democratic Senate nominee Pierre Salinger has won the endorsement of the California Democratic Council board of directors. The CDC supported Salinger's opponent, State Controller Alan Cranston, in the primary race. In a resolution passed yesterday the board of directors called on all CDC clubs to help Salinger defeat Republican George Murphy in November elections.

Bomb Wakes Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A bomb exploded outside the home of Stanley Morgan, leader of the Stanley Morgan Ink Spots, frightening his wife and son and blowing a hole in his cement block wall, police reported early today. Morgan, a Negro, said he had gone to work at the Hacienda Hotel, where his group is appearing, shortly before the blast late last night. His wife, Harriette, 50, and son, Sonny, 7, were not injured.

Borneo Battle Flares

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Indonesia guerrillas made one of the biggest attacks of the Borneo jungle war last night, only 24 hours after the collapse of the second Malaysian summit conference, a security forces spokesman announced in Sarawak. Five Gurkhas were killed and five others wounded in the six-hour battle near the frontier.

Royal 'Thaw' Urged

LONDON (UPI)—Three London newspapers yesterday urged Queen Elizabeth to let bygones be bygones and welcome back her uncle, the duke of Windsor, to the royal family. The Sunday Express said that one word from the queen could end the cold shoulder given to the duke and his duchess for the past 28 years. The duke and duchess have lived in Paris for the last 10 years. They make occasional private visits to Britain.

In Pidgin English, one word does the task of many. Grass may mean grass, beard, hair, fur or feathers.

Wedding Complicates Court Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — The son of atheist Madalyn Murray has married the teen-aged girl who is in the middle of a bitter court wrangle between her parents and Mrs. Murray.

The wedding of William Murray, 18, and the former Susan Abramovitz, 17, was announced yesterday during a hectic session in Municipal Court.

Susan

Mrs. Murray, William, Susan and Mrs. Murray's mother, Bonna Mays, 73, all were in court to answer charges resulting from a brawl with police at Mrs. Murray's Baltimore home Saturday.

William and Susan were married last Tuesday in Maryland.

Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Abramovitz, in an earlier suit had accused Mrs. Murray and William of inducing Susan to move in with the Murrays and abandon her Jewish religion.

Mrs. Murray, who brought the suit which resulted in last year's U.S. Supreme Court decision that required religious exercises in public schools is unconstitutional, faces six charges of assaulting policemen.

The Saturday melee developed after police were tipped that Susan had been seen in the Murray home.

The judge hearing the criminal court case brought by Susan's parents had placed her temporarily in the custody of an aunt and uncle, ordered her to remain in Maryland, and prohibited her parents and the Murrays from contacting her until the case was settled.

Pope Paul Marks Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI marked his first anniversary as head of the Roman Catholic church yesterday with a Mass, a visit to a college and an appeal for support for his work.

In a brief speech to people assembled in St. Peter's Square, the pope asked for prayers for his "great mission" of searching for world peace.

"One thing moves us, that we have help. And you know that all our forces, sentiments and prayers are for you, for the church, for the world and for peace."

Beauty Queen Grateful To Mother

Sherri Lee

The 18-year-old University of California sophomore combined modern dance and baton twirling in her talent presentation in the state finals Saturday night. She had won the swimsuit competition earlier. She stands 5-9 and measures 38-24-36.

Sherri is from Fremont but represented Oakland in the contest.

When asked which woman in this country she most admired Sherri replied:

"My mother. Without all her help and kindness I could never do this."

Sherri's mother, Mrs. William R. Raap, placed second in the 1940 State Fair Queen competition. Her father is vice principal of Irvington High School in Fremont.

TINY BOOSTER — Gov. William W. Scranton, visiting Washington, D.C., to woo support for his presidential nomination drive from the District's national convention delegates, stopped Sunday at the airport to greet a pint-sized supporter boasting a Scranton sticker on her back. The would-be candidate also made a nation-wide television appearance in which he predicted that candidates now supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater would begin switching to him in a week and a half. (AP Wirephoto)

Scranton Says Delegates Will Switch To Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton says Republican convention delegates "in greater numbers than I expected" are lining up behind his presidential candidacy.

The Pennsylvania governor, who plans to confer starting Tuesday with key uncommitted state delegations, says he thinks the major swing to him by delegates now favoring front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater will start in about a week and a half.

Scranton gave no figures on shifts so far.

"If he doesn't win on the first ballot, it would be very difficult for him to win at all," Scranton said.

The latest Associated Press survey of GOP convention delegates gives Goldwater 694 first-ballot votes—39 more than the number needed for nomination. Scranton is credited with 138 votes.

A spot check of GOP delegates from Missouri, Nevada, Utah, Kansas, Nebraska, Tennessee and Georgia showed Goldwater's strength remained what it was before he voted against the civil rights bill.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., who will be permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention, said today Illinois might indicate whether Scranton can take delegates away from Goldwater.

The 58-delegate group, headed by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, meets next Tuesday to hear Goldwater and Scranton state their cases.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Buses were scheduled to roll Monday after a week-long strike by 2,500 bus drivers in four counties. Drivers represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen ratified a new contract Saturday with the Metropolitan Transit Authority.

Sen. Kennedy's World Is A Canvas Frame

Known as a "Foster frame," it takes the place of a more uncomfortable, unwieldly plaster cast.

The frame will keep Kennedy, 32, as comfortable as possible while surgeons determine whether surgery will be needed for the three broken vertebrae he suffered in a plane crash Friday night in which two persons died.

Though the freshman Democratic senator, elected 19 months ago to fill his brother's unexpired term in the U.S. Senate, faces six to eight months of recuperation, doctors stress he will recover completely, barring unforeseen complications.

Also at Cooley Dickinson Hospital were Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) and his wife. They were in good condition from less serious injuries suffered in the crash but were expected to be held at the hospital the rest of the week.

Kennedy cannot be moved for another 10 to 12 days.

State Demo Leaders Split On Distaff Appointee To Meet

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A scrap over who will be national committeewoman confronts California's delegation to the Democratic Convention when it holds its first meeting in San Francisco Saturday.

The contenders are Elizabeth R. Gatov, of Kentfield, the former treasurer of the United States who is seeking another four-year term on the party's national committee and Carmen H. Warschaw of Los Angeles, chairman of the State Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Gov. Brown, chairman of the delegation, is supporting Mrs. Gatov. So is State Democratic Chairman Eugene Wyman, and Roger Kent, northern section chairman of the state committee.

Backing Mrs. Warschaw is Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Los Angeles.

Brown and Unruh were previously on opposite sides in the primary race for the party's U.S. senatorial nomination with the governor supporting State Controller Alan Cranston and the speaker helping Pierre Salinger, the winner.

The 162 delegates are supporting President Johnson.

NIKITA GETS COOL SWEDISH RECEPTION

Papers Demand To Know Fate Of Diplomat Captured, Held By Russians Since 1945

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in the capital of neutral Sweden today. He was met by newspaper demands for information on the fate of a Swedish diplomat captured by the Russians in 1945.

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, came ashore in a Swedish motor torpedo boat after sailing through the Baltic Sea from Denmark in the Soviet liner Bashkiria.

It was a gray, chilly day —and Khrushchev's welcome from Swedish newspapers was chilly, too.

In big headlines and outspoken words they demanded an official statement from him on the fate of Raoul Wallenberg, Swedish diplomat who was arrested by Soviet troops in Hungary and has not been heard of since.

Wallenberg was traced to the Soviet Union and the Swedish government demanded his return.

The Russians for years maintained that they knew nothing about Wallenberg but in 1957 admitted he had been imprisoned in Lubianka Prison in Moscow in 1947.

Subsequently the Swedish government found increasing evidence that Wallenberg was alive. He was said to be in a prison in Vladimir, 12 miles east of Moscow, as late as 1954.

The Soviet leader sent a radio message from his ship requesting a postponement of political talks scheduled for this afternoon.

Khrushchev gave no reason. But Swedish officials privately hazarded the guess that he was a weary man after his visit to Denmark.

Tage Erlander, Sweden's Socialist premier, said on the eve of Khrushchev's arrival that the country would not be diverted from its neutralist policy and would oppose any attempt to change "the status quo in Europe."

And if you want to test your tape recorder for quality, try it on the Carillon Bells—one of the most difficult of all sounds to capture. They'll prove how good your equipment is...

VERNE SULIER, our chief engineer, is an expert on taping equipment. KTIM has three Ampex machines—a Magnecorder, a Mohawk and a Citroen. But even more complicated are the CARTRIDGE-TAPE and the SPOTTER for commercial announcements . . . The first plugs in a separate cartridge for each sponsor. The spotter is a madman's toy! It records 101 different spot announcements on a 12-inch wide tape. A slide pulley carefully selects the recording made for each sponsor. One man can have 101 different voices at his elbow. It's great for impressing the studio visitors.

CHANCE ENCOUNTER

Larkspur Woman Aids Spunky Haitian Family

By PHIL FRADKIN

A chance brush with an example of devout faith has prompted Larkspur real estate broker Maggi Walker to bring a Haitian family to Marin County.

The first member of the family, Azane Thermidor, arrived last week "at the most opportune time," says Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Walker was seriously injured in a two-car crash on Memorial Day near Santa Cruz. It resulted in the death of the other driver, who had driven across the divider strip.

Mrs. Walker spent 12 days in a hospital. The day before she was to be discharged, a visa was granted to Miss Thermidor. The Haitian arrived a day after Mrs. Walker returned home to 109 Locust Avenue, Larkspur, and is taking care of her.

Mrs. Walker met the family when she was in Haiti in February, 1963. Miss Thermidor's brother, Edouard Celidor, was her tour guide during her stay in Haiti.

She was struck by the family's devout faith. "I am not a religious person. But I was impresser so much with how the family always believed that something good would befall them," Mrs. Walker said.

After Mrs. Walker left Haiti, a government upheaval cut the flow of tourist traffic to a trickle. Celidor, whose business was wiped out, wrote Mrs. Walker to ask if it was possible to come to the United States.

The problem was that 10,000 other Haitians also wanted to come to the United States at that time. The country's economy had collapsed.

Since Haiti has no immigration quota, first preference was given to Haitians who had relatives in America. Miss Thermidor arrived on a visitor's visa which can be renewed before she is forced to go back to Haiti or immigrate from another country.

Mrs. Walker believes that Celidor, his wife and four children will be able to immigrate to the United States in about 10 months.

Miss Thermidor will do housework and cooking for Mrs. Walker and her friends. Celidor, when he arrives, will get work as a mechanic or help out in an import store Mrs. Walker is thinking of opening in San Rafael.

After Celidor's business was wiped out and work became almost impossible to find, the family still kept its faith. Mrs. Walker again visited the family at Christmas and during carnival time in February of this year.

"I wondered how the family could keep their faith. If there was any hope there, which there was, then I thought how much more hope there would be here. A lot of people think I am foolish—that there is not a better life here," says Mrs. Walker.

"It is one of those chance things. You could meet 1,000 persons and it wouldn't have an effect. Then you meet one family and you are drawn to them."

Auto Takes Off, Kills Driver Of Second Vehicle

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—A San Gabriel man was killed when the top of his car was sheared off by a flying auto on the San Bernardino freeway Sunday.

Investigators said a northbound car driven by Alex Martinez, 23, of San Bernardino went out of control and into a ditch between the north and south lanes. Its momentum carried it up the other side of the ditch and it became airborne, sailing into the southbound lanes.

It cut off the top of a car driven by Donald C. Fish, 27, of 3328 Stephens St., San Gabriel. Fish was killed and his passenger, Walter Joseph Peterson, 26, of 504 E. Graves Ave., Monterey Park, suffered lacerations of the face and head. Graves was taken to San Bernardino Community Hospital and was reported in good condition.

Martinez, treated but not hospitalized, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter. A teenage girl riding with him refused treatment.

Beeves To Texas Like Coals To...

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP)—Texas supposedly has cattle all over the place so there was some surprise in these parts when the Maywood Farms shipped a load of cattle to a Texas ranch.

The shipment included 33 purebred Brangus cattle. Bardstown cattleman Cam Blincoe said the cattle are crossed three times to produce an animal five-eighths Angus and three-eighths Brahman.

Teachers Demand State Colleges Trustee Ouster

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP) — A call for the resignation of Charles Luckman from the State College Board of Trustees was made by the California State College Council of the AFL-CIO Federation of Teachers.

James M. Smith, council chairman, said Saturday the demand was made because of Luckman's declarations that rigid restrictions should be placed on Communist speakers on state college campuses.

The council's San Diego State College chapter had earlier demanded Luckman's resignation after he urged the restrictions during a commencement speech June 12. Luckman has said he does not intend to resign.

After a full council meeting at San Fernando Valley State College, Smith said Luckman should have more faith in the centers of learning over which he presides.

Army Engineers Outline Flood Control Proposal

mouth of Corte Madera Creek, east of Highway 101. Elmore said the project would start at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks, but that no work would have to be done until the widening just east of the Bon Air Bridge.

Arks along the lagoon east of Bon Air Bridge would have to be removed if they are below flood level, Elmore said.

North of the bridge the channel would be straightened out, widened to 40 feet and levees will be constructed, he said. "I think the arks will have to go," he said, indicating a row of arks upstream.

Dredged material along this area would be spread out along the banks including a large swamp area behind Marin Catholic High School. Supervisorial candidate Ernest N. Kettenhofen suggested that the filled area be developed for recreation.

As the tour progressed upstream, Elmore pointed out that:

1. Tamalpais Creek running through College of Marin's physical education complex would be concrete-lined and covered, with the college paying for the cost of covering the channel.

2. From Lansdale Culvert in San Anselmo to 1,500 feet downstream from College Avenue in Kentfield, the creek would be in a concrete channel varying from 25 to 33 feet in width and protected by a six-foot, chain-link fence. From Lagunitas Road in Ross downstream there would be a 12-foot roadway and a five-foot roadway, on either side of this concrete channel.

3. Construction of the channel through the residential area of Ross would require cutting some trees.

4. In the downtown San Anselmo area, none of the buildings would have to be removed because the project would go underground.

5. There would be a 2,800-foot concrete channel along Fairfax Creek, including the Fairfax Park area, 5,450 feet of concrete channel along Sleepy Hollow Creek to Arroyo Avenue.

The tour ended at Granton Park in Kentfield, where there has been heavy flooding in past years. Elmore said pumps would be placed at the creek end of Laurel Avenue to relieve the flooding.

Elmore said the project is designed to protect against a 100-year storm. Several residents asked if such an extensive project is necessary.

"The government doesn't like to build anything less because then it wouldn't be protecting life," he said.

Some residents questioned the need for concrete channels. "Other systems are larger and costlier," Elmore said.

The tour, co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin and the College of Marin, was conducted by the Marin County Public Works Department in conjunction with the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Marin Rod and Gun Club at San Quentin will have a public informational meeting on the project at 8 p.m. today at the clubhouse at San Quentin Point.

Elmore said the federal government will participate in recreational development to the extent of building boat launching ramps.

Mill Valley Has Spate Of Snakes

Two rattlesnakes were reported by residents to Mill Valley police Saturday. One, really a rattler, was shot. The other, a misidentified gopher snake, was set free.

Howard Bleyle of 630 West Blithedale Avenue reported at 12:30 p.m. there was a rattlesnake in his yard. Officer Robert V. Kinney responded and shot the snake, which he said had 10 rattles and a button.

Robert Earl of 524 Throckmorton Avenue telephoned at 6:30 p.m. saying he had found a rattlesnake in his basement. Officer Douglas Stone, responding, found it was a gopher snake and let it go free.

Donald A. Rudnick of 103 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, will be employed for the next six months by the California Division of Forestry at the Youth Training Camp at Oak Glen. He will receive basic training in forest firefighting, and work on natural resource preservation and protection and insect control.

Fair May Fete U.S. Bicentennial

PARIS (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson is laying plans for a World's Fair to celebrate the 200th anniversary of American independence, informed sources said today.

The president has instructed Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to open negotiations for U.S. membership in the International Bureau of Expositions to pave the way for such a fair in 1975 or 1976, these informants said.

Today's report came as representatives of the California World's Fair, set for 1967 and 1968 in Long Beach, met with bureau officials in an effort to obtain the bureau's blessing for their exposition.

Quake Jolts San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP)—An earthquake set off burglar alarms and rattled windows in San Diego Sunday, but police said no damage was reported. Seismologist Fred Robinson said the quake was centered nearby, perhaps in the offshore Coronado Islands.

Bloody Vietnam Battle

BANG LANG, South Vietnam (AP)—Two Vietnamese paratroop battalions suffered their heaviest casualties of the war in Vietnam yesterday as they charged through a Viet Cong suicide squad and routed dug-in Communist forces. The fighting took place 45 miles southwest of Saigon and followed the loss of three American soldiers and 60 Vietnamese in a Viet Cong human wave attack northwest of Saigon Friday.

Costly Collection Of Coins Stolen

A coin collection valued at between $15,000 and $20,000 was stolen from a home in Novato yesterday, according to Novato police.

Arlene May Esparza, 36, of 1409 Dawes Street reported to police that her coin collection had been taken sometime between 3 p.m., and 11:15 p.m. yesterday.

Ralph Clyde Heath, 44, of 95 Medway Boulevard, San Rafael, is part owner of the collection, which included more than $1,000 in silver dollars, according to police.

The house had been entered by forcing a back door, police said. Nothing except the coin collection was taken.

Small Turnout For Town Cleanup

Turnout for the annual cleanup day in Bolinas Saturday was a little smaller than expected, James Dougan said today, with about 125 persons attending the noon luncheon following the cleanup.

The people worked on painting all the fire hydrants yellow, opening trails, and cleaning up litter, trash and grass clippings.

Dougan, a member of the sponsoring Bolinas Fire Protection District commission, said 140 persons attended yesterday's pancake breakfast, sponsored by Bay Post 572, American Legion, and its auxiliary. About $100 was cleared from the breakfast to be used for community projects.

celebration, Di Graza said. They handled more than twice the usual number of cases.

"When one considers the big number of people that were in town and the amount of celebrating, by far the biggest majority of people behaved themselves," the chief said.

Over the weekend, nine people reported that their wallets were either lost or stolen, and two people reported finding wallets.

Those reporting lost wallets were: Michael J. Whitlow of 2 Westwood Drive, San Rafael; James Michael Naughle of 744 Wilson Avenue, Novato; Jeffry Lee Wedel of 60 Rudnik Avenue, Novato; Beverly Ann Warden of 1951 Maybe Lane, Novato; James David Doiel of Arroyo Grande; Fritz William Liebig of 23 Grande Vista, Novato; Charles Gregory Clover of 1541 Hill Road, Novato; Ruth I. Fallon of 575 Canal Street, San Rafael, and Frederick Joseph Angeloni of 14 Villa Place, Novato.

Virginia Rose Hoffman of 1663 Center Road found a wallet belonging to Danny Dotto of 142 Maby Avenue, San Rafael. Richard Howard Albert of 15 Fairway Drive, Novato, found a woman's purse containing $8.48 in cash but no identification papers at the Pacheco School grounds on San Jose Boulevard.

COURT

rant upon being denied service.

However, the three controlling justices—Brennan, Tom C. Clark and Potter Stewart—declined to be drawn into the constitutional controversy and their view prevailed for the time being.

In his dissent, Black commented:

"This court has done much in carrying out its solemn duty to protect people from unlawful discrimination and it will, of course, continue to carry out this duty in the future as it has in the past. But the 14th amendment of itself does not compel either a black man or a white man running his own private business to trade with anyone else against his will."

And of the pending civil rights bill, he remarked: "We express no views as to the power of congress, acting under one or another provision of the constitution, to prevent racial discrimination in the operation of privately owned business, nor upon any particular form of legislation to that end. Our sole concern is with the meaning of the amendment, standing alone, does not prohibit privately owned restaurants from choosing their own customers.

"It does not destroy what has until very recently been universally recognized in this country as the unchallenged right of a man who owns a business to run the business in his own way so long as some valid regulatory statute does not tell him to do otherwise."

In the Maryland case, Brennan's opinion reversed the convictions because the Maryland law has changed since they were affirmed by a lower court.

The 12 had been convicted of trespass on June 17, 1960.

STATUE SEEKING AN OWNER—David N. Plant looked out from his Pomeroy Road property in Ross this morning and was somewhat surprised to see a rather-undraped lady standing on the neighboring Livermore property. Plant knew the lady, done in sanded cement, didn't belong there, so he called Ross police. Chief Joseph J. Regoni said anyone missing such a statue should call at the Ross police station for its return. It's lodged temporarily at the Ross town corporation yard. (Independent-Journal photo) would require a population basis for only one house of a legislature.

States traditionally have followed the pattern set by the U.S. Constitution, they said, in which one legislative body is apportioned by population and the other by political jurisdiction or area.

They called last week's court decision erroneous.

If California were required to apportion its Senate on a population basis, they said, 16 of the 40 state senators would come from Los Angeles County and that three counties in southern California would dominate both houses of the legislature completely.

This would mean domination of northern California's water supply.

Southern California could then appropriate all surplus water in northern California by legislative action and make it impossible for the northern part of the state to reserve enough water for its future growth.

Medical Costs Rise 135 Pct. In 25 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 136 per cent increase in the cost of medical care in 25 years was disclosed today by a commission of the American Medical Assn.

A three and one-half year survery, released at the AMA's annual convention, also showed that the cost-per-day charge for hospitalization in the same period rose from $7.41 to $30.94—a rise of 318 per cent.

Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City, chairman of the commission, said the four-volume, 513-page report, reflects "a virtual explosion of medical advances in the past 25 years."

As a result of improved medical care and better standards of living, he said, "the death rate has declined, life expectancy for the population as a whole has approached the Biblical three score years and 10, hospital stay has been shortened and certain diseases virtually eliminated."

He added that "since the quality of medical care has improved greatly and the present consumer price index procedures are ineffective in adjusting price indexes for these quality changes, the CTI overstates the true rise in medical care prices."

As an example, he said, physician fees increased 112 per cent between 1935-60—11 per cent less than the average price increase.

The study listed five significant medical advances and their economic and social benefits, including:

1. Polio vaccine. "The cost-benefit analysis of the polio vaccine showed that during the period 1955-61 an estimated 6.7 billion dollars in medical care costs and gross lifetime income loss were avoided through use of the Salk vaccine," the commission said.

"The cost of developing and administering the vaccine totaled 653 million dollars. Thus the economic benefit during this seven-year period was calculated as being more than six billion dollars."

2. Early diagnosis of cancer of the uterus. "During the period 1930-60, there were 447,000 deaths in the United States attributed to cancer of the uterus. Had the death rates that were recorded in 1930 prevailed throughout the 30-year period, it was estimated that 627,000 deaths would have been attributed to cancer of the uterus. This is a difference of 150,000 lives and the death rate is continuing to decline."

3. Surgical correction of congenital heart defects. "A study of the economic significance of surgical correction of these defects showed that because of the low incidence rate and the relatively high cost of treatment, the economic benefit realized by society may be less than that associated with other medical advances. However, the direct economic benefit per person may be great, since surgery is performed early in life and the correction in many cases enables the individual to survive and lead a productive life."

4. New drugs for tuberculosis. "New drugs have been primarily instrumental in dropping the death rate for the disease from 55 per 100,000 population in 1935 to six per 100,000 in 1960."

5. Disposable syringe needles. "It was estimated that hospitals realized net savings of 4.1 million dollars in 1963 through use of this disposable product.

WESTERN

and furious when a call came of a fire at the old Novato Cemetery at 1:42 p.m. Saturday. Novato firemen turned from playboys to their regular role in a hurry — and the Kentfield firemen went along to help. The blaze, in grass and brush, was extinguished after burning an area about 100-by-100 feet. Firemen blamed it to children with matches.

It was one of six blazes that gave Novato firemen one of their busiest days Saturday while Western Weekend was under way. Four were grass fires. None was serious, but Fire Chief George Cavallero said they gave the department plenty of trouble because of the crowds on the streets which made it difficult to make speed with fire trucks.

Police had a busy weekend, too. Numerous celebrants got out of hand. Worst was a brawl at the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue on Saturday afternoon, which grew to such proportions the Novato police called on help from the Marin County sheriff's force and California Highway Patrol.

The one financial flop was the outdoor dance at the Cloud Five parking lot on Saturday night. Paul Fry, president of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored Western Weekend, reported only two couples paid admission. When it became obvious there would be no paid crowd, the dance was thrown open to everybody for free. After that, there were plenty of dancers.

There was no shortage of crowd at the rodeos Saturday and yesterday. The sponsoring Novato Horsemen's Assn. reported they were the most successful in history.

Dearyl Deardall of Santa Rosa, running for the Marin Athletic Club, took first place in the cross-country race which preceded the parade. He ran the 6.87-mile course in just under 39 minutes. George Weed of Represa, running for the Sacramento Athletic Club, was second, and Sigurd Hope of Novato, a Marin Athletic Club entrant, was third.

In team competition, first place went to the Marin Athletic Club.

Prison Ordered For Felony Tool Theft

Donald Ray Lammerrill, 25, who admitted the April 3 burglary and theft of about $700 worth of tools from a San Rafael construction shack, was sentenced to the Department of Corrections in Vacaville today by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

Sentencing Date Set For Gas Station Holdup

Judgement for Humberto Zelaya Jr., 29-year-old Santa Rosa man who pleaded guilty in the $30 armed robbery of a Standard Service Station attendant May 13, is scheduled in Marin Superior Court July 6.

Victim was Paul B. McCarrick, 18, attendant of the station at 580 Redwood Highway in Alto. Zelaya was arrested only two hours after the robbery on a fishing boat berthed in Sausalito.

either coordination or elimination of duplication of services.

She also hade a pitch for an increase in staff of a new public health nurse, saying only one had been added to the staff in 11 years.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he would be happy to allow the ne wposition if the proposed increase in the clerical staff were cut by the same amount of money.

"If the paper work goes to hell, I could care less," Behr said, "as long as something is being done in the field."

"There comes a time when the avalanche of paper work just has to be faced and met," answered Dr. Albrecht. "We are almost paralyzed."

Leydecker made the motion approving the budget, and said that he would agree to a transfer of personnel allocated within the total funds approved.

Also on the bedside nursing program, Dr. Albrecht pointed out that the federal funds for the program might be cut by the transfer, because Dr. School had said the red tape involved was more than the money, about $7,000, was worth. Leydecker asked that a special study on this question be made.

Anti-Appraisal Center Closes

Sausalito assessment protest headquarters, asking for the abolishment of the county assessor's cyclical reappraisal methods, is closed and A. Leonard Bjorlund Jr., president of the sponsoring chamber of commerce, urged today that persons who oppose the cycle system appear before the county board of supervisors at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

At that time letters of protest, of which about 411 were collected at the headquarters in Sausalito, will be on the agenda.

Protest forms can be secured from the county clerk's office in San Rafael or from the clerk of the board of supervisors, Civic Center, Bjorklund said.

CLARENCE S. LEA

OBITUARIES

Former Rep. Clarence Lea Dead At 89

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Clarence S. Lea, former California Congressman from the First District, died Saturday at his home after a long illness. He was 89.

Lea, a Democrat, represented the First District which includes Marin County in the U. S. House of Representatives for 32 years, from 1917 to 1949.

During his 16 terms in Congress he co-authored an amendment to the Federal Trade Commission Act to prohibit false and misleading advertising of foods, drugs and cosmetics.

Lea was also active in the establishment of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, and he was a close colleague of the present House Speaker, John McCormack, (D-Mass.).

Lea was born to a ranch family in Lake County. He received his law degree from the University of Denver, and he was Sonoma County district attorney for 10 years before he ran for Congress.

He is survived by his widow, Daisey, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor. Services are pending.

MRS. READSTONE

Mrs. Margaret Readstone, 88, a resident of Aldersly Danish Old People's Home for 11 years, died Saturday at the home after a long illness.

She was the widow of William Readstone, a coachman on the Babcock estate in San Rafael. A native of Norway, she came to the United States about 1908 and settled in San Rafael.

Mrs. Readstone leaves three sisters, Emma M. Zirke of San Rafael, and Mrs. Matilda Nelson and Mrs. Agathe Thorup of Norway.

Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be private.

MRS. JUNE CASE

Mrs. June Case, 43, of Mill Valley was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 7:45 p.m. yesterday after being taken there from her home at 55 Mountain View Avenue.

Death was attributed to natural causes by William C. Bradley, assistant county coroner, who said an autopsy would be performed at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley, where funeral arrangements are pending.

Mrs. Case, a native of Madison, Wis., was the wife of Jack Case who works for Ampex Corp., Redwood City.

MRS. ARFSTEN

Funeral was held yesterday in Sonoma for Mrs. Florence Mary Arfsten, native of Ross, who died Friday in Sonoma Valley Hospital after a long illness. She was 75.

Mrs. Arfsten was the sister of Mrs. Janet Lindley of San Rafael, Andrew Gowans of Santa Rosa and Alan Gowans of Modesto. She is also survived by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Esther Gowans of Santa Rosa.

DAVID WERTHEIM

David K. Wertheim of Sausalito, retired president of Patek-Ecklon Co., San Francisco wholesale meat dealers, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Private funeral was held a few hours later at the San Francisco home of his daughter, Mrs. Lionel Alanson. Burial will be in Home of Peace Cemetery, Colma.

Wertheim was a graduate of the University of California who moved to San Francisco from his native Montana in 1919. In 1940 he married the former Gaby Lazard of Heidelberg, Germany, in Seattle. They moved to 4 Buckley Avenue in Sausalito in 1950 and five years later to the present home at 40 Currey Avenue.

Besides Mrs. Wertheim and Mrs. Alanson, he is survived by a son, Frederick Wertheim of Ross; a sister, Mrs. Richard S. Goldman of San Francisco, and five grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the David K. Wertheim Fund for Cancer Research at Mount Zion Hospital.

MARY FREITAS

Mrs. Mary F. Freitas, 84, of Petaluma, mother of John S. Freitas of Kentfield, died Saturday in a Petaluma hospital where she had been a patient two weeks.

She was the widow of Antonio Freitas. Survivors, in addition to her son in Kentfield, are a daughter, Mrs. Alice Avella of Petaluma; another son, Tony Freitas of Sacramento; two grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

She was a native of the Azores Islands.

Tax-Cut Report Due Supervisors

The Stanford Research Institute report on Marin County, contracted for in the hope of finding ways to improve the county tax base and thus to help cut tax rates for homeowners, will be handed to the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

The report was paid for in part by the county and in part by private developers, including the Draper Companies. This fact has caused a charge of conflict of interest against Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker by his opponent in the coming election, San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis.

Leydecker owns stock in the Draper Companies. The supervisor has challenged McInnis to go before the Grand Jury with his charges.

Also scheduled for the meeting, which will start at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center, will be discussions again on the problems of houseboat owners at Waldo Point and of southern Marin residents on the cyclical reappraisal system.

The board will also be faced with the request by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on the Aged that a referendum on public housing be called for November.

A new contract between the county and cemeteries within the county for indigent burials will be suggested by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

An agreement with the City of Novato and developers of the Scottsdale subdivision about flood control facilities will be brought up again by the public works department and use permit renewals for the two Santa Venetia schools for the mentally retarded will be considered.

Thieves Ransack Ross Home, Get $961 In Loot

Burglars broke into an expensive home in Ross Saturday night and carted items ranging from jewelry to antiques while the owners were out for the evening, Ross police said today.

Entry into the home of Virgil W. Asbell, 17 Ivy Drive, was made sometime between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. while Asbell, his wife and visiting father were gone, Police Chief Joseph J. Regoni said.

Items taken, including a small gold antique clock, an AM-FM radio, and large amounts of clothing and jewelry, were valued at $961, according to police reports.

The house was thoroughly ransacked, said Regoni. Juvenile thieves were listed as suspects, he said, since items such as typewriters, cameras and a television set were not touched.

Entry was made through a window or, said owner Asbell, a door which might have been left slightly ajar. Asbell is employed by the Saber Construction Co. of San Francisco.

Book Policy Review

A review of the proposed policy on book selection will be made by Mill Valley School District trustees today at 8 p.m. in the district office. Trustees also will discuss certain policies and election of chairman and clerk in preparation for the annual board meeting July 13.

New Air Force Recruiter Takes Up Duties In Marin

Staff Sgt. Erhardt E. Bonkowski of Petaluma has taken over the duties of the Marin County Air Force recruiter in the San Rafael recruiting office at 819 A Street.

He succeeds M/Sgt. Stanley M. Allen who is retiring June 30 after 20 years of service.

Allen, who lives with his wife and two teen-aged sons at 131 Grande Visita, Novato, has accepted employment as a supervisor with a San Francisco detective agency.

Bonkowski served in the Navy for nine years before joining the Air Force in 1956. He was awarded the good conduct medal several times and has the Korean service medal which represents participation in eight campaigns.

A native of San Francisco, he is a member of Morning Star Chapter 61, Order of the Eastern Star in Petaluma and is a Master Mason in the grand lodge in Washington, D.C.

His predecessor is chairman of the Boy Scouts in the Novato ward of the Church of Latter-day Saints and a counselor in the Mutual Improvement Assn., a youth group of the church.

Clinics For Vaccination Of Dogs Are Scheduled

Twelve public clinics for vaccination of dogs against rabies will be held by the Marin County Health Department during July and August.

Written evidence of current rabies vaccination will be needed in order to purchase a dog license for the year beginning July 1, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Vaccinations may be done at a veterinarian's office or at one of the clinics.

Dogs vaccinated since Jan. 1, 1963, do not have to be revaccinated this year, Dr. Albrecht said, because the immunization with chick embryo vaccine lasts two years.

Every dog brought to the clinic must be on a leash and accompanied by a responsible adult, she said. Children under the age of 16 will not be allowed in the public clinic area.

Schedule of clinics which will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. is: July 7 at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael; July 9 at the County Fire Department in Woodacre; July 14 at Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato; July 16 at the Mill Valley Corporation Yard, Sycamore and Camino Alto; July 21 at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Avenue; July 23 at 500 Tamalpais Avenue, Corte Madera Sanitary District 2 office; July 28, Stinson Beach Community Center; July 30, at the fire department at Point Reyes Station; August 4 at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael; August 6 at Marion School in Novato; August 11 at the Mill Valley Corporation Yard and August 13 at the San Anselmo Corporation Yard on San Francisco Boulevard.

"It is very easy and safe to vaccinate dogs against rabies," Dr. Albrecht said.

"On the other hand, a person who has been bitten by a rabid animal must have a long series of vaccine injections to save his life. This treatment, known as the Pasteur treatment, is painful, expensive and in some cases dangerous."

Musical Melodrama Tryouts Are Slated

Tryouts for the Terra Linda Little Theater's presentation of the musical melodrama "East of the Rockies" have been scheduled for June 28 at 2:30 p.m. and June 29 at 8 p.m. in the Marinwood Community Building.

Singers, dancers and actors are needed for the production, slated to be shown in October.

"Ask any Camel smoker!"

Why Camel?

Well, like most people, Camel smokers shopped around a lot before they made Camel their brand. They still try another smoke once in a while when they run out.

The best tobacco makes the best smoke. It's as true today as ever before.

That's why, year after year, Camel remains the overwhelming choice of smokers who prefer regular cigarettes...the millions of men and women who enjoy the smoking pleasure that goes with Camel Time

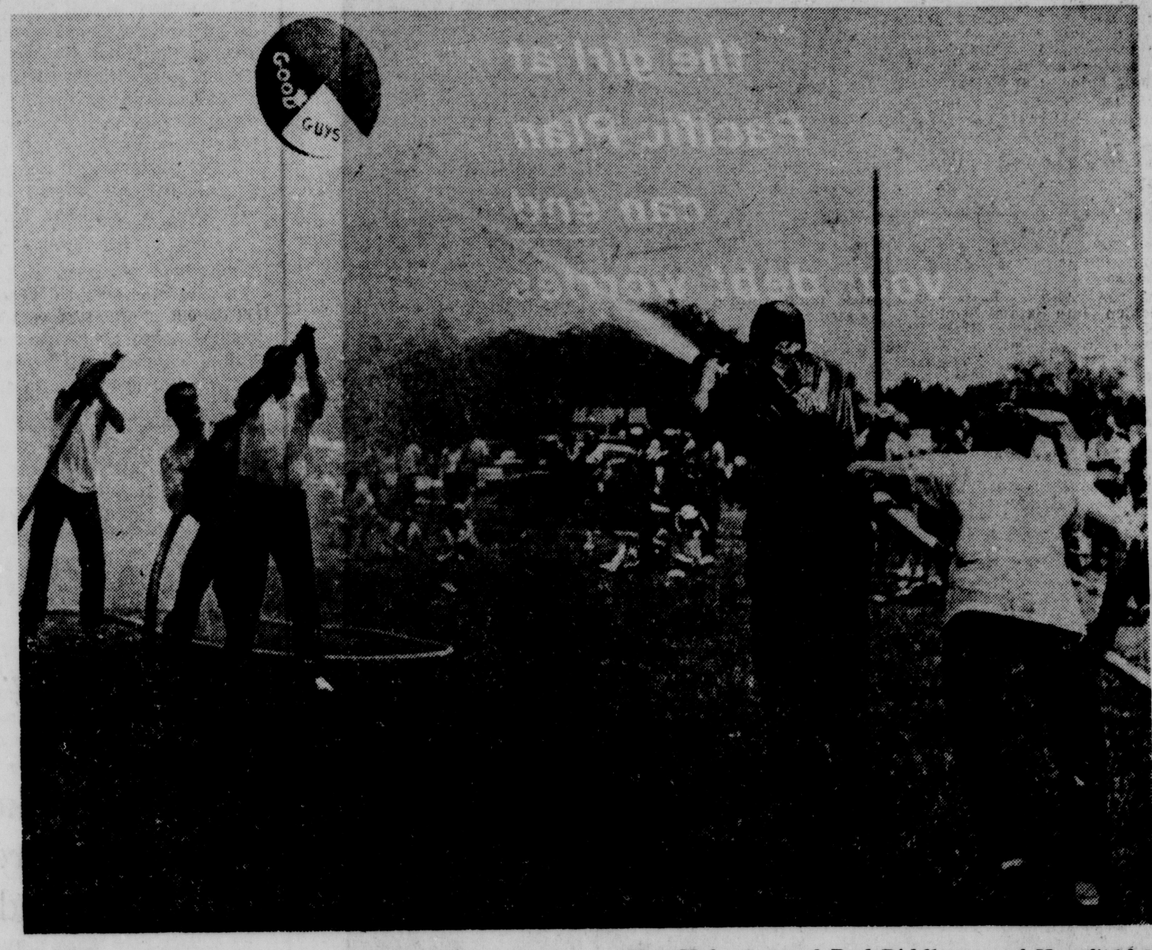
GRANT AVENUE THRONGED FOR NOVATO PARADE

Young marchers go through tricky maneuvers as Novato's Western Weekend parade makes its colorful way down Grant Avenue. Thousands of visitors lined the streets Saturday to see 163 floats, bands, majorettes, drum and bugle corps, drill teams and other entries in the biggest parade in the festival's history. Winning entries received cash prizes, trophies and ribbons. Western television personality Marshall J led the parade, and one of the attractions was an authentic Wells Fargo stage coach drawn by a team of horses.

SLIPPERY SADDLE — Rider Gary Kopt of Santa Rosa hits the dust as bucking horse shows his temper in the Novato Western Weekend rodeo. One of the highlights of the festival, the rodeo drew cowboys from all over the West to compete for $4,230 in prizes for the two shows. Sponsor was the Novato Horsemen's Assn.

'LET FREEDOM RING'—Santa Rosa Moose Lodge float featuring patriotic theme won first place in Novato Western Weekend parade for club float built by amateurs. The parade drew a throng estimated by police and firemen at well over 20,000.



WATERY WEEKEND—Novato and Kentfield firemen spent a very damp Saturday afternoon staging their fourth annual waterball fight as part of Western Weekend festivities. On the left, Bob Mariani, Ken Holyome and Rod Biddleman of Kentfield try to push a disc along a wire with a stream of water from a fire hose. Pushing in the opposite direction are Novato firemen Walt Nolan and Jim Berthinier.

FILL 'ER UP—The barbecued chicken at Novato's Wild West Weekend was quite satisfactory, judging by the vigor with which Lisa and Kari Sletten attacked their portions. Lisa, 4, and Kari, 3, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sletten of 706 Alice Street, Novato.

HE CARRIED THE BRIDE

Undaunted by knee-length casts on both legs, as the result of broken heels suffered in a fall nine weeks ago, Sandra Kubisiak managed to hobble down the aisle of San Francisco's Star of the Sea Church yesterday, to exchange vows with Carl Lesher. At the door, her new husband picked her up and carried her out. (AP Wirephoto)

New Racial Clash On Florida Beach

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Negroes and whites clashed at a public beach again today as integrationists sought a federal court order lifting a ban on after-dark demonstrations in this uneasy city.

Nineteen integrationists waded into the surf at the beach and were immediately attacked by a gang of about 20 white men and youths. One Negro girl received a bloody nose and several other demonstrators were struck.

The whites chased the integrationists out of the surf onto the broad white beach and were themselves chased out of the water by highway patrolmen and other officers.

National Chamber Raps Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce called on the Senate today to slash a minimum of 390 million dollars from the 3.5-billion-dollar foreign aid authorization bill passed by the House.

The chamber's spokesman, John O. Teeter, vice president of Pfizer International, New York, endorsed the aid program in general as one which "can promote our national interest" by "promoting the cause of freedom everywhere."

But he urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to cut back President Johnson's original request for nearly 3.4 billion dollars "not to exceed three billion dollars."

Civil Rights Bill Wending Way Through House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders started the century's most sweeping civil rights bill past its final hurdles today over shouted southerner objections. The bill's managers said it would be law by July 4.

Formally triggering the last parliamentary sequence before the bill can be sent to the White House, Rep. Emanuel Celler, (D-N. D.), at 12:30 p.m. (EDT) asked unanimous consent of the house to take up the House-passed bill and agree to the Senate's amendments.

As expected, southern members outdid each other in leaping to their feet to object. They objected so fast and in such volume, in fact, that speaker John W. McCormack had to quiet the momentarily while the clerk formally read Celler's request.

This time at least four abjections were heard. McCormack ruled that the official objection had come from Rep. William M. Colmer, (D-Miss.) others on their feet included Reps. John Bell Williams, (D-Miss.), Horace Kornegay, (D-N. C.), and Joe D. Waggoner, (D-La.).

Once that formality was out of the way, Celler dropped in the House hopper a resolution making acceptance of the Senate's amendments in order by majority vote. This was routed to the rules committee.

To preclude its gathering dust there, Celler followed up with a formal letter to rules chairman Howard W. Smith, (D-Va.), asking action on the resolution. Three rules members arranged to follow through with a letter to Smith formally requesting that he call the committee together.

They don't expect that he would, unless forced.

Chevy Chase, Md., occupies some 225 acres just over the District of Columbia line in Maryland. It recently celebrated the 50th anniversary of its incorporation.

Highway Bullet Victim Reported 'Doing Well'

The 19-year-old San Rafael driver who received a bullet wound in the stomach during a highway brawl over driving manners Saturday was "doing very well" today at San Rafael General Hospital.

Joseph J. Immel of 1722-A Lincoln Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition, recovering from extensive surgery which was performed at the hospital after he was shot during a struggle over a .22-caliber revolver at the side of Highway 101 in Terra Linda.

The other driver, James Warren Baxley, 19, of 116 Ward Street, Larkspur, has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder and is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Immel said he walked over to Baxley's car after being stopped and as he tried to grab the gun Baxley pointed at him, the gun went off and he was wounded.

The Independent-Journal on Saturday incorrectly gave the address of an occupent of the Baxley vehicle, Thomas Ray Vardon, 19, as 119 Ward Street, Larkspur. Correct address, according to sheriff's officers, is 116 Ward Street, same as that of Baxley.

Nazi Murder Camp Ritual Told, Denied

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — SS block leaders used to push for the job of selecting newly arrived prisoners for the gas chambers at Auschwitz concentration camp, a witness told West Germany's largest war crimes trial today.

"They would then return and say things to each other like: 'Look I got a bottle of schnaps' or 'Look how much money I took from a Jew.'" testified Hein Heinrich Duermayer, a 59-year-old Vienna lawyer.

"I deny that. I never decided over life or death at Auschwitz," shouted former SS Sgt. Osward Kaduk when he heard the statement. Kaduk, 57, is on trial with 20 former functionaries at Auschwitz.

New Plea Set To Hospitalize Ruby

DALLAS (UPI)—Condemned killer Jack Ruby's lawyers compiled a psychiatric record today to support their request to move him out of Dallas County Jail to a hospital for mental treatment.

Clayton Fowler, Ruby's chief counsel, had indicated that he might try to see Judge Joe B. Brown today. But Brown was out of town. Fowler said he was compiling psychiatric reports into a record to present to Brown as soon as he returns.

Chat With Jail Inmate Lands Youth In Jail

A few words with a friend were somewhat costly for Robert Glynn Lezzeni, 18, of 1841 Lincoln Avenue early yesterday.

Lezzeni was jailed Sunday at 12:20 a.m., charged with communicating with a prisoner without permission. He was later released on $550 bail. According to Marin County Sheriff's reports, the youth was observed talking with an unidentified county jail inmate through a barred window.

Campus Fire Kills

Durham, N.H. (UPI)—One student died and more than a dozen other scrambled to safety early today when fire swept a three-story fraternity house on the University of New Hampshire campus. The flames raced through the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house where the students had checked in prior to the opening of summer school today.

Three Big Years On His Horses

NEW YORK (AP)—In three full years of riding in the United States, Panamanian jockey Braulio Baeza's mounts have earned $5,021,535. His mounts have won 598 races in that period.

When he began riding here in 1960, Baeza won only eight stakes races but the following year his mounts took down 14 stakes, including the Belmont and Lawrence Realization with Sherluck.

Haitian Strong Man Takes Office For Life

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier was sworn in as president for life today in formal ceremonies at Haiti's legislative chamber.

The chamber was packed to the hilt and thousands of Haitians massed in the streets outside for the oath-taking. Thousands of peasants had been trucked into the capital by the government for the occasion.

Court Sets Trial Dates For Morals Suspects

Ronald Gene Arrasmith, 18, of Boyes Hot Springs, Sonoma County, will be tried July 28, and Harold Dean Arrasmith, 23, of 1679 Hill Avenue, Novato,is scheduled for trial Aug. 4.

Southern Race Schedule Is Set

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Southern Ocean Racing Conference has listed the following sailing schedule for 1965:

March 6, Lipton Cup, Miami; March 8, Miami-Nassau race, and March 12, Nassau Cup Race, Bahamas.

Doctors Lean Heavily In Favor of Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Chronicle yesterday told of a random sampling of the presidential preferences of 100 doctors attending the American Medical Association convention.

It said the group voted 82-18 for Sen. Barry Goldwater over president Johnson.

Business Ransacked, But Nothing Missing

Someone broke into the Camgros Gravel and Fuel Co., 626 Third Street, San Rafael, Saturday night and thoroughly ransacked the building without stealing anything, it was reported to San Rafael Police yesterday.

Entry for the burglary attempt was made by breaking a side window. Roger A. Camgros, owner, of 296 Union Street, San Rafael, reported nothing was missing.

Handbag Is Stolen

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Mill Valley reported to police yesterday that when she went into her home at 376 Edgewood Avenue to pick up the family wash, between 10 and 11 a.m., someone took a purse from the seat of her car containing $6.50.

Mill Valley Democrats To Map Initiative Drive

Ways of fighting the Rumford Act nullification initiative will be outlined for Mill Valley Democratic club members at their meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Hall ,467 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Legal, local and organizational opposition to proposition 14 will be described by Wyman Hicks, Dr. Sam Hanzell and Harold J. Truett, according to William Ramsey, program chairman.

Heart Specialist Tell Of Silent Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A New York heart specialist says millions of Americans over 35 may be suffering from hidden heart diseases without knowing it.

Dr. Arthur Mastor of Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York said Sunday that about two million Americans have heart attacks every year without knowing it, and that as many as four million may suffer from "silent coronary disease" that can go undetected until it is too late.

Failure to recognize heart disease still is a major problem, despite advances in diagnosis, he told the American College of Chest Physicians, meeting with the American Medical Association.

Lack of detection is "an ominous oversight," he said, because it denies the benefits of modern treatment to patients who could be helped.

Dr. Mastor said that many patients with heart trouble never realize it because they feel no pain. Of 600 patients recently referred to him because of known heart disease, he said, more than a third of them experienced no pain.

And after a hidden heart disease is discovered:

"Work and exercise, but moderately," said Dr. Mastor. "Avoid all undue emotional and physical stress. Don't get mad at your wife.

"The happiest people I know are those of my patients with silent coronary disease whom I've been able to teach a philosophy of life without stress."

Woman's Back Hurt In Novato Area Traffic

An automobile passenger last night complained of a whiplash injury after a three-car collision on Highway 101, 200 feet north of the Black Point cut-off.

Eleanor Andrews, 43, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Richard in the rear-end accident at 9:15 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol. A car driven by Norman Healion, 27, of San Francisco, hit the Andrews car, which was pushed into a car stopping for traffic driven by Rosin Gust, 46, of Vancouver, Wash.

Boy's Leg Broken As Bicycle, Car Collide On Grade

Kevin Purcell of 141 Vista Grande, was listed in good condition at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco. His bicycle collided with a sedan driven by Elizabeth E. Stuz, 68, of 205 Tunstead Avenue. San Anselmo.

Mrs. Stuz was traveling downhill toward Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The boy had coasted onto the road from an adjacent driveway, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Coed Graduated With Distinction

Geraldine Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Lawrence, 8 Alexander Street, San Rafael, was graduated with distinction last week from Principia Upper School, St. Louis.

A member of Cum Laude national honor society, Geri, during her senior year, was a member of the sing and chapel committees, and of the chorus.

Engineer Mogens Ring of the county department of public works said no formal appraisal of the land involved has been made yet, so no formal estimates are available on how much territory could be purchased.

In another flood project, the board will be asked tomorrow to continue the present $1 tax rate for zone 7, which includes Gallinas Village, to pay, over two years, for a $59,000 36-inch concrete pipe on Hawthorne Avenue to the pumping plant on Vendola Drive.

The pipe would drain water which has flooded the subdivision from nearby hills.

Flood Control Plan Calls For Tidelots Purchase

Purchases of some tidelots in Richardson Bay are expected to start soon, if the Marin County Board of Supervisors approves the recommendation of the flood control zone 3 advisory board.

The proposal is to raise $120,000 by a tax of about 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation in zone 3 to start to buy underwater land for the floodway through the upper part of the bay.

According to the engineering estimate, flood control will require a channel 1,000 feet wide at the part of the bay between the southwest shore and Strawberry Point, narrowing to 900 feet near Richardson Bridge, and narrowing still more beyond the bridge.

The money would also be used, partly, for more purchase of right of way along tributary streams into the bay. The flood control zone includes all of the watershed draining into the upper end of the bay.

GOP Backs Hike In Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican Platform Committee plans to consider a proposal to raise income taxes — rather than Social Security taxes — to pay for health care for the aged.

"We have always favored progressive taxes rather than regressive taxes," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.), chairman of the committee that meets in San Francisco next month.

"An increase in the Social Security tax, as the Democrats have proposed to pay for their medical care program, would weigh heaviest on those least able to pay," he said in an interview.

A wallet containing $50 in cash and personal papers belonging to William Simpson of Seattle was found and turned over to Belvedere police at about 4 p.m. yesterday by four children. It may be reclaimed by Simpson, according to police, at the Belvedere city hall, 83 Beach Road.

Story Of Marin City Traced At Historical Society Session

The story of Marin City was traced at yesterday's meeting of Marin County Historical Society in the gymnasium of Marin City.

Cooperating in the program were the Marin City Historical Committee and several church and civic groups.

The program highlighted the period from the land grants to the present. Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park of Mill Valley told of Mariana Richardson, daughter of Capt. William A. Richardson, who was given the grant to Saucelito Rancho, riding over the hills on her pony, which was later confisticated by Capt. John C. Fremont. Dan Allen of Larkspur, former member of the Citizen's Council of Marin City, and John A. Thomson, former member of Sausalito City Council, brought the audience up to date with the story of Rosie the Riveter. Allen said Marinship was first known as the Bechtel Co. shipyards and that 20,000 people worked there at one time. Twenty-five per cent of these were women. They painted the metal of the ships, riveted and welded.

The keel for the first ship, William A. Richardson, was laid June 27, 1942, and soon was off the ways. From then on about one ocean-going tanker was built per week.

Allen said housing the shipyard workers was a big problem. It was overcome when federal funds were provided for building Marin City. Dormitories as well as single dwelling units were quickly erected.

The wartime buildings have been replaced by modern homes and apartments. To show the public the improvements which have been made, a house and garden tour, under auspices of the Marin Garden Club, followed the program.

Hiker Collapses On Mountainside

A 50-year-old San Francisco sightseer collapsed, apparently of a heart attack, while climbing the trail to the lookout tower on the east peak of Mount Tamalpais yesterday at 2:20 p.m.

Rangers, county firemen and sheriff's deputies carried the victim, Nand Kishore of 100 Broderick Street, by stretcher to the east peak parking lot. He was taken to Marin General Hospital where he was reported in fair condition today.

Factions Differ On Rights Bill Future

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and other top integrationists told the largest civil rights rally in Chicago's history yesterday that Negroes must move quickly to test compliance with the new civil rights bill.

Their call for action was met with a plea for moderation by Roy Wilkins, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It is necessary to move vigorously," King urged the more than 70,000 persons who jammed Chicago's soldier Field for the afternoon rally. "We have a long, long way to go."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), called for immediate compliance with the bill so that "the constitution will be more than just a scrap of paper, but will be the lifeblood of 200 million people."

In Washington, however, Wilkins told a news conference that the NAACP will move slowly in testing the provisions of the new bill. "We ought to be smart rather than loud in the manner we choose to implement the bill," he said. He said King and Farmer were trying to outdo each other in plans for acting on the civil rights bill.

Rev. King told the crowd the Senate action "doesn't mean that we have reached the promised land in civil rights."

He said opponents of the bill have "lost the moral and legal battles" and may turn to violence as a last resort to stall integration.

James Foreman, executive secretary of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), called upon the rally audience to "do something about the murders going on in the state of Mississippi today."

Even as Foreman spoke, Northern students were starting to pour into Mississippi for the "Mississippi summer project" —conducting voter registration drives and setting up so-called "freedom schools."

It is hoped that a safe northern water route will help the Canadian North, whose mineral resources have scarcely been tapped.

Ancient Greek Scheme May Drive Helicopter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A new helicopter, using a 2,000-year-old propulsion idea, is reported in final development stages at Hughes Tool Company's aircraft division.

Ground tests were reported complete Sunday for the XV-9A Hot Cycle research helicopter propulsion system. Company officials said flight testing will begin this fall.

The propulsion system employs one of the oldest known principles of mechanical propulsion, "Hero's Turbine," first demonstrated in Alexandria about 120 B. C., company spokesmen said.

The turbine idea consists of a vessel of water heated by fire to generate gas steam which is ducted into a sphere and out-tilted jets to produce rotation.

XV-9A relies on two gas turbines to generate high energy gases. The gases are forced through the three rotor blades and out the tips.

Company officials say the system is extremely simple and increases payloads to twice the craft's weight.

Initial estimated maximum cruise speed for the system is 150 knots, but later adaptions should push the limit to between 250 and 300 knots, officials said.

De Borba Zoning On Agenda For Novato Planners

The request of Frank J. De Borba to rezone from single family to multiple two parcels of land on South Novato Boulevard will come before the Novato Planning Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

One parcel is at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard, and the other 400 feet farther south.

The commission will also consider tentative maps of Hamilton Park Subdivision of eight acres across Highway 101 from the north gate of Hamilton Air Force Base, submitted by Growth Properties; Cerro Vista 4 of three acres submitted by Cerro Vista Homes, Inc., and Marin Golf and Country Club Heights of 44 acres submitted by Andrew Talbot.

FIRE FLARES WHEN DRIVER MISSES TURN

A car driven by a Pacifica janitor missed a turn eastbound on Olive Avenue in Novato saturday evening and set fire to a hillside.

Down went the pole. Electric wires set fire to dry grass.

While firemen put out the blaze, Goodwin was treated at Novato General Hospital for scrapes and bruises and cited by the highway patrol for speeding. An area about 100-by-100 feet was burned, firemen reported.

Kentfield School Meet

The Kentfield school district board will consider the tentative budget for the next fiscal year and decide whether to continue using office space in the Bon Air Shopping Center for district offices at its meeting today at 7:45 p.m. in the Wolfe Grade School library.

Nerve Graft Gives Teacher Use Of Her 'Spanking Hand'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A three-inch section of nerve grafted into a Los Angeles schoolteacher's right wrist restored feeling to her "spanking hand," she related at the American Medical Association annual convention.

"Unfortunately, we're not allowed to spank," Blanche Sheets said with a laugh in answer to reporters' questions.

Mrs. Sheets is a patient of Dr. Leonard Marmor, orthopedic surgeon at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

Dr. Marmor and his associates started experimenting with nerve grafts in dogs in 1960. In November 1962, he successfully grafted borrowed nerve tissue in an 18-year-old boy who lost five inches of the ulnar nerve from a shotgun blast through the forearm. Mrs. Sheets' nerve transplant was made in December of that year.

Dr. Marmor said that nerve grafting has been almost a complete failure in the past.

Previous nerve graft failures resulted from severe inflammatory response to the foreign tissue, Dr. Marmor explains. He overcomes this by having the "spare part" nerve irradiated prior to surgery. The nerve section is obtained quickly from the donor body or member, refrigerated, and air-expressed to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for irradiation, he said.

Dr. Marmor said the nerve implant acts like a pipe through which the patient's own live nerve can grow again. While sensation has been restored in human patients, motor function—movement control—has not.

Mrs. Sheets injured her hand opening a can of fruit cocktail. It took six months after the operation for feeling to come back to her thumb, index finger, middle finger and part of the ring finger.

She now has full use of the injured hand, she demonstrated, because other, uninjured nerves control its movement.

Our Area Draws Heavy Interest Despite World Fair

More Americans than ever before are now answering the siren calls for touring in Europe and Japan. The World's Fair is making the Atlantic Coast the magnet for more vacation visitors than usual. But despite these counter-attractions, Marin and the other Bay Area counties are already moving toward new high marks in tourism this year.

An added stimulus will be the Republican National Convention in San Francisco next month. A heavy percentage of those attending will not be heading straight home after the Presidential ticket is named, the platform adopted, and the tumult and shouting cease. Out-of-state citizens have heard too much about our great bridges, Marin's outstanding new Civic Center, Muir Woods, miles of redwoods and a myriad of other attractions to pass up opportunity to include these in their Western itineraries.

Tourist travel got off to an early start —and increased tempo this year. May in Marin brought many visitors from all over Northern and Central California. In March, 44,567 visitors to Muir Woods were a 7,000 increase over March 1963.

Our local chambers of commerce and other tour organizations are busy answering inquiries. Also The Redwood Empire Association's San Francisco office received 3,230 letters in April alone. The Association's visitor information center ended its first year of operation June 1 with a record of service to 16,000 inquiring tourists.

If you're not traveling out of the area this year, why not enjoy what thousands are coming from a distance to see?

Explorer Scouts Show Self Reliance

Newsworthy is the 23-day hike eight Explorer Scouts of Post No. 88 are now making along the John Muir Trail, from Yosemite National Park to the summit of Mount Whitney. The Marin lads arranged for mule-pack relays to put their food at strategic points, and also received expert advice on the 215-mile passes over 10,000 feet high.

So much for determination and planning. But especially heartening, in these days of teen-age critics, is the fact that the Explorers also arranged their finances in advance, cutting and selling cordwood. Self-reliance is still a factor in determined youngsters.

That New No-Top Bikini

The new revolutionary style in bathing suits—the bare bosom bikini — is upon us. We imagine that it will forever be limited to private pools and sundecks. The Puritan strain is too strong in American blood to permit such unveiling in public.

We would advise males with a normal voyeur tendency not to cancel their subscripitons to Playboy and rush to Stinson Beach. They will likely be disappointed.

It is arguable that ultra-violet light upon the bared breast can conceivably be a factor in breast cancer. Another reason we doubt it will seriously catch on: most women just don't have the figure for it. What would Maidenform do?

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Leaders Putting Brakes On Hasty Reapportionment Proposals

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—What probably will work out to be a delaying action on the matter of the United States Supreme Court's opinion on state reapportionment is seen in the various comments of state government leaders.

Despite a hue and cry in Southern California for a special session of the legislature and the panic button hit by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who said immediately after the decision that the state "must" reapportion, time has elapsed now, permitting a saner study of the document, and it seems that, while it needs discussion and a plan of action set, there is no immediate crisis of political life and death involved.

SEN. ED REGAN (D-Weaverville), chairman of the powerful Senate judiciary committee, has called the committee together, and probably it will meet later this week to discuss tactics.

These tactics, of course, will be directed to saving, if possible, the present set-up, or a moderately modified version, of the present State Senate.

Senators have more than a cursory interest in the matter, as about half of them would drop into political oblivion if the Senate were reapportioned on the basis of the U. S. Supreme Court decision. New districts would be located in the populous areas of Southern California, and the theory of apportionment on the basis of not more than three counties to a senator banished forever.

THE CHORE at the present time, then, is to see what can be done to save the less populous areas of the state from turning over their resources and political sovereignty to the masses, which is what the reapportionment contemplated by the U. S. Supreme Court would amount to.

While the decision applies to all states of the Union, there is a question as to whether it is enforceable in California, due to other cases pending.

Senator Regan says, in effect, that California should accept nothing until these cases are decided, and that the state should proceed through its attorney general to follow through on the cases to a final conclusion to the Supreme Court itself.

THIS WOULD appear to be the saner method of determining what will be the final outcome of the decision, which the senator said contains "the very seeds for destruction of the democratic process," meaning not only in California, but in the rest of the states as well.

The senator's observation along this line well could extend to the federal government itself, as eventually there will be a hue and cry to the effect the United States Senate is not representative of population, in that states with less population have as much representation in that august body as do states with large populations. California and Nevada are examples—each has two U. S. senators.

In any event, such a complete change of democratic government demands lengthy and thoughtful consideration on how to accomplish it in the best interests of all the population. Senator Regan intends to see that this consideration is given.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Broemmel's Duties And Changing Times

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I read with interest and sympathetic understanding the expressed reactions of some property owners, particularly in Sausalito, at the announced increases in assessed values of real estate properties.

As a former public official and a citizen of our community with some modest understanding of the relationship between real estate values and taxes, I want to express my confidence in the judgment and intentions of our assessor, Bert Broemmel. I know from first-hand experience that he is a man of high principle.

He has a broad knowledge of his job and a personal intent to be fair. It may well be that the demands of his public responsibilities result in comparative "inequities" for some people on the basis of past experiences, but I am sure his actions are entirely defensible and he is trying to do the very best he can.

It is a fact that population increases and business expansion in Marin County have caused great changes in basic values. This has caused our county to assume great increases in public responsibilities, most of which cause large increases in the need for public income.

So, I hope that real estate owners and taxpayers will realize the depth of the problem and maintain an understanding of Mr. Broemmel's job and responsibilities to all citizens of Marin County.

I-J's Editorial On Appraisal Appraised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This has reference to your Editorial of June 11, 1964 entitled "Bagley Appraiser Reform Bill. . ."

I agree that the bill is a step in the right direction. Assemblyman Bagley was kind enough to consult with me and other appraisers before he prepared the bill and we have discussed its progress in the Legislature since that time.

Mr. Bagley, a prominent attorney, is certainly in a position to know that the present Inheritance Tax Appraisal System is wrong in many respects. The political patronage part of it is one of the minor faults when compared to some of its other shortcomings.

The public as a whole appears to be completely ignorant of the importance of this major source of tax revenue for the state. Your statement that "Inheritance tax appraising is not considered a terribly difficult job" is a good example of this lack of understanding. You must have made the statement without thought and most certainly without any research on the subject.

After thirty years in the appraisal field, let me assure you that inheritance tax appraising, if done properly, is the most difficult of all appraisal or valuation work. The inheritance tax appraiser is called upon to appraise and establish the value of both large and small estates when death occurs and the property of the deceased passes on to the heirs.

These estates frequently are made up of every kind and type of real estate, industrial plants, mining, manufacturing, ranching and agricultural enterprises, stock, furniture, fixtures, notes and mortgages, patent rights, ships, aircraft, oil wells, fractional ownership, limited partnership, life insurance policy, accounts receivable, as well as various common and preferred stocks, bonds, debentures, valuable jewelry, antiques, hidden treasures, etc. This is "not terribly difficult," you say.

All of these things have to be located, inventoried, and a value placed upon them to determine the value of the estate. If this work is not done correctly the state may lose much of the taxes it is rightfully entitled to under the law, or the heirs to the estate may suffer a loss by being required to pay too much tax.

1. The law does not require that people appointed to do this important work have any experience or knowledge in the appraisal field. This is almost unbelievable, isn't it? If you doubt it, check the last two appointed in this county. The tax loss to the state could run into millions through incompetent appraisals.

2. The fee received as compensation by the inheritance tax appraiser is based upon the value in dollars he or she places upon the estate. At first glance this does not appear to be of vast importance, but compare it to the cost-plus contractor who makes a dime every time he spends a dollar. He is usually watched very closely. Compare it, too, with the independent appraiser, who is required to certify on his appraisal report that his fee was not contingent in any way upon the value which he placed upon the property. This is required by appraisal societies, the U.S. Government and lending institutions.

There are many more things wrong with the present inheritance tax appraisal system. I lay no blame to Mr. Cranston or his predecessors or either of the political parties for this half-baked system. It has been so good for both parties that they have never informed the public about it. It took a dirty inter-party fight to bring it out into the open. . . .

Bouquets to Assemblyman Bagley for his courageous efforts to correct, through new legislation, this much abused tax program! Correction is long overdue.

Goldwater, Kennedy Views Contrasted

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

Senator Barry Goldwater's main argument against the Civil Rights' Bill seems to be the fact that you can not sew love in the hearts of men through law. The best rebuttal to this stand that I have seen so far was addressed to the Senate by Senator Edward M. Kennedy on April 9, 1964:

"It is true, as has been said on this floor, that prejudice exists in the minds and hearts of men. It cannot be eradicated by law. But I firmly believe a sense of fairness and good will also exists in the minds and hearts of men, side by side with the prejudice; a sense of fairness and good will which shows itself so often in acts of charity and kindness toward others. This noble characteristic wants to come out. It wants to, and often does, win out against the prejudice. Law, expressing as it does the moral conscience of the community, can help it come out in every person, so in the end the prejudice will be dissolved."

Reapportionment Likely To Be Under Republican Saddle Blanket

WASHINGTON — Two far-reaching, nation-wide consequences will flow from the Supreme Court ruling that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned by population:

1. This wholesale redistricting will free the state legislatures from being dominated by rural minorities, will force them to be responsive to voter opinion and turn them into active instruments of modern government.

2. Together with the earlier Supreme Court opinion requiring congressional redistricting on the same basis, these developments at both the state and national level will challenge the Republican Party to make an effective appeal to the mass-concentration of voters in the big cities.

IT IS IN THE big cities where the Republican Party has been withering for many years. The certainty that metropolitan voters will before long have equal representation in Congress and state legislatures means that the Republicans must prove themselves able to win in the cities—or else.

It seems to me that such redistricting is not only morally right but beneficial to the states and to the nation.

When in the Tennessee case two years ago the court ruled that the federal courts should take jurisdiction to make sure that city dwellers should have roughly equal representation as rural voters in order not to be denied their voting rights, Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and some others called it a "death blow" to states' rights.

My view is that the opposite is the truth, that redistricting will prove to be an incalculable boon for states' rights.

THIS IS WHY I think so:

The effect of the state redistributing will be to revitalize the legislatures, to move them to action, rather than inaction, in solving problems which should be dealt with at the state level.

It will mean that as the state legislatures become responsive to all of the electorate, rather than dominated by the disproportionately powerful rural vote, the need, the demand, the pressure from the cities to turn constantly to Washington will decrease.

This is the reason I see the ultimate consequences of the Supreme Court decision as strengthening the capacity of the states to discharge their responsibility to their citizens and thus to protect states' rights by exercising them rather than neglecting them.

I submit that the Supreme Court decision on redistricting serves conservative principles because they work in the direction of arresting the flow of political power to Washington and to retaining political power nearer to the people.

IT IS PROBABLE that the first effects of redistricting of both congressional and state legislative districts will be adverse to the Republicans because there will have to be more urban representation. It is in the cities where the Democrats have been strongest and the Republicans have been weakest.

This fact was vividly illustrated in the 1960 election. Richard M. Nixon suffered acutely in the big cities. Of the 40 cities with a population of more than 300,000 Nixon carried only 14. The cities he carried were all in the West and South except Columbus, Indianapolis and Omaha. The cities carried by Kennedy were for the most part in the large pivotal states east of the Mississippi River.

This will be an uncomfortable bur under the saddle of the Republican Party — but a needed bur. When you consider that the Republicans have received a majority of the congressional vote only once in 34 years — that was in 1946—it is evident that most of the time they will remain a minority and impotent party until they can win more of the vote in the cities where more voters are concentrating all the time.

Arms Race 'Sleeper' Pending In Congress

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A far-reaching legislative sleeper to watch for during the final days of this session of Congress is a bill establishing a National Economic Conversion Committee.

This carefully camouflaged disarmament proposal, requiring all defense contractors to prepare plans for an eventual changeover to non-arms production, will get the full endorsement of the Johnson administration.

Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance will lead a parade of administration witnesses before the Senate interstate commerce committee this week, hailing it as an integral part of the president's program for building the "Great Society."

DRAFTED BY THE Pentagon's "Whiz Kids" to pave the way for Secretary Robert S. McNamara's military base shutdowns and unilateral disarmament moves, the commission plan is being vigorously pushed in Congress by a group of 20 senators headed by Sen. George McGovern (D-S. C.) and 35 members of the House led by Rep. Brad Morse (R-Mass.).

It provides for the establishment of a nine-member commission to be headed by the secretary of commerce and to include the secretaries of defense, agriculture, labor and interior; the Atomic Energy Commission chairman; Disarmament Agency director; the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and the National Aeronautics and Space administrator.

The commission would be empowered to report on the various programs needed for a gradual conversion of U. S. military spending into other areas of the economy.

UNTIL THE JOHNSON administration decided to endorse the commission this week, its major support came from the controversial Council for a Liveable World, which is causing a mild sensation in political circles with its sizable contributions to legislators supporting the peace lobby's disarmament objectives.

For example, the council has quietly contributed funds to the campaigns of Senator McGovern ($22,000); Sen. Quentin Burdick (D-N. D.) ($14,000); Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo.) ($8,000), and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) ($2,500).

SIGNIFICANTLY, Senator McGovern is circulating an unpublished report, supplied by the Defense Department, revealing that 50 major defense contractors in 20 states will have their contracts terminated by Secretary McNamara's new economy moves.

"When it is considered that roughly 50 per cent of the total federal budget and about nine per cent of our working force is directed toward national defense efforts," reported McGovern, "we dare not pass lightly over the economic and political factors resulting from a curtailment or a change in these efforts."

Since Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash), chairman of the commerce committee, has privately endorsed the commission, the odds now favor swift approval by his committee and the Senate unless the public strongly protests the legislation.

At present, only three members of the commerce committee—Sens. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) and Thruston Morton (R-Ky.)—have indicated they will oppose the measure.

It's The Little Things That Count On A Balmy Summer's Afternoon

Skeeter made it through high school, taking his time, in nine years. If he had a major, said Chuck Crawford, it was probably printing, since he waited for the Davies' boys outside the print shop perhaps as much as any other classroom door.

There is a dog named Duke, we're told, who, during Pony League games in Novato, fetches foul balls from the outfield when told "go get the ball, Duke." Duke is friend and companion of Jeff Akey, third baseman.

It's a grand time of year for the short ones. We saw two boys riding one bike with those long handle bars the other day past city hall, one hunched over the front riding backward with his arms on the bars and feet on the frame, while the other boy went forward, pumping. There's something about three month's worth of vacation and being a boy.

A DEAD SCORPION turned up at our house plus some pinching crayfish. Robby Gross, who recently came into the office with a Wolfback Ridge gopher snake wrapped around his arm, now says he has found someone's pet turtle, which "must have washed down Blithedale Creek in the big June rainstorm. He was kind of battered."

Rattlesnakes were all over the place in Live Oak, Fla., where Slue Cardwell took vacation. He said they came out after a big flood. Florida was hot, 105, and there are a lot of other things, and he was glad to get back to the fog, said Slue.

Asked about his horse, Art Carpenter said Buster is fine but he never comes when he is called, only if you have hay in your hand.

"There are no debits in that great bank in the sky," according to Theodora Stone, banker. This is good to know.

CARL W. GABRIELSON reports that following his talk on "painted gardens" to 75 men at San Quentin, the men all walked up to him, shook his hand and looked him straight in the eye. Many asked him to come back again. "They're just like everyone else," he said.

The latest edition of the newspaper, Sam's Song, is on the stands. It is the third, one being published once a year from Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon. Harry V. Plate is editor and "Yproc Id" is editorial consultant.

Jim Canepa, back from a three-week visit with his wife to Tahiti, says if he were 21 and single he would go there to look for business opportunities.

TAHITI IS LIKE this, he said: "Papaya, pineapple, coffee grow wild. Bananas grow like weeds. French bread is subsidized at five cents a loaf and a child will take a half a loaf to school for lunch, picking off a couple of bananas on the way.

"It is a beautiful spot. The French aren't too friendly toward Americans. People eat a lot of fruit and fish. You can go out the front door and spear fish for your dinner. There is no milk except a little powdered. Teeth are bad, probably because of lack of milk and soft foods. They do not have the new American-type swimming suit but plenty of bikinis. Natives, if they can afford one, wear a bikini; otherwise they wear a pareu."

Lt. William Walsh was getting dressed to go away following his wedding the other day when he discovered to his alarm he had no going-away pants.

He'd forgotten to pick them up at the cleaners. So he went to the cleaners and, though it was Sunday, got them to open up, got his pants and went on his way.

Dredging Studied On Gallinas Creek

The Army Corps of Engineers will look over plans for dredging and developing Gallinas Creek.

Maj. Donald A. Wisdom, acting district engineer, has asked for documents from the county showing authority to do the dredging job and assurances of local payments if the project costs more $200,000. Present predictions have set the cost at about $90,000.

Wisdom said that when he receives the necessary papers from Marin County he will move to seek authority to make a preliminary report on the project. The county is forming a county service area to finance a dredging project up to, but not including, the Civic Center Lagoon.

Man On The Street Speaks Up On Topless Swim Suits, Gowns

WASHINGTON—News reaches us from the heart of the New York fashion industry that the topless bathing suit and transparent evening gown are now being sold to top stores around the country.

For years designers have been working on a breakthrough in swimming and evening apparel without any visible success. But 1964 will go down as the year the bottom fell out of the top, and historians in centuries to come may mark it as the date when women returned to the cave.

NOBODY HAS BOTHERED yet to get the reaction of men to this most interesting and disquieting bit of news, so we took two photographs — one of the topless bathing suit and one of a transparent evening gown — out into the hot Washington streets to ask them how the male sex felt about the whole thing.

First we showed them the photographs and then we asked them what they thought.

The first man we spoke to, said, "M-m-my my g-g-g-osh, wh-wh-wh-ere did y-y-ou buy th-th-those dirty pictures?"

"They're not dirty pictures," we said. "They're fashion photos of the latest bathing suits and evening gowns. Would you want your wife to wear a bathing suit like this?"

"S-s-sure, except sh-sh-she can't sw-sw-swim."

The second man we showed the bathing suit to was horrified.

"My God," he cried, "they've covered up the navel."

"Yes, sir," we said, "they had to in order to do away with the top."

"How prudish can you get?" he said in disgust and walked away.

THE THIRD MAN we spoke to studied the transparent evening gown for a while and then said, "I don't care what they do, as long as they tell us what to do when they wear one of those things."

"What do you mean by that?"

"What are our instructions? How are we supposed to behave when a girl comes out in one of those? I mean, are we supposed to stare or ignore her or ask her to dance?"

"I guess each man will have to decide for himself."

"I think I'm against it," he said.

"Why?"

"It will make my shirt wilt."

The fourth man we talked to said, "I think I seen that girl in 'Playboy' magazine."

"I doubt it," we said. "This is a high fashion model and she only works for dress designers."

"Well, there's something familiar about her."

"What do you think of the idea of the swimming suit?"

"It came out too late," he said.

"Why too late?"

"It should have been put on the market for Mother's Day."

THE FIFTH MAN looked at the photographs for about ten minutes. "If you want my honest opinion, I think this evening dress is a shocking disgrace."

"Why do you say that?"

"The bow should be in the back of the skirt. Any designer knows that."

Two teen-agers were peering over his shoulder and one said, "And they're always rapping us for juvenile delinquency."

The last man we talked to said, "I think it's a good idea."

"Why?"

"It will give the missionaries in America something to do."

NAACP May Go Slow On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the granddaddy of America's civil rights organizations, today opened its 55th annual convention.

Impact of the civil rights bill on NAACP strategy was to be a chief topic of discussion during the six-day convention, which was expected to draw 2,000 of the NAACP's half-million members.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, indicated at a news conference yesterday that the association would move slowly in testing compliance with the bill, once it is signed into law. Wilkins also reacted heatedly to claims by some civil rights groups that the NAACP is too conservative.

Wilkins was to speak tonight at the convention's first mass meeting. Other speakers during the week will include Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), and Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), who helped to guide the civil rights bill to Senate passage; Sergent Shriver, head of President Lyndon B. Johnson's anti-poverty program, and Carl Rowan, director of the United States information agency.

Delegates will make a pilgrimage Thursday to Arlington Cemetery to visit the graves of President John F. Kennedy and Medgar Evers, an NAACP leader who was slain in Jackson, Miss., last summer.

There will be workshop discussions of various topics, including "Accelerating School Desegregation" and "Direct Action."

Wilkins charged that the Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and James Farmer, who heads the Congress of Racial Equality, were attempting to beat each other to the draw in announcing plans for acting under the civil rights bill.

"We don't consider that we are in a race to make the first announcement," said Wilkins. "We ought to use every bit of wisdom we can muster in taking advantage of this bill.

"We ought to be smart rather than loud in the manner we choose to implement the bill. If you have to change the spark plugs in your car, you don't use a sledgeham-

Backers Of Houseboat Pair Set Fund-Raiser

The "Blank Communism Defense Committee" will hold a fund-raising party at 9 p.m. Friday on the ferryboat Charles Van Damme in Sausalito to aid the defense of H. Kenneth and Mary Ellen McCurdy, charged with displaying an obscene sign on their houseboat.

Two bands will provide music, and headline entertainers will appear at hte party, said chairman Greg Baker. Proceeds will defray court expenses in the McCurdy trial.

Dredging Hopes Reported Bright In Mariner Cove

Hope for eventual dredging of waterways in the Mariner Cove area of Corte Madera has increased, Herber C. Leney, chairman of the board of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., said today.

Leney said Dominic Mussi of Millbrae, who owns undeveloped property north of Mariner Cove, has agreed to pay "a good portion of the cost" of dredging in return for the fill which would be placed on his property.

The Corte Madera Town Council last Monday decided to consider the request of the association to pay part of the cost when it reviews the budget at today's 7:30 p.m. meeting or next Monday.

Leney said one estimate on the dredging, which would provide a 30-foot wide channel seven feet deep, was between $20,000 and $25,000. He said the channel would have to be dredged every seven years because of silting.

Marin Architects Win Kudos From S.F. Masonry Institute

Marin County architects have always seemed to do pretty well in picking up awards. And we see that a number of them have recently come in for special recognition by the San Francisco Masonry Institute which has passed out engraved plaques for outstanding designs in unit masonry.

Among them were Crawford and Banning of San Rafael for their work on the Marin Municipal Water District building in Corte Madera. Another San Rafael firm, Gromme and Priestley, was honored for a design in stone of a garden crypt at Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

Neill Smith of Mill Valley, principal in Neill Smith and Associates, San Francisco, received a plaque for his design for the Granny Goose office in Oakland; Masten, Hurd and Gwathmey of San Francisco (Cabell Gwathmey is a Belvedere resident) received one for the Homestead High School in Cupertino, and San Francisco firm Hertzka and Knowles (Wayne S. Hertzka is a Mill Valley resident) has been honored for its work on the Columbus Savings and Loan Assn. Building in San Francisco.

Rex Whitaker Allen of Mill Valley, principal in Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates, San Francisco., can take two bows—one for his addition to the Mercy Nursing Home and Chapel in Sacramento, and another for being named a national vice president of the American Institute of Architects.

HENRY (BABE) GHILOTTI of San Rafael, who sold out his interest in Shamrock Materials Co. a while back, has joined with Sausalito engineering contractor Elmo V. Maggiora to form the new firm Maggiora and Ghilotti, Inc. They will continue temporarily at 509 Spring Street until a new office is chosen.

MORE THAN 1,500 real estate men will converge on Los Angeles Thursday, Friday and Saturday for committee meetings and a directors' meeting of the California Real Estate Assn.

Members of the Marin County Real Estate Board who will attend are: Joe H. Stewart, president; Hugh Marchant, vice president; Blanche Redmond, treasurer; executive manager Daniel F. Deedy, and past presidents Paul E. Crowley and Edward P. Ward.

TWO MARIN MEN have received promotions at Wells Fargo Bank. Donald C. Smith of Tiburon has been advanced from loan officer to assistant manager at the Mill Valley office, replacing John P. McNamara who has moved to another assignment. Derrell C. Ireton of Novato was moved up from assistant trust officer to trust officer in charge of stock transfers at the head office.

Smith joined Wells Fargo in 1960 and was assigned as loan officer last October. Ireton came to the bank in 1958 and has been in the trust division the entire time. He was made assistant trust officer two years ago.

THE THREE CHAPMANS of Chapman's Shoes in San Rafael and Novato—Irving, Irving Jr. and Richard—will be taking turns through Wednesday this week greeting Marin doctors at the Buster Brown shoe booth in the American Medical Convention at Brooks Hall, San Francisco.

Chapman's Shoes is the Marin representative for Buster Brown. Dr. S. J. Wikler, designer of the shoe will be at the booth every day.

DENNIS W. CUYLER of Marin Mortgage Co., San Rafael has been made a partner and senior loan officer in the firm. Newly associated with Marin Mortgage is Warren Vincent of Kentfield.

CARROLL WALKER of San Rafael will attend the annual meeting of the Million Dollar Round Table beginning next Thursday in Hollywood, Fla. He is with Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Two West Coast Firms Proposing Stocks Merger

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stockholders of Financial Corp of America Corp. will be asked to vote next July 24 on a merger proposal announced Thursday.

The proposal is that stockholders of Financial will receive one share of General America $20 par cumulative preferred stock for each common share of Financial, directors explained.

They could convert each preferred share of General America into 4-35ths of a share of common.

General America, an insurance holding company based in Seattle, Wash., listed assets of $333 million last Dec. 31. Financial Corp., a Los Angeles firm whose main subsidiary is Security Title Insurance Co., listed assets of $29 million on the same date.

Wall Street's Old Symbol Updated

The ticker, called the "900," is designed to keep track of up to 10 million shares a day. It changes speed automatically to keep pace with trading.

Alitalia Gains

SAN FRANCISCO—Alitalia Airlines has shown a steady net profit for the past five years in a row, it has been announced. The 1963 fiscal year showed a profit of $1,781,602.

Permanente Will Change Its Name

OAKLAND — Permanente Cement Co. has declared regular quarterly dividends on its common and convertible preferred stocks and announced that the company will change its name to Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp.

The announcements were made by Peter S. Hass, president, following the annual meeting of share holders and a meeting of the board of directors.

The dividend on the common stock is 17½ cents per share, and the dividend on the convertible preferred stock is 62½ cents per share. Both are payable July 31 to share owners of record July 17, 1962.

Hawaiian Firm Hikes Dividend

HONOLULU—The directors of Castle and Cooke, Inc., have declared a quarterly cash dividend of 35 cents per share for the first period of the 1964-65 year increasing the quarterly rate over the 30 cents per share prevailing for the past two fiscal years.

The dividend is payable July 17 to stockholders of record June 30.

In the 1963-64 fiscal year Castle and Cooke paid a regular dividend of $1.20 plus a year-end extra of 30 cents per share. The new regular rate would total $1.40 per share.

Contract Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today awarded a $3,125,000 contract to Alcan Pacific Co., Sacramento, Calif. to build 200 military family housing units at Mare Island Naval Shipyard, Vallejo. The award was reported by Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.)

Health Insurance Costs Keep Rising

CHICAGO (UPI) — The keeper of today's family budget may grumble as he writes out larger and larger checks for insurance coverage — but nevertheless, he continues to write them.

And he in joined by more and more people in a security-conscious United States every day.

The over-all cost of health insurance soared 68 per cent in the five years between 1957 and 1962, according to figures compiled by the Health Insurance Institute. The total amount of premiums paid for health insurance jumped from $5,508,000 in 1957 to $9,269,000 in 1962.

The institute maintains the cost increase isn't quite as severe as it appears, considering the increased number of individuals who are sharing the bill. During that five-year period, insurance companies added 16.5 per cent more policy holders to their hospital protection section alone.

A spokesman for the American Hospital Association said it is impossible to figure exactly how much the average hospital insurance rate has gone up over any particular period "because the level of benefits have changed so drastically and also because of the various types of packages offered." Blue Cross alone offers more than 70 different programs.

How much your insurance costs may also depend on where you are. During the last three years in Allentown, Pa., the rate for the Blue Cross family certificate (the most popular plan) rose 3.5 per cent from $8.55 per month to $8.85. But over the same period, costs in Birmingham, Ala., went up 43 per cent from $6.50 to $9.30.

The rate in Phoenix, Ariz., went from $7.14 a month late in 1962 to $9.46. Columbus, Ohio, saw its $7.10 rate go up around the same time to $7.55. In Pittsburgh, Pa., the old rate of $10.10 was hiked in June, 1962 to $12.15.

According to the insurance companies, their rates go up because hospital costs are going up — from 6 to 7 per cent annually.

The hospital association reports that daily hospital costs per patient rose from $19.95 in 1953 to $36.83 in 1963. Based on these figures, the cost per patient day has increased 7.2 per cent each year.

The amount of health insurance benefits paid out by insuring organizations reflects this upward trend. The amount climbed to a record $7.1 billion in 1962, a gain of 240 per cent over the amount of benefits paid in 1952. In the five-year period between 1957 and 1962, these payments rose 67 per cent from $4,247,000,000 to $7,077,000,000.

The prime reason for the heightened hospital costs, industry sources say is the steady rise of wages received by hospital personnel.

The Health Insurance Institute said that in 1962 wages comprised 67 per cent of the hospital's operating costs. Between 1952 and 1962, the average payroll expense for each employee rose 56 per cent, the institute said.

Since the end of World War II, the institute reports, hospital labor costs have increased 333 per cent, while non-labor costs have risen only about 200 per cent.

Even science isn't helping to make things cheaper. At the turn of the century, the average stay lasted about 30 days. Now it is 7.6 days. Facilities are not always filled to capacity and the hospital must raise prices to come out on top.

The complexities of modern hospital care also mean more specialized equipment and specially trained staff members. Surgery is becoming more complex.

Research and development are more extensive — and expensive.

The different methods employed by insurance companies to keep up with increasing hospital bills are as numerous as the companies themselves.

Blue Cross plans are required by law to set up reserves, ½ cent to 2 cents on the dollar of income. Under the plan, benefits are paid out of the reserves for a specified period of time and then rates are increased in order to replenish the reserves.

The rates are then held at that point for two to four years while costs continue to mount. When they hit the break-even point, the reserves are drawn upon. Blue Cross predicts another increase in two or three years and sees no end to the rising scale of hospital costs.

Still, more people are paying more for insurance. According to Blue Cross, only 10 per cent of the U.S. population had some form of health insurance protection in 1940. Fifty-three per cent had insurance in 1950 and 76 per cent in 1962.

HE 'SEES' BIG TREE

Nicky Stone, 10. of Hayward, studies the rough texture of redwood bark with one hand, while reading Braille name plate with his other hand, at unique Enchanted Hills Camp north of Napa. Nicky and 32 other blind younsters are attending the camp, getting special lessons to help them become independent in a sometimes hostile world.

Highest Court Revokes Ban On Passports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court on the final day of the term today struck down as unconstitutional a section of the 1950 internal security act which denied U.S. passports to American Communist party members.

The vote was 6 to 3 with justice Arthur J. Goldberg delivering the majority opinion. Under the law, the government was empowered to withhold passports and thus prevent U.S. Communist party members from travelling outside the western hemisphere.

In other actions today, the court:

1—Ruled 5 to 4 that confessions may not be used in state trials if they are given to the police while a suspect has been denied consultation with his attorney. The ruling reversed the murder conviction of Danny Escobedo, a Chicagoan sentenced to 20 years in prison for the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law in 1960.

2—Struck down by a 5-4 vote the long-time practice in New York courts of allowing a jury to decide whether a defendant's confession was voluntary. The majority opinion said the jury could rule on such a question only if the trial judge or another judge or jury had determined that the confession was given without coercion.

The dissent in the passport case was by justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White.

Kentfield Burglars Gain $1,500 Loot

Burglary of items worth about $1,500 from a home was reported today by Marin County sheriff's officers.

Stephen C. Petrusich, 16 Vista Drive, told deputies his home was entered between last Thursday, when he and his wife left for Reno, Nev., and their return yesterday.

He said a television set, radio, jewelry, bedding and clothes totaling a value of between $1,000 and $1,500 were missing. No sign of forced entry was evident, officers said.

Defendant Changes Plea In Theft Case

Dennis L. Fredericks, 19, of 20 Green Way, San Rafael, changed his plea to guilty to a grand theft charge in Marin Superior Court today and judgment was scheduled for 10:30 a.m. July 13.

He is accused of taking about $400 worth of mechanics' tools from John Kean, 102 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, on May 11.

Gutted Norwegian Ship May Be Stripped Of Loot

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The fire-gutted ship Sandanger, hard aground and now enmeshed in three salvage claim suits, may be stripped of her treasure and scuttled at sea.

The Norwegian freighter and her one-million-dollar cargo of silver, copper and aluminum was beached after a pre-dawn flash-fire a month ago when she was steaming 380 miles south of here, bound for France.

She was towed to the Silver Strand beach while still burning.

Navy firemen helped fight the blaze, and the government has removed $260,000 in silver to cover fire-fighting costs.

Nearly all the $100,000 aluminum cargo has been removed. Three salvage claim suits have been filed by firms that towed the vessel and those that helped fight the fire.

Salvage master William Miller said he will remove the $600,000 copper cargo. Then, he said, he may refloat the vessel, tow her out to sea and scuttle her.

Nine persons, including the captain, perished in the fire. Forty-five crewmen were rescued at sea.

A $75,000 suit has been filed by the family of Miss Joyce Wilson, 22, who remains unaccounted for. She is believed to have leaped through a porthole during the blaze.

Testimony from survivors revealed only that the fire apparently started near or in the passenger quarters amidships.

Volcano Erupting Near Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An active volcano about 35 miles northeast of Anchorage in the Chugach Range was reported today by a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service official who had flown over the area.

The crater was smoking and shooting up quite an amount of volcanic ash, said Theron Smith, aircraft supervisor for the service.

"It's the first active volcano I've ever heard of in the Chugach Range," he said.

Areas of volcanic activity in Alaska have been to the west and southwest of Anchorage, chiefly on the Katmai Peninsula.

West Point Cadet Is Home For Vacation

Cadet Sgt. William C. Bradley Jr., son of the assistant coroner of Marin County, has returned to San Anselmo for a 30-day vacation from West Point.

He returns July 20 for his senior year. The parents reside at 38 Ridge Road, San Anselmo.

The National Park Service has camping facilities in 76 parks.

Doctors Fearful Of Annual Check

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The average physician is as fearful as anybody else when it comes to getting a physical examination, say doctors attending the American Medical Association convention.

"Getting a doctor to a physical examination is harder than breaking a wrestler's arm," said Dr. Harvey Widroe of Berkeley, Calif.

The thousands of doctors attending the weeklong convention are urged to take extensive physical checkups by a special clinic, without charge. In past years, such clinics have done a poor business.

Woman Denies Guilt In Illegal Surgery Case

Dorothy Frances Leet, 30-year-old cocktail waitress from Mill Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to a charge of conspiracy to commit an abortion. Trial was scheduled for Sept. 1.

To be tried jointly with Mrs. Leet, of 108 Circle Drive, is Theodore Stephen Caruso, 46, of El Sobrante. Caruso is also charged with the conspiracy in an alleged April 5 abortion of a San Anselmo woman, and performing the abortion, itself.

New-Hatched Tiburon May Face Neighborly Boundary Problems

While Tiburon goes through the time-consuming legalities of forming a new city, its neighbor Belvedere is politely but hopefully waiting on the sidelines, already wanting to change the boundaries of the city-to-be.

At issue is the boundary along the Boardwalk and Beach Road. The Boardwalk is a line-up of stores and offices on land owned by Belvedere Land Co. The joint boundary line of the two cities cuts diagonally through the boardwalk operations, leaving what was meant as an integrated shopping-business area under the jurisdiction of two separate cities.

Councilmen of Belvedere would like to see the area under the name of Belvedere and in years previous had been eyeing at least that area for annexation. But with the incorporation of Tiburon, Belvedere feels it has lost what rightfully belonged to it.

"It seems to me it's in the best interests of everybody to have this straightened out," says Belvedere Mayor Merritt K. Ruddock.

"I'm sure they are interested in discussion . . . Whether we are or not, I don't know; it depends on the council," says Gordon W. Strawbridge, Tiburon councilman now called "chairman" of the council until it takes the oath of office and elects a mayor tomorrow night.

"Tiburon has so many things that they need to consider at the moment," says Ruddock. "I assume they'll let us know when they're ready to talk."

The Belvedere councilmen also want to talk about Beach Road, the most obvious entrance to Belvedere, which now will be in Tiburon. Belvedere would like control.

The boundary line in question cuts diagonally through the Boardwalk shopping center, leaving a portion of the entrance drive to the Standard Oil Station in Tiburon, a part in Belvedere. A corner of the Corinthian Pharmacy is in Tiburon, but most of it is in Belvedere. A front corner of Dixson's Distinctive Fashions is in Tiburon; the major portion of the store is in Belvedere.

Details on where the boundary runs come from the land owner, Belvedere Land Co., whose president David Allen says he would prefer his land to be in Belvedere.

The question of the bisected stores brings up problems which cause councilmen to shake their heads: who would be responsible for fighting the fire in the Tiburon side of the store, or policing the Belvedere side, or paving the parking area? To whom would the assessed valuation of a "split" operation be attributed?

Merchants in the affected stores have a slick business possibility. For sales tax purposes, the location of the cash register determines which city gets the money. If one city were to prove not amenable to what merchants wanted, there might be a quick switch in register locations.

Saddle Journeys On The Up Swing

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Traveling with your horse this summer? Then you might need some advice on where to stay. And help seems to be on the way. The Chamber of Commerce here received a letter asking for information on places in the area that lodge horses. G. P. Monard, a Colorado resident who requested the information, said he was compiling a book, "Travel Guide for Horses," to aid those traveling with their steeds.

New Mexico Is Dotted With Ghostly Villages

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Santa Fe County has 33 ghost towns and 29 ghost post offices according to a ghost town map of New Mexico just published by the State Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources.

There are three kinds of ghost towns in New Mexico. First, those which have completely disappeared. Second, those which have buildings or foundations remaining. Third, those which are occupied but have a portion of the historical buildings in a state of emptiness or ruin.

Printer Finds It Really Good Life

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An 85-year-old woman doesn't believe in retirement.

Mrs. C. M. Waddey works a 40-hour week as owner of a printing shop and has no desire to retire.

Mention retirement, and she shakes her head.

"I want to work all my life," she says.

British Factory Sells More Buses To Castro

LONDON (UPI) — The British motor firm of Leylands today signed a contract to sell 500 more buses to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The deal brings the number of buses sold by the company to Cuba to 950 — worth about 25.2 million dollars.

Phils' Jim Bunning Defies 'Jinx' In No-Hitter

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Met fans thought they'd seen it all — Marvelous Marv Throneberry, a 32-inning doubleheader, you name it — until a slim sidewinder from Southgate, Ky., came along and treated the New Breed to the sweetest sight of all — perfection.

And, as Philadelphia's Jim Bunning set down Met after Met in the first flawless pitching performance in modern National League history — a 6-0, no-hit, no-base runner masterpiece in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader — the Shea Stadium faithful were caught up in the wonder of it all.

They forgot to root for the home team.

The fans were with Bunning all the way and the 32-year-old righthander, an N.L. newcomer after nine years with Detroit, didn't let them down. Pinpointing an assortment of curve balls and sliders, he retired each of the 27 batters he faced, a feat last accomplished by Don Larsen of the New York Yankees in a 1956 World Series game.

Charlie Robertson pitched a regular season perfect game for the Chicago White Sox in 1922. Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix hurled 12 perfect innings against Milwaukee in 1959 but lost the game 1-0 on a 13th inning hit. A National League pitcher hadn't won a perfect game since 1890.

Bunning also became the first to win no-hitters in each league, having blanked Boston in 1958 for the Tigers.

The Mets, not to be denied entirely, found a place in the record book, too. Their three hits in the nightcap, won by the Phils 8-2, tied the low hit total for a doubleheader.

While Bunning was spinning the gem for the league-leading Phillies, the rest of the league went about its business with surprising, though less spectacular results.

Houston climbed into seventh place and sent Milwaukee reeling to ninth with 5-2 and 5-4 victories over the Braves. Chicago swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh 2-1 and 7-2. Los Angeles split with Cincinnati, winning 4-2 and losing 2-1. San Franciso trimmed St. Louis 7-3 in a single game.

The New York Yankees beat the White Sox 2-0 and 2-1 in 17 innings, taking the American League lead from Baltimore, 9-6 victim of Boston. Washington won a pair from Kansas City 13-2 and 5-2, Detroit beat Minnesota 4-2 and Los Angeles down Cleveland 4-1.

Bunning was as much aware of the imminent no-hitter as the Father's Day crowd of 32,026 which included his wife Mary and 12-year-old daughter Barbara, the oldest of seven children.

"You always start to think about it after the fifth inning," he said after it was over. "I don't believe in jinxes."

"He talked about it on the bench," said batterymate Gus Triandos. "I'd never seen him so gabby. He must have felt something coming on."

So did Mrs. Bunning. "I was so nervous," she said, "that I lost my sunglasses twice."

Bunning — and everyone else — credited Phils' second baseman Tony Taylor with the game's fielding gem. Taylor dove to stop Jesse Gonder's fifth inning bid in the hole and threw Gonder out from a kneeling position.

Otherwise, it was all Bunning. He doubled home a pair of runs. He struck out 10 and went to three balls on only two batters. Philadelphia outfielders made four putouts.

The crowd roared with every delivery as he got Charlie Smith leading off the ninth, on a foul pop-up. He fanned pinch hitter George Altman, went to a 2-2 count on pinch swinger John Stephenson and struck him out on a curve ball.

Elsewhere, Houston's Rusty Staub went on a four-hit, two-homer spree against Warren Spahn and two successors in the opener with Milwaukee. Second game homers by winning pitcher Ken Johnson and Joe Gaines helped the Colts sweep the four-game set and hand the Braves their sixth straight setback.

Larry Jackson pitched a three-hitter, retiring the last 22 Pirates in order, and drove in both Chicago runs in the opener. Lew Burdette allowed five hits through seven innings in the second game before yielding to Lindy McDaniel.

Sandy Koufax became the second N.L. pitcher to win 10 games, checking Cincinnati in the first game with the help of Frank Howard, who drove in two runs with a single and his 15th homer. Vada Pinson doubled and Deron Johnson homered in the first inning of the nightcap for the Reds' margin.

FERRARIS SWEEP LE MANS

LE MANS, France (AP) — Ferraris won the famed 24-hour Le Mans auto classic yesterday, but the Ford team which made an early challenge was confident today it was gaining on the persistently winning Italians.

Ferrari protoypes finished 1-2-3 with a Ford-powered Cobra in fourth place at the finish of the race marred by the death of three spectators who were killed by flying debris by a collision from which the drivers escaped injury. It was a far cry from the accident that killed 79 spectators in 1955.

The winning Ferrari, driven by Jean Guichet of France and Nino Vaccarell of Italy, set a speed record of an average 121.5 miles per hour and a distance record of 2,911 miles. The previous records of 117.84 m.p.h. and 2,828 were set last year by another Ferrari.

The Ford factory challenge dissolved quickly with mechanical ills. Ford's colors passed then to Carroll Shelby of Venice, Calif., builder of the two Cobra works entries with Ford engines and two similar cars entered privately.

One of Shelby's cars, driven by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Bob Bondurant, of Los Angeles, finished fourth over-all and first in the grand touring category.

Shelby was happy with his team's performance and the Ford people were pleased to have done so well in their first at Le Mans.

GETTING SETTLED

"We're getting settled down now after three defeats in Europe," Shelby said. "We will be in even better shape for the Reims 12-hour race July 4-5. There are five more races this season and I hope to make them all."

Two Fords went out with broken gear selector forks in their Italian made transmissions.

"You can assume we are working on our own transmissions," said a Ford representative with a smile. "They knew we were here," said another Ford spokesman. "We didn't expect to win. We only hoped to finish."

A Ford driven by Richie Ginther of Granada Hills, Calif., and Masten Gregory of Kansas City took an early lead before forced out by transmission trouble on the 64th lap.

The Ford driven by Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, also was in contention before forced out by persistent gear box trouble near dawn.

Before this happened Hill and McLaren had climbed from 44th to fourth place and set a lap record of more than 131 m.p.h.

Ralston Is Upset At Wimbledon

WIMBLETON, England (AP) — American Davis Cup star Chuck McKinley easily won his opening round match in the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament today, but his Cup teammate, Dennis Ralston, went down to defeat.

McKinley, the defending champion from San Antonio, Tex., coasted to a 6-2, 6-1, 6-3 victory over Terry Ryan of South Africa, on the center court.

Ralston, seeded fifth, dropped a long match to Tony Pickard of Britain, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 9-7, and became the first seeded player to lose.

Pickard is only ranked fifth in England and has occasionally represented Britain in the Davis Cup, but only in doubles.

McKinley and Ralston teamed to win the Cup from Australia last December.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., defeated Stanley Matthews, Jr., of Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Cliff Richey, Dallas, defeated Andrew Licis, who is stateless, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3.

Hugh Stewart, South Pasadena, Calif., defeated Ray Senkowski of Detroit, 6-4, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2.

Besides Senkowski, two other Americans went down in the first round.

Roy Emerson of Australia, the top seed, trimmed Don Dell of Bethseda, Md., 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Tomas Lejus of Russia, who went to the finals of the Queen's Club tournament last week, defeated Allan Fox of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

McKinley survived a mild rhubarb over a magazine article he authorized, before he took the court and won. There had been talk he might be barred because of a rule against players writing stories about the tournament, but officials let him play.

Vamonos Surprise Regatta Winner

The upset of the day in yesterday's Encinal Yacht Club's regatta occurred in Cruising Club "B" division with Bill Stewart's Vamonos of St. Francis Y. C. romping home the winner by a near nine-minute margin, corrected time, over second placer Amorita, Henry Grandin's San Francisco Y.C.'s entry.

It was Vamonos' first win in bay races and was accomplished by some astute sailing by Stewart. On the second thrash to windward out to Crissey Buoy, he chose to beat up the city front whereas the other boats to the fore headed for Angel Island, and that was an unwise choice.

In Cruising Club "A," Santana again had company in a surprise starter, Jim Wilhite's Athene. It was a good tight race with Athene moving out into an early lead. Yet, once in the groove, Santana hung tough and finished but three minutes behind her larger rival on elapsed time.

On corrected time, it was Santana by nearly four minutes. Hank Easom was forced to scratch his eight-meter Yucca from the race due to a recurrence of his back problems.

It was a near perfect day for the regatta, good winds and smooth seas; quite the opposite of conditions faced by the class boats on Saturday. That was a day of 25 knot winds and heavy seas and casualties were heavy as at least five boats were dismasted.

Bill Trask of the host club piloted his Farallone Clipper sloop Hoyden II to an easy victory over 10 opponents in Class C with Javelin second place.

Numse copped Class D honors while That's Why took the runner-up spot.

In Performance Handicap events, here are the winners: Division 9-I, Ripple; Division 10-J, Jonmar; Division 11-K, Genii; Division 14-L, Atlanta; Division 15-M, Baum's Away.

Earl Brown Mill Valley Golf Champ

The finals in the Championship Flight was 36 holes and the finals in the six other flights were 18 holes. Medalist for the tourney was Ed Johnson with a 68 during a qualifying round.

San Rafael Yacht Off For Tahiti

O'Rion, the yacht owned and skippered by J. C. Tinkler of San Rafael, and Mistral, the largest boat in the seven-boat entry list, were the first out of the gates in the Tahiti Race which started Saturday from Los Angeles.

Because of light winds, the start of the race was delayed for one-half hour and didn't get going until 12:30 p.m.

MARIN YOUTH WINS PACIFIC TENNIS TITLE

Andy Moffat, 11-year-old Mill Valley youngster, won the boys 12 singles title Saturday in the week-long 75th annual Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships at the Berkeley Tennis Club.

With a strong finish, Andy defeated Chris Couture of Modesto, 7-5 and 6-1.

There were nine other Marin netters among the 286 entrants but they were unable to gain berths in the final round.

Knalfec Ends Grid Career

Gary Knalfec, a 10-year veteran of the National Football League who played offensive tight end for the San Francisco 49ers, has retired, according to head coach Jack Christiansen.

Knafelc, who lives at Green Bay, Wis., was a college star at Colorado. He was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals and then played with the world champion Green Bay Packers in 1961-62.

The veteran decided to retire last year, but joined the 49ers when their regular right end, Monty Stickles, was sidelined with a knee injury.

He is the third 49er from last year's squad to announce retirement. Tackle Leo Nomellini and back Joe Perry previously said they would retire.

Bear Crew Shouts: Bring On Harvard

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Bring on Harvard" chanted Jim Lemmon's jubliant California varsity crew today as they finished celebrating their decisive victory in the Intercollegiate Rowing Championships.

Now it was back to work for Lemmon's strapping unbeaten crew, who will work out on Cornell's Cayuga Lake before traveling to New York for the Olympic trials at Orchard Beach Lagoon July 8-11.

Second seeded in the two-day 2,000-meter championships on Ondaga Lake, the Golden Bears swept confidently to victory by two lengths over Washington's dark horse Huskies Saturday.

Cornell, defending champion and the strong favorite, was third by about another half-length.

California, rowing 39 strokes a minute through the body of the race, sprinted into the lead at about 450-meter mark and opened water the rest of the way. The Bears went to a count of 40-41 at the finish. They made their first appearance in Eastern waters, plan to stay East for the Olympic trials and a possible trip to Tokyo.

SEEKS PERMISSION

"I still don't have permission from the athletic director. Maybe I better call him" Lemmon said with a glint in his eye.

Washington's crew also plans to stay in the East and compete in the Olympic trials.

But Stork Sanford, whose Cornell crew had hoped to take its 22nd IRA crown was undecided. "We'll wait and see," he said.

Legion Team Divides Pair

American Legion Wilkins Post team of San Rafael split a pair of weekend games with Fairfield, winning 12-4 Saturday at Albert Field in San Rafael, then losing 9-5 on the road yesterday.

San Rafael pitcher Bill Lee held the visitors to three hits and struck out 11 while his teammates were banging eight hits in Saturday's triumph. Dave Beswick with a double and single and Bill Brody with a triple and single, led the Wilkins batters.

In yesterday's game, Bill DiGrazia had a home run, Brody came through again with a double and a single, and Beswick also had a double for San Rafael.

Giants, Reds Open Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Bolin will be looking for his second victory of the season tonight when tees off for the San Francisco Giants against Cincinnati.

Bolin (1-2) will face John Tsitouris (3-4) in the opening game of a three-game series here.

The Giants beat St. Louis 7-3 yesterday, gaining a 2-2 split for their series with the Cards. They are still in second place, trailing the National League leading Philadelphia Phils by two full games.

The Redlegs are in third and trail San Francisco by 2½ games. So it's obvious they will be hungry.

Rookie Hal Lanier, recalled from Tacoma only recently, was the hitting hero for the Giants yesterday. He smashed four hits and drove in three runs.

Lanier has 8 hits in 17 trips to the plate for a blistering .471 average.

Paced by Lanier, the Giants bombed the Cards for 13 hits. Orlando Cepeda cracked three doubles and batted in a run and Jose Pagan went three for three and drove in a run.

Kuenn reached second on the error and scored on Lanier's single to center. Lanier came home on Cepeda's double after Jesus Alou had lined out and Mays walked.

The Giant two-run lead was never topped but Skinner partially atoned for his bobble of Kuenn's fly when he drove a double to the left-center field wall scoring Flood and Brock to knot the score 2-2 in the bottom of the first.

Cepeda doubled for the second time after two were out in the third. Davenport walked and Del Crandell singled scoring Cepeda. Davenport moved to third on Crandell's hit and scored the winning run on Jose Pagan's single to left.

The Giants chalked their two final runs in the ninth on Lanier's first major league home run and Willie Mays 22nd homer of the season.

Two Marin Men Win Net Titles

Two Marin County men won championships yesterday in the Portola Valley tennis tournament.

Henry Jungle of Hamilton Air Force Base won the men's singles title and Bob Hill of Mill Valley copped the championship in singles for men aged 45 and older.

Venturi—The Ben Hogan Of The Future?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The white cap, stiff-legged walk and shots that fly at the pins as if fired from a machine — once the trade marks of the great Ben Hogan — may again become a source of fear in big-time golf.

During the next decade, the Golden Boy who turned to tarnish should be a formidable challenger for the No. 1 position in the game.

He won the 64th Open impressively.

While the sport's finest players folded under the last day pressure and oven heat, the lean Californian took the big course apart Saturday with finishing rounds of 66 and 70.

Venturi is cut from the Hogan bolt of cloth, although in physical appearance he is taller and leaner, and in temperament less grim and more relaxed.

But he gives a definite impression of Hogan as he strides up the fairways with a stiff, jerky walk — the white-billed cap pulled low over his eyes — and hits his shots with methodical precision like a tailor sewing a shroud for his adversaries.

His swing is one of the best golf has seen. He has power off the tee. His iron play is almost faultless and, like any champion, he is better than an adequate putter. He is a stylist of the old school, in contrast to the modern "home run hitters."

Venturi's payoff for his dramatic triumph comeback was $17,000. He should realize another $100,000 - plus in other benefits that go with the U.S. Open championship.

Tommy Jacobs, leader after three rounds, wilted to a 76 on the final 18 and was four shots behind Venturi at 282. He won $8,500.

First round leader Arnold Palmer faded badly down the stretch with rounds of 75-74 to finish in a tie with Gay Brewer Jr. for fifth place at 286.

Other leading scorers:

Bill Collins, 287 ($3,000); Dow Finsterwald, 288 ($2,500); Johnny Pott and Bob Rosburg 289 ($1,950 each); George Bayer, Gene Littler and Don January, 291 ($1,333 each).

Tony Lema of San Leandro, winner of the two straight tournaments prior to the National Open, finished at 293. Pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus wound up in a tie at 295.

Marin Runners In Easy Novato Win

Darryl Beardall led Marin Athletic Club runners to a resounding victory in the first Western Weekend Cross Country Run through the streets of Novato Saturday.

Beardall, of Santa Rosa, toured the 6.65-mile course in 38 minutes and 17.2 seconds to win first place honors out of a starting field of 104. Out of that huge field, 78 finished the race.

Five Marin A.C. runners were among the first nine competitors to finish the sun, so Marin easily won the team trophy with a total of 26 points. With the inverted scoring used in cross country events, Marin was far out in front of second place San Francisco Track Club with 101 points and third place Golden Gate Track Club with 102 points.

Then came Sunnyvale High School with 126 and the Redwood City Striders with 201 points.

Marin A.C. runners to follow Beardall were Sigurd Hope, third; William Ferlatte, fourth; Keith Krieger, fifth, and Carl Jensen, ninth.

The last man to cross the finish line, Dennis Bianco of the Redwood City Striders, took 1 hour, 5 minutes and 12 seconds to complete the course.

Beating that time and one other was Donna Thurlby of the Laurel Track Club of San Francisco, the only girl entered in the race, with a time of 58:42.7.

As far as the runners were concerned, everything was going fine until they reached the steep hill at Canyon Ridge at about the midway point in the race. The hill proved the better of a few runners who dropped out.

The course, starting from the main Novato firehouse, led the runners through the main part of the city, up Canyon Ridge, across to Indian Valley Road and back to the firehouse.

The event was sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce as part of the Western Weekend activities and is expected to become an annual part of the celebration.

Complete results, including all the finishers:

B-H Team Stops Tiburon Sox On One-Hitter

Behind the one-hit pitching of Jerry DeRosa, the Billings-Hutchison Builders of San Rafael remained tied for the top spot in the Marin County Semi-Pro Baseball League with a 6-0 win over the Tiburon Sox yesterday at San Rafael's Albert Field.

Lone hit off DeRosa, who had to leave the game in the seventh inning because of the heat, was a drag bunt by Tiburon centerfielder Chip Collins in the top of the fourth inning.

Aussie Rod Laver Wins Top Money In Pro Tennis

MONTEREY (AP) — Australian Rod Laver collected top money yesterday in the Monterey Professional Tennis Tournament with a 10-8, 6-1 victory over Alex Olmedo of Peru.

In doubles play, Laver teamed with Butch Buchholz of the United States to beat fellow Australians Ken Rosewall and Lou Hoad 6-3, 13-15, 6-4.

Rosewall defeated Andres Gimeno of Spain in straight sets for the singles third place.

Other money winners included Rosewall $1,000, Gimeno $650, Buchholz $550, Hoad $500, Luis Ayala of Chile $450, and Pancho Gonzales of the United States $400.

M & M Boys Heroes For Mill Valley

The M&M boys of Mill Valley, Fred Mack and Jess Munyon, led the Merchants to their opening game win in the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League yesterday, 5-1 over the San Anselmo Merchants.

Munyon had a great day, rapping a double and three singles in five trips to the plate, and Mack hit a 433-foot home run which was measured by Bob Selna, Mill Valley manager, at Memorial Park in San Anselmo.

Keith Fraser, who needed help in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and no outs, was credited with the victory. Getting the "save" was Dave Perlis, who did a great relief job.

DeMaestri's In 9-8 Win Over Novato Club

DeMaestri's Fairfax Garage baseballers watched their nine-run lead dwindle to only one run yesterday as they nipped the Novak Builders of Novato, 9-8 to remain tied for the lead in the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League.

After the Fairfax team jumped off to a 9-0 lead, the Builders started closing the gap, only to fall one run short. Gary Johnson, the Fairfax winning hurler, picked up his second straight league triumph. The game was played on the Novato High School diamond.

Quote the Raven, a Little More

And, so we return to the Land of straight-back enchantment, if for no other reason than to determine whether it was a good idea to dump all that tea in Boston Harbor. Trying to fathom the logic of custom decreeing all commerce cease activities promptly at 1:00 P.M. Saturdays, while Parliament wrestles with measures calculated to boost the economy, can move one to applaude the tea dumpers.

A drastic extreme is the nauseating sight of mangy beatle-proto types, who travel in packs in apparent need for ego-bolstering companionship. These hopelessly retarded teenagers should make us properly grateful for our own, who may sometimes present us with worrisome moments, but rarely turn our stomachs. I tell you, citizens, go abroad, and you, too, will return a dedicated flag waver—American, that is.

It was interesting, though mystifying, to see the huge ravens zealously protected by apparent royal order, strut arrogantly around the grounds of the Tower of London. The pigeons and other birds had doubtlessly discovered the wisdom of giving this unpretty beast of prey a side berth. Frankly, I didn't get too close, either. Ultimately, we were re-herded to the airport, where we frantically spent the few pounds, shillings, and pence we had left, at the duty free shops. These British don't miss too much, at that. You travelers with pre-war memories may recall the status-symbol mark of the sophisticated world traveler: luggage stickers. Now, of course, in this enlightened and dissipated age, stickers are passe'. A neatly packed carton of garishly-labeled duty free booze is the new accepted mark of the knowledgable traveler. Being three, we were entitled to three cartons. Being weak and already overloaded with baggage, we carried one.

In the interest of minimizing the sour grape content of this literary recital, I'll skip over the two-hour visit with customs at New York. And determined to exude sweetness and light, I'll skip over too, our short, but not short enough ride in a New York cab. The crudity and rudeness of this species cannot be accidental. It has to be cultivated.

We actually enjoyed a nostalgic two-day stopover in Detroit, where, as expected, I succeeded in getting lost every time on a straight express way. It wasn't easy, but I managed it. The family was properly impressed with the over-dressed California contingent in the rented Continental. (I'm loyal to you, Mr. Ford. I would have Thunderbirded, but our ten or eleven bags would have crowded us to three in two bucket seats—slightly impractical.) Old landmarks were gone, including the blackened stone City Hall where I peddled papers. But, the Saunder's Hot Fudge Sundae and Vernor's Ginger Ale were abundantly available, and all was well with the world.

The memories of our trip are already fading, in the day-to-day pre-occupation of peddling Fords. No, that's not right. You peddle papers; you sell Fords. Peddle-smeddle. We've got acres of new Fords, and Doug Cowan keeps looking at me suspiciously. I'm sure he's wondering where my marbles went when I ordered all these cars and trucks from the eager factory men, I keep reassuring him Ames Ford is equal to the task, and soon there'll be acres of space between the cars.

Doug keeps calling me the "world traveler", which in itself is not bad. Except he used to call me a cracker-jack automobile man. So, this traveler will swing around to still another oft-visited land, and borrow from our Land of enchantment—Hawaii. If you should pass by Francisco Boulevard this coming weekend, and spot our men arrayed in Lava-Lavas, swaying in time to an Hawaiian trio, complete with genuine Hula girl, rub your eyes, and come on in. We'll quote you a deal on a new Ford or used car that'll be music to your ears.

Car's Floor Mat Blamed For Blaze

A smouldering floor mat, carelessly thrown from a car on Highway 101, caused a seven-acre grass fire Saturday afternoon beside the California Park overpass south of San Rafael.

Flames burned to a point several hundred yards short of the Hutchinson quarry 65 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard before firemen had the blaze under control at 4:05 p.m. Four units from the Marin County Fire Department and two from Larkspur responded to the alarm at 3:27 p.m.

Firemen said someone had tossed a burning auto floor mat into dry grass near the overpass.

Boys Admit Candy Raid On Little League Stand

Two San Anselmo boys have been charged with breaking into the refreshment stand near the Little League diamond in San Anselmo's Memorial Park and taking dozens of candy bars, pack of gum and boxes of other goodies.

Juvenile citations were issued to the 13 and 14-year-old boys last night after they admitted removing the padlock on the building and stowing their loot in nearby bushes, Police Chief Raymond P. Buchignani said today.

Officer Michael Berney discovered the break-in at 10:10 p.m. yesterday and questioned the boys, who were walking on Sais Avenue away from the park, eating sunflower seeds. They admitted being in the park but denied having taken the food.

When questioned separately, their reports differed and one of the boys took police to the place where the boxes of sweets were hidden.

Both are scheduled to appear before the juvenile probation department Thursday and are in their parents' custody.

GOP Women To Hear Small School Leader

Mrs. Winifred Frederick, director of the California Small School Districts Assn. will speak on "A Referendum on the Unruh School Reorganization Act" at a meeting of the Tamalpais Federation of Republican Women at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Kent School in Kentfield.

Mrs. Frederick has said the referendum was started by persons who believed the act an improper and unconstitutional attempt to force reorganization of school districts.

Patricia A. Baird Recites Vows At Mission Ceremony

In a double-ring rite at Mission San Rafael Arcangel, Patricia Anne Baird became the bride of David LeBeck. The Rev. John McCarthy performed the June 13 ceremony.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert LeBeck of Corte Madera. He is the brother of Patricia, Ann and Steven LeBeck.

For her wedding, Patricia chose a floor-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta trimmed with Alencon lace and seed pearls. She was escorted to the altar by her father.

Maid of honor was Ann LeBeck and bridesmaids were Marie and Aileen Kennedy of Bakersfield and Pamela Preuss of Santa Barbara. The honor attendants were dressed alike in blue floor-length gowns.

The bridegroom's brother, Steven, was best man and ushers were Glenn Wentz and Stanley Chapman of San Anselmo and Alan Gizzi of San Rafael.

Patricia is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton S. Green of Arcadia and Mr. and Mrs. John Manka of Albuquerque. She attended Dominican Upper School and the University of California.

The grandson of Mrs. Mary LeBeck of Storm Lake, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Levant Pease of San Francisco, David was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin. He is employed by the Indian Valley Lumber Co.

The young couple went on a wedding trip to Carmel following a reception at the Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base. They will live in San Rafael.

Martha Claire Tobener Is Wed In St. Patrick's Church Rite

Martha Claire Tobener became the bride of James Brodie Smith Saturday in a nuptial mass at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur. The Rev. James Healy officiated. During the ceremony the blessing of Pope Paul VI was bestowed on the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edward Tobener of Corte Madera and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brodie Smith of Red Bluff.

Martha was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Holy Names and Portland University. She is the sister of Mrs. Louis Dallara and Ralph Tobener Jr. of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Joel Kiff of Corte Madera.

A recent graduate of Portland University, James is a lieutenant in the Air Force.

Following a reception at the Meadow Club, the young couple went on a wedding trip to Yosemite. Later in the summer they will go to Texas where he will be stationed.

MR. AND MRS. DE VERNE POTTER

Potter-Lowery Nuptials Held

Married recently in a double-ring ceremony at the Chapel of the Bells in Reno were Suzanne Lowery and DeVerne Potter. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mead of Novato and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Potter of Point Reyes Station.

With her aunt, Mrs. Glenda Smith as her honor attendant, Suzanne was given in marriage by her father. For the occasion she wore a pink afternoon dress.

Suzanne has two brothers, Timothy and Carl and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Ella Howard of Claysville, Pa., and Mr. Chester Lowery of Geneva, N.Y. She attended San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools.

DeVerne is the brother of Kenny and Morey Potter. He graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is now in the Army stationed at Limestone, Me. The young couple drove to his post after their wedding. Upon completion of one more year in the service, they will return to Point Reyes Station where DeVerne will be associated with his father in business.

Parties Given Mill Valleyan To Mark His 90th Birthday

Several parties are being given to honor the 90th birthday of Albert von der Werth Sr. of Mill Valley.

Saturday he was a guest of honor at a dinner party given by Mrs. L. M. Peterson of Mill Valley, and Sunday, his actual birthday, a picnic was planned for him by Mrs. Andrew Cassell at her home in Mill Valley with 15 guests, mostly relatives of Mr. von der Werth.

Tonight his two sons, Albert Jr. and Gordon, will take the von der Werths to dinner in Marin, and next week his stepdaughter, Mrs. Victor Lund, will have a dinner party for him at her Sea Cliff home in San Francisco.

Mr. von der Werth was born on June 21, 1874, in a small town near Dusseldorf, Germany, and came to this country with his parents when he was 6 years old to live in Brooklyn, and then the family lived in Portland, Ore., until they came to Mill Valley 25 years ago.

Mr. von der Werth was an importer of things from China for many years. Now he works with his sons in the von der Werth Construction Co. in Greenbrae.

Kenneth Schultz Claims Bride In Palo Alto Church Ceremony

The First Baptist Church in Palo Alto was the setting for the marriage Saturday afternoon of Kenneth Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley, and Mary Louise Abbott.

She was given in marriage by her father in the nuptial ceremony performed by the Rev. Lynn Hunwick. She wore a full length gown of white silk organza and lace with bell skirt and chapel train.

Gowned identically in full length gowns of floral print in shades of turquoise were her attendants, Sandra Galeppi, of Minden, Nev., maid of honor; and Vicki Connett of La Canada, Anne Herzberg of Palo Alto and Judy Gilpin of La Canada.

Best man was Frank Ker of Palo Alto, an Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity brother of Kenneth's. Escorting guests to their seats were Roger Bloom of Patterson, the bridegroom's cousin; Robert Abbott, the bride's brother, and Richard Hulett of Glendora.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Freemont Hills Country Club. The young couple then flew to the Hawaiian Islands for a two weeks' honeymoon, and on their return will live in Palo Alto, where Kenneth will do graduate work in nuclear engineering at Stanford. Both of the young people were graduated from Stanford this month.

Mary Louise is a graduate of Palo Alto High School. She spent last spring and summer on the Stanford-in-France campus.

Kenneth was graduated from Tamalpais High School. In his junior year he was a student on the Stanford-in-Germany campus.

Today is Monday, June 22, the 174th day of 1964 with 192 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1940, France fell to Nazi Fermany, which invaded Russia exactly one year later.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

All Bridge Players Need A Reliable Crystal Ball

What this country needs is a good five-cent crystal ball so that a bridge player can find out in advance which suit is going to break well for him.

In the meantime, ask the opponents. If you ask them the right way they may give you a truthful answer.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

West leads the ten of spades and you count seven fast tricks. You need two addition tricks for your contract.

NEEDS TRICK

The king of diamonds is one. You simply must assume that West has the ace since otherwise you will not make this hand. But you still need one other trick.

You can develop a long club if each opponent has three clubs. Or you can develop a long diamond if each opponent has three diamonds. You have to develop the right suit quickly, since otherwise the opponents will get their five tricks before you get nine.

You're not likely to find out much from playing the diamonds, but you may get an answer if you let the opponents signal to each other in clubs.

SIGNAL COUNT

Win the first trick with the king of spades and lead the king of clubs. In this case West may begin a high-low by playing the eight; and this will tell you that the clubs will not break favorably.

Having discovered what you want to know, you switch to a low diamond and play low from the dummy. When a spade comes back, you win with the ace and lead your other diamond.

Now West cannot shut out dummy's diamonds. You can get to dummy with the queen of spades to cash the king of diamonds and then run the rest of dummy's long suit.

OPPONENTS FAIL

What if the opponents fail to signal when you lead the clubs? Too bad. There's quite a good chance that they will signal.

If the lowest missiong club appears, keep on with the clubs; if it fails to appear, switch to diamonds.

What if neither suit breaks 3-3? You may not be able to buy a crystal ball, but you can buy a crying towel almost anywhere.

QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A K J
♡ A K 5 3
♣ A K 6 2

What do you say?

Answer: Most experts would bid one club.

The opening bid of 2 NT should guarantee a stopper in each suit. Still, some fine players would take a chance on bidding 2 NT to describe the general strength of the hand.

ORDINANCE NO. 1362

AN ORDINANCE RESTRICTING THE PARKING OF VEHICLES ON PORTIONS OF TIBURON BOULEVARD, A STATE HIGHWAY, TO THIRTY MINUTES BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 8:00 A.M. AND 6:00 P.M.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS of the County of Marin, State of California, do ordain as follows:

SECTION I: That the southwesterly side of Tiburon Boulevard, State Highway Route 52, between 46 feet and 91 feet northwesterly of the intersection of the southwesterly line of Tiburon Boulevard and the northwesterly line of Juanita Lane, is hereby designated pursuant to Section 22506 of the Vehicle Code of the State of California, as restricted and limited to parking for intervals or periods not exceeding thirty minutes in duration between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 6:00 P.M. on each and every day, and it is hereby directed that the necessary parking signs be erected on said Tiburon Boulevard as required to direct traffic.

SECTION II: This ordinance shall cease to be operative six months after receipt by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin of written notice of withdrawal of approval of the State of California Department of Public Works.

SECTION III: This ordinance having heretofore been submitted to and approved in writing by the Department of Public Works of the State of California, shall go into effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance, the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; providing, however, that the parking limitation and restriction for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of the highway in the County of Marin.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to wit:

ORDINANCE NO. 1364
AN ORDINANCE DECREASING PRIMA FACIE SPEED LIMIT ON PORTION OF SIR FRANCIS DRAKE BLVD.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 35 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portion of the local highway hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 25 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highway and is reasonable and safe. It is also determined that an emergency exists which requires urgent and immediate intervention by the County of Marin through the adoption of this ordinance to regulate the prima facie speed limit hereinabove referred to.

SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be twenty-five (25) miles per hour upon the following portion of the local highway in the County of Marin:

a. Along County Road No. 103, commonly designated as Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, extending from a point approximately 1.3 miles northwest of Fairfax to a point approximately 1.7 miles northwest of Fairfax.

SECTION III: This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency ordinance and shall go into effect immediately upon its adoption and shall be published once within fifteen days following its adoption in a newspaper of general circulation published and circulated within the County of Marin with the names of the Supervisors voting for or against the same. The facts constituting the emergency and which require that this ordinance become effective immediately upon its adoption are set forth in Section I hereof.

SECTION IV: This ordinance hereby repeals any and all other ordinances or parts thereof in conflict herewith.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors held on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to-wit:

ORDINANCE NO. 1363
AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, APPROVING PRECISE DEVELOPMENT PLANS FOR THE LOS RANCHITOS R-P DEVELOPMENT AND SETTING FORTH CONDITIONS WHICH MUST BE OBSERVED.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: The precise Development Plans for the Los Ranchitos R-P Master Plan are hereby approved, which approval shall be in accordance with the following:

A. The development, maintenance and use of the property shall be carried on in conformance with certain maps and plans entitled as follows:

1. "Proposed 46-unit Apartment Development, Merrydale Road," W. P. Beck, Designer, marked "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans, May 4, 1964," Sheet 1 of 3.

2. "Proposed 46-unit Apartment Development, Merrydale Road," W. P. Beck, Designer, marked "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans, May 4, 1964," Sheet 2 of 3.

3. "Perimeter Planting Plan, Apartment Development," Claire Tilden, Landscape Architect, marked, "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans," Sheet 3 of 3.

B. The development, maintenance and use of the property shall be further subject to the following conditions:

1. Prior to issuance of building permits for any buildings, an improvement agreement shall be executed, supported by performance bond, providing for improvement of the Merrydale Road frontage of this project with curb and gutter, sidewalk, and intervening paving, in location established by the Director of Public Works, and for installation of planting on the project according to the plans hereby approved.

2. Site grading and drainage shall be performed according to plans subject to the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works, and, if involved, the Division of Highways.

C. The maps and plans designated in Sub-section A hereof shall be filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, along with a copy of this Ordinance, by the Planning Department, after authorization in writing for such filing, and the filing fee has been secured from the owner or owners of said land, and said authorization shall be construed to constitute his or their acceptance of the conditions set forth herein.

D. No building shall be constructed, maintained or used other than for the purposes specified on the maps and plans as described in Sub-section A hereof.

SECTION 2: Adoption of this Ordinance is not and shall not be construed as acceptance by the County of Marin of any streets or roads proposed or offered for dedication and shown on said approved Development Plans.

SECTION 3: This Ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect after the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage and the same shall be published before the expiration of fifteen (15) days with the names of the members voting for and against the same at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to-wit:

Unpledged Elector Scheme Extinct?

By JAMES FREE
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Is the unpledged presidential elector movement unconstitutional?

A legal historian, writing in the latest journal of the American Bar Assn., thinks the answer is "Yes." And he forecasts that the U.S. Supreme Court will kill this relic of "a by-gone day" when it is confronted with the issue.

Donald A. Meyer, New Orleans attorney and an official of the American Society for Legal History (ASLH), thinks the issue may be presented to the high tribunal before long.

Writing in the June issue of the Bar Journal, Meyer says:

"The problem will present itself boldly in 1964. It is suggested that the language of Gray vs. Sanders (Georgia redistribting case of 1963) foretells that the court recognizes the problem and anticipates colliding with it in the not-too-distant future."

He does not mention Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace by name, but clearly has the Wallace operation of 1964 in mind. Governor Wallace already has a bloc of unpledged electors committed in Alabama and is seeking more in Louisiana, Mississippi and other states.

Meyer reasons that development of the national party nomination system since 1832 has made obsolete the original concept of free and independent electors who would meet in each state to decide how that state's votes for president would be cast. He cites a number of state and supreme court decisions to support his thesis.

In the Georgia case last year, the Supreme Court said that the 14th, 15th, 17th and 19th amendments show that the Alexander Hamilton philosophy of unfettered electors "belongs to a bygone day and should not be considered in determining what the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment requires in statewide elections."

Meyer also cited a 1962 supreme court decision in an Alabama case, Ray vs. Blair, in which it was held that the long-standing practice of candidates for elector pledging their votes in advance was constitutional. Other rulings of the high court, he said, have held that electors are state officials, and that "all who participate in their election must have an equal vote under state law."

State court decisions cited by Meyer included:

1. Nebraska, in 1942, determining that Republican electors "ipso facto" vacated their positions when they refsued to support the GOP nominees.

2. Utah in 1953 refusing to include on the primary ballot persons running for elector who were not pledged to support nominees of a political party.

3. New York in 1948 holding that electors do not have the right to vote independently of their political party.

Meyer said in an interview that any Alabama voter so inclined could challenge in court Governor Wallace's unpledged "Democratic" elector plan under which the voter will be denied the right to vote for nominees of the national Democratic Party in November.

Electors pledged to support President Lyndon B. Johnson lost to unpledged electors by a wide margin in the May 5 Alabama primary. No Johnson electors will appear on the November general election ballot in the state. The choice there will be between pledged Republican electors and unpledged Wallace electors.

Meyer noted that a similar suit would have been possible in Louisiana had the State Democratic Central Committee adopted a recent proposal for elimination from the November ballot electors pledged to the national Democratic Party nominees. As in Alabama, Meyer contends that Louisiana voters who wanted to vote for the Democratic nominees would have been in effect disenfranchized.

Meyer also maintained that a state delegate attending a national party convention in response to a "call," such as the national Democratic Party issued in 1960, would breach an implied third party contract by supporting candidates other than those nominated by that convention.

Any such delegate who happened also to be a presidential elector would be subject to a suit for breach of trust, according to Meyer.

Car-Crash Victim Says He Intended To Leap Off Span

A Daly City man who crashed into the car of a Golden Gate Bridge toll officer Saturday night said later he had intended to jump off the bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The officer, Edward A. Ashoff, 49, of 415 Johnson Street, Sausalito, had been alerted earlier by Daly City police that Raymond Lindsay, 44, might be planning to leap from the bridge.

Observing Lindsay's car enter a northbound tollgate, Ashoff drove in front of it to prevent it from traveling onto the bridge. Lindsay failed to see the Ashoff car and crashed into it, the patrol reported.

The Daly City man was taken to San Francisco General Hospital where he was still under observation today.

Mill Valley Student Gets Bachelor Degree

John C. Aird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Aird, 80 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, has received a bachelor of arts degree from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

Aird, who plans to teach, was captain of the school's 1963 football team, vice-president of the college Varsity Club, a member of the Gleen Club, and a cast member of the Class Night productions.

Fairfax School Board Will Review Budget

Fairfax School District board will review the budget for 1964-65 and consider the resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin, a seventh grade teacher at Fairfax Central School, at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Central School.

Request for authorization to purchase an air conditioner for the district office also will be considered.

Kentfield Man Gets Sheepskin In East

Daniel N. DeWilde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. DeWilde of 135 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, has received a bachelor's degree in English from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

He was a member of the college glee club and on the staff of the campus radio station. He plans to do graduate work in communications at Stanford University.

Grasshoppers were convicted of trespassing in a 16th Century English court trial. Defense witnesses — nature lovers and scientists — argued that the insects had the same right to life as humans. But the judge held that grasshoppers were subject to extermination if they remained in farmers' fields.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Emotional Stress, Excess Weight Contribute To Coronary Attacks

VAN DELLEN

Heart attacks occur for many reasons, varying from too much cholesterol in the blood to emotional stress. Many victims of coronary thrombosis are overly ambitious and tell of having worked long hours or holding down a job that produces frustrations, restlessness or discontent. Others were insecure. Some also have high blood pressure and are overweight.

IT IS DIFFICULT to single out any one of these factors as causative but combinations increase the chances of developing a heart attack. A high blood cholesterol, plus obesity, plus hypertension is worse than one of these alone.

A low fat diet is reasonable, especially when the amount of cholesterol in the blood is too high or the individual comes from a coronary-prone family. An elevated cholesterol and hypertension encourage hardening and narrowing of the coronary arteries. But this does not represent a heart attack which occurs only when an artery is obstructed. It is here that other causes enter the picture.

Evidence exists that many heart attacks follow a hemorrhage into the wall of a coronary artery. As a result the inner lining of the blood vessel swells and obstruction occurs. Heart attacks after emotional stress could be explained on this basis.

A VITAMIN C deficiency also may play a role by making the capillaries more fragile. In addition there is evidence that a coronary artery becomes plugged by a clot that forms because blood is too "sticky." This is the opposite of hemophilia, in which the blood will not coagulate.

A tendency to clot is marked in certain types of coronary candidates, especially men between 40 and 60 years of age with an overabundance of cholesterol. The blood returns to normal when a low fat diet is consumed, along with vegetable oils.

HERNIATED DISK

H. O. writes: What is meant by a crushed disk in the back?

REPLY

The disks separate the vertebras and also act as cushions. When crushed, the soft material in them may protrude and press upon the spinal cord. Most slipped or herniated disks fall into this category. The structure usually is tough and unless it degenerates through age or injury, can withstand considerable abuse.

SORE WRIST

G. R. writes: I fractured a wrist 1½ years ago. It still pains me and the doctor says I have traumatic arthritis. Is there any relief for this type of soreness?

REPLY

Traumatic arthritis is best treated with physical therapy—heat, massage, and gentle manipulation. A wrist support spares the joint when working.

BLADDER TUMOR

A. W. writes: How is tumor of the bladder diagnosed?

REPLY

By means of a cystoscopic examination and removing a small piece of tissue (biopsy) for laboratory study. The cystoscope is a tubular instrument with a light on one end and a magnifying eye piece on the other. It is passed into the bladder through the urethra.

MANIC - DEPRESSIVE

A. H. writes: Does a split personality refer to a mental disease?

REPLY

Yes — schizophrenia. In this mental disorder, the individual suffers from hallucinations, delusions, fears, or feelings of inadequacy. Some alternate between a depressive and a manic personality.

HEEL SPURS

C.B. writes: X-rays show spurs on both heels and the doctor is injecting cortisone into these growths. But I don't feel any better and wonder if there is a sure cure.

REPLY

Surgery may be needed if injections and padding of the shoes do not help.

BACKACHE FROM KIDNEYS

A.G. writes: Is pain in the lower back a symptom of kidney trouble?

REPLY

Kidney pain usually is located on one side or the other of the small of the back, depending upon which organ is involved. Low back pain usually stems from arthritis or strain.

Scientists Report Link Between Virus, Cancer

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—Another link has been put into a chain of circumstantial evidence which connects a certain "virus-like particle" with human leukemia.

It was first found in persons who had that cancer of the blood. Then its shape and size were found to be practically indistinguishable from those of viruses which are proved canusers of leukemia in mice and fowl.

Now three cancer scientists have compared its population density in the blood of leukemic children and of healthy children and adults. The former harbored relatively large numbers and the latter had hardly any.

Whether viruses cause any form of sickness or don't often is a matter of viral numbers. Hence the investigations of quantities of Drs. Matilda Benyesh-Melnick, Kendall O. Smith and Donald J. Fernbach of Baylor University, Houston.

They magnified the blood samples 5,000 times in the electron microscope. Then they counted the "virus-like particles" in the field of magnification which is exceedingly small when magnification is so high.

In 10 out of 24 leukemic children there were 40 or more particles per field. In six there were 20 to 39 particles per field and in three the count was between 10 and 19. In one child there were only six to nine per field, in three there were only one to five and in one child there was none.

Of 40 normal children, 12 showed no particles. The highest count among them was 10 to 19 per field and the samples of four were in the category. Eight had six to nine and 16 had one to five. Out of 13 normal adults particles were found in the blood of only one and the count was below five. The scientists considered any count less than five a "negative" finding.

The search for human cancer viruses is among the most difficult and most frustrating phases of cancer research. Most cancer scientists have no doubt that viruses cause at least some human cancers, since viruses are the proved causers of a number of animal cancers.

But the proof that it is so remains elusive despite the best efforts of untold hundreds of research workers. So far there is no scientifically acceptable proof that viruses are responsible for even one human malignancy.

One basic trouble is the lack of a suitable "biologic system" for testing. Mouse viruses can be isolated and purified and injected into mice to see what they do. You can't put human viruses or even human "virus-like particles" into human beings experimentally when you suspect they may be cancer-causers.

At this stage scientists can't even be positive these "virus-like particles" are really viruses. It is conceivable that they might be debris from disintegrated cells. But the high magnifications of the electron microscope show they are contained in external membranes and have internal structures. That would seem to make them viruses.

Topless Suits Won't Do On New York's Beaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who wear topless bathing suits on the city's beaches will be arrested, says Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris.

A woman wearing such a suit Morris said yesterday, can expect a policeman to come up with a blanket, cover her, take her to a police station, and give her a summons.

Most earthquake faults are under the sea. One underland is the San Andreas Rift in California, which triggered the catastrophic San Francisco earthquake in 1906.

Demo Committee Suggests Choice For Postmaster

Theoder J. Lehmann of 23 Acacia Avenue, Belvedere, has been endorsed by the Marin County Democratic Central for appointment as postmaster of the Belvedere-Tiburon post office.

The endorsement of the 10-year-resident of Belvedere has been forwarded to Sen. Clair Engle in Washington, according to Robert Harmon of Belvedere, central committee member.

Lehmann's career in the postal service began in 1937 when he was a mailman in Minneapolis, Minn. He has served as an Army postal officer in Japan, Germany, Korea, the Canal Zone and at Fort Riley, Kan., and the San Francisco Port of Embarkation. Since 1960 he has been regional costs analyst for the post office department in San Francisco.

Car Whacks Pole, Passenger Hurt

Randolph F. Osborn, 19, of 26 Mohowk Avenue, Corte Madera, suffered cuts on the left arm early yesterday when the car in which he was riding hit a utility pole on Kent Avenue in Kentfield.

The driver, Michael F. Burke, 21, of 301 Oak Street, San Anselmo, told California Highway Patrolmen he saw a car coming at him as he rounded a curve adjacent to 207 Kent Avenue. He swerved, crashing into a wooden stake, several yards of fence, and finally the utility pole, according to patrol reports.

Osborn was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Three Girls Enter In Beauty Contest

Three Sonoma County girls have entered the "Miss Sonoma-Marin" beauty contest at the Sonoma-Marin Fair, July 9 - 12. They are Sharon Ann Klemenok of Petaluma, Jan Taylor of Santa Rosa and Linda Korb of Rohnert Park.

Contestants must be single, between the ages of 16-26, a resident of California for one year and of Marin or Sonoma for 90 days. Entry forms may be obtained from the chambers of commerce of the two counties.

Marinite Gets Vacaville Job

Leonard J. Clark of 7 Crescent Lane, Fairfax, has been appointed a student professional assistant at the California Medical Facility in Vacaville, Solano County.

A former Soil Conservation Service Technician, Clark has a bachelor's degree from University of Arizona and is a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

He will assist the facility's Protestant chaplain during the summer.

Auto Blaze Stalls Traffic On 101

An automobile fire in the northbound lanes of Highway 101 on Puerto Suello Hill caused a traffic jam yesterday about 12:30 p.m.

Albert Ahern of Santa Venetia told San Rafael firemen he was towing a friend's auto when his car's automatic transmission overheated, setting fire to some oil underneath the car. Traffic behind the mishap was backed up for some 500 yards, according to witnesses.

The car's floor mat and some electrical wiring was also scorched. Ahern lives at 29 Roosevelt Avenue.

Today an estimated half-million Tuaregs roam the mountains and plains of the central and southern Sahara, ignoring frontiers. They are divided into five proud clans, speak their own language and accept the tenets of Islam.

SCULPTURE SHOWINGS—The sculpture of Joe Clark of Tiburon can be seen in three locations this summer and fall. His works will be on exhibit at the Palace of Legion of Honor in San Francisco starting Saturday and through July 26. The San Francisco Museum of Art will show some of his classical studies in an Arts of San Francisco exhibit July 7 through Aug. 9. Other works can be seen this fall at the Quay Gallery, Main Street, Tiburon.

Bay Air Defense Command Shifts

Lolli graduated from the National War College in 1957 and has commanded Air Defense groups in New York and San Francisco. He was deputy chief of staff for plans and operations at Air Defense headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo. There, he developed the Short Notice Annual Practice (SNAP)) system, a test of air defense missile readiness.

He has also taken part in 11 international conferences, including the Baghdad Conference, the Balkan Conference, and the Aegean-Black Sea Conference. At Fort Baker, Lolli will direct joint-service air defense operations for several western states.

Off-Road Tumble Injures Cyclist

David G. Danish, 29, a San Francisco postal clerk, suffered chin cuts yesterday when his motorcycle hit a log and rolled on an unmarked trail west of China Camp.

Danish was riding his late model cycle on a trail four miles east of Highway 101 at 1:30 p.m. when the vehicle hit the log, throwing him over the handlebars. He was given emergency treatment at San Rafael General Hospital after driving to a friend's house for help, and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco where he was released after further treatment.

Receives Certificate

Mrs. Eugenia K. Papp of 659 Wakerobin Lane, Terra Linda, has been awarded a certificate of completion for attending a series of seminars in nursing leadership at the California School of Nursing. Mrs. Papp is an in-service coordinator at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

The bastinado, or beating, method of reducing taxes was once practiced in the Near East. Potential taxpayers suspected of concealing assets were beaten until they promised to pay up—the sum required growing less with the amount of punishment suffered.

MILLION-DOLLAR JAGUAR—NOT FOR SALE!

Deep within the largest pyramid is a chamber dominated by a throne in the shape of a red jaguar, spotted with inserts of green jade. The Mexican government refused $1,000,000 for it 30 years ago!

Far to the north stand the remains of another ancient city, Teotihuacan, which housed 250,000 people in 700 A.D.

And only 35 miles from there is a modern capital of today's world—Mexico City. Here, the tall buildings are examples of the best in modern architecture. Commerce and industry, theater and the arts, education and medicine, people and customs—all are of today's world.

Girl Is Preparing For Summer Trip To Iran

NINA SUNTZEFF
Haunting libraries

Nina, who will be a senior at Redwood High School next fall, will leave June 27 from New York with other students who will be taking part in the American Field Service summer program. She is due to return on Sept. 26.

She will live with an Iranian family. The father is a retired army major who works at the United States Mission in Tehran. The mother has a doctorate in chemistry. There are two boys, ages 17 and 9, and a girl, age 15, in the family.

Nina has been studying the history and customs of Iran in libraries and plans to learn "a little" Persian while living with the family. She has been advised to pack no more than 40 pounds of light summer clothing for the 100-degree summer heat in Tehran.

Japanese Consul Talk

Kenya Iwasaki, Japanese consul in San Francisco, will speak on Japan's relationship to the United States to the San Rafael Kiwanis Club at noon Thursday at the Mission Inn, 720 B Street, San Rafael.

Pre-School Recreation Signups Announced

Registration for the San Rafael Recreation Department's summer recreation program for preschoolers will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at neighborhood parks and playgrounds.

Classes will be held for three to four-year-olds on Tuesdays and for four to five-year-olds on Thursdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Architects Elect Mill Valley Man As Vice President

Architect Rex Whitaker Allen of 258 Hillside Avenue, Mill Valley, was elected a vice president of the American Institute of Architects at the group's convention in St. Louis last week.

He is the chairman of the institute's committee on hospital architecture and has served as consultant on California's Hospital Advisory Board. The firm of Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates of San Francisco had designed many hospitals and related medical facilities including the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael and San Francisco's French Hospital.

Four Earn Certificates In Child Care Class

Two sisters from St. Vincent's School for Boys and two social workers from Marin County Juvenile Hall will receive awards of completion from University of California Extension Saturday for finishing a program in residential child care practice.

Sister M. Francis Damien Hennies and Sister M. Guala Wimmer from St. Vincent's will receive awards, along with juvenile hall workers Jack J. Hoffman of 162 Belvedere St., San Rafael, and William J. Jackson of 2063 Huckleberry Road, San Rafael.

Victims of alcoholism often experience blackouts — complete loss of memory for hours or days at a time.

Planners Will Set Hearing On Bid For Kaiser Hospital

San Rafael Planning Commission will set a hearing date at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on a requested revision of the Northgate North master plan to permit a Kaiser medical clinic and hospital instead of a motor hotel. A date also will be set for a hearing on a use permit for the project.

Permanente Medical Foundation plans to build the hospital if a proposed agreement is approved by the foundation's board of directors late this month. The 10-acre site immediately north of the shopping center had been approved for an office building and motel-convention center.

Public hearings are scheduled on rezoning of the old Coleman School property from unclassified district to administrative-professional, and on a request from Drs. Michael Franzblau and William Filante for a use permit for a medical office building at 540-44-48 D Street. Architectural approval also is requested for the proposed building.

The commission also will consider architectural approval for the Northgate Dental Building on the east side of Northgate Drive and for a new American French Laundry building at Lovell and Jordan Streets.

Also on the agenda: resubdivisions of Peacock Gap units one, three and four; tentative map of the Rafael Woods subdivision on D Street and Meyer Road; architectural approval for an 18-unit apartment addition to a duplex on Prospect Avenue near Lincoln.

Community Band Sets Rehearsal Schedule

The College of Marin Community Band will rehearse each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. during the college summer session, starting June 24. A concert is planned in July.

The band has openings for players of wind and percussion instruments. Membership is open to high school, college and adult musicians.

Scorching Weather Brings In Summer With 90-Degree Heat

LOOK MA, NO TOPS—Topless bathing suits and cool, splashing water provided the answer to summer heat today for 2-year-old Kerry Taup (left) and 5-year-old Terrilyn Rosenberg at Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax. Club owner Max Friedman said the topless suits are all right with him—as long a the wearers are not over five years old.

Beaches Are Crowded, Fire Warning Sounded

Summer started yesterday with a scorching opener that sent temperatures above the 90-degree mark and residents flocking to beaches and parks.

Late morning temperatures today indicated that the afternoon would be even hotter, and the fire danger greater.

San Anselmo had the top mark of 94 degrees yesterday, while San Rafael and Novato hit the 90-degree mark.

Temperatures started to climb again this morning and shortly before 11 a.m., Novato reported 90, and Woodacre, 88. In San Rafael the temperature reached 84 at noon.

It was estimated 9,600 persons jammed Stinson Beach State Park, where the temperatures ranged from 75 to 78 degrees yesterday afternoon.

Despite the heat, there were no displays of the new, controversial topless bathing suit, reported Robert G. Carlson, park supervisor.

ALL ILLEGAL

"As far as I'm concerned they are illegal," Carlson said. He said the law requires that beach attire conform to accepted public standard, and he didn't believe the topless suits have yet been accepted by the public.

There was a crowd at the beach again today.

There were 2,700 visitors to Samuel P. Taylor State Park, another of the cooler spots, where the high reached about 75 degrees, reported Neil Power, park supervisor. The camping grounds were filled every night over the weekend and picnic tables were all taken by 11:30 a.m. yesterday, he said. "People were sitting all over."

TAKING DIP

The heat drove some residents to break the law by taking a dip in the Cascade Reservoir in the Cascade Canyon of Mill Valley Saturday. Police reported swimmers were advised to leave the reservoir and they noted that the reservoir fence has to be repaired in places.

The Marin County Fire Department received a high fire danger report from the U.S. Weather Bureau because of the high temperatures and low humidity.

Residents are urged to be extremely careful with fires during the hot weather, the fire department reported.

High temperatures in other communities yesterday were: Woodacre, 89; Santa Venetia, 88; Ross, 83; Belvedere and Mill Valley, 82.

The Weather Bureau predicted that coastal fog will lower temperatures tomorrow, but above-normal temperatures will continue in Northern California during the first part of the week.

POLLY DIDN'T WANT THEIR CRACKERS

Terra Linda firemen tried to get the bird Saturday but could not quite manage it. The bird, a parrot, last seen flapping away over a back fence, was still at large today.

The parrot was found about 1 p.m. Saturday in a tree in the yard of Francis L. Murray at 483 Las Colindas Road, squawking occasionally. A child came by and said he was the owner and would like it back.

Firemen were called, put a ladder up to the tree and started to climb, as the parrot remained placid. As a fireman reached out for the bird, it took off for another tree, and then another, and then . . .

"Perhaps if we had soaked him down first . . ." mused one fireman.

Field Trip Shows Plans For Flood Control Work

Construction of the proposed 6.8 million dollar Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project could start in 1967 if it gets local backing, according to Clarence Elmore, project engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers.

Elmore outlined the project during a three-hour tour of the creek Saturday by city and county officials and interested residents.

The federal funds, $5,534,000, would cover construction and $1,338,000, reimbursable by the state, would cover right-of-way and utility easements. But the local communities benefiting from the project would have to pay $26,200 annually for maintenance and operation.

This could be done either through by forming a flood control zone, or as a joint project between the towns and the county.

Unless the project is favored by a majority of the communities involved, "it will come to a screeching halt," Elmore said.

Residents will have to decide whether to accept the project as proposed, seek changes or have no project at all, he said.

During a pre-tour briefing at College of Marin, Elmore said the Army Engineers propose to maintain the existing beauty of the creek as much as possible, but some trees will have to be removed.

The first object is flood control and second, esthetics, he said. "We are here to relieve danger, and the project is designed to protect lives."

As the project is planned, from just east of Highway 101 to Fairfax there will be earth embankment, levees and concrete channels. The width will range from 260 feet east of the Bon Air Bridge to 25 feet in "the upper reaches," Elmore said.

Clausen In Move To Save State Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two California Republican congressmen proposed today constitutional amendments to offset last week's Supreme Court decision that membership in both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis.

Reps. John F. Baldwin of Martinez and Don Clausen of Crescent City said this principle would give the Los Angeles area complete domination of both the state House and Senate. They said their proposal is essential to the well-being of Northern California.

"There would be little purpose in having two houses in state legislatures if one house is the exact duplicate of the other house," they said in a statement.

The amendment they proposed

Traffic Breaks Record For Golden Gate Span

Father's Day traffic over the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday set a new all-time record.

The bridge district reported today that 90,131 vehicles crossed the span yesterday. Greatest number ever clocked in one day before was 84,162 on Aug. 18, 1963.

Supervisors Carry Through Nursing Swap

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today re-affirmed its desire to pull the bedside nursing program out of the health department and put it in the medical department.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman asked that the transfer be delayed, at least until the final budget time. But the rest of the board agreed that the action taken Frfiday, in approving the medical department budget, should stand.

Bored members learned today for the first time, however, that the change will mean firing the nurses now in the program, since the medical department will contract with a private nursing service.

County administrator Alan Bruce said that medical director Dr. Michael Scholl had explained that there would be such a contract on Friday, but the board members seemed surprised. Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker then said perhaps Fusselman was right and there should be a delay.

Bruce said to turn back now would create new complications, and the board decided to stand by its previous action.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, continued her fight against the transfer, saying she could see no advantage in

Thief Dampens Wedding Gaiety

Besides losing a daughter, Richard J. Argento of 111 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo, is missing a camera worth $199 and a case of champagne glasses following the wedding of his daughter, Diane, 19, in San Anselmo yesterday.

Argento reported to Marin County sheriff's office that his eight-millimeter movie camera and a case of rented champagne glasses, valued at $40, were stolen from his car between 3 and 6 p.m. outside the wedding reception at Star Hall in San Anselmo.

Miss Argento was married to John William Crowley of San Francisco in a 2 p.m. ceremony at Saint Rita's Church in Fairfax.

Sit-In Rulings Reversed By High Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court reversed the convictions of Negro sit-in demonstrators in Maryland and South Carolina today on technical legal grounds which skirted the deeper constitutional issue of racial discrimination in public accommodations.

The vote upsetting trespass convictions of 12 demonstrators at a Baltimore restaurant and two college students at a Columbia, S.C., drug store was 6 to 3.

The controlling opinion by Justice William Brennan confined itself to narrow questions of procedure in the prosecutions.

However, three members of the majority — Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Arthur J. Goldberg and William O. Douglas — indicated that they would have voted to declare racial discrimination at public accommodations such as restaurants and hotels unconstitutional.

The dissenters in the trespass decisions were Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White. On their behalf, Black said the court improperly dodged the big issue of whether a state can enforce its trespass laws against a person who refuses to leave a privately owned restau-

Brawl Makes Old-Western Fete Realistic

A ballroom brawl in Novato at the height of the Western Weekend celebration Saturday quickly drew a throng estimated at 150 people, and peace officers of three jurisdictions to quell it.

Two men were jailed after the fight, which Police Chief Robert di Grazia said involved only about 10 people but drew a big crowd of onlookers. California Highway Patrol and county sheriff's officers joined Novato police to break up the disturbance.

The throng pressed into the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue, where the fists started flying, lined the street outside and spread down to Highway 101, the police chief reported.

Arrested for the 3 p.m. Saturday fisticuffs were William Carnaghan, 21, of 209 Mirada Drive, San Rafael, and John Earl Neighbors, 25, of 912 Railroad Avenue, Novato.

Carnaghan was charged with assaulting Officer Alfred W. Schroeder; Neighbors, with being drunk and resisting arrest. Bail for Carnaghan was set at $1,129; for Neighbors, at $579.

Police said Neighbors once escaped after being arrested for drunkenness. Somebody opened the door of a patrol car, and Neighbors "took it on the lam." He was picked up again later at the carnival grounds.

Police were unable to say whether Western Weekend had anything to do with a fight between Andrew Louis McGue of 620 Arthur Street, Novato, and his wife. But at noon Saturday, police were called to find them fighting with a saw. Mrs. McGue had her husband arrested. He was later freed on $496 bail.

Novato police were on double shifts during the weekend to handle the added work of the

WESTERN WEEKEND

Novato Is Recovering From Biggest One Yet

They whooped it up by the thousands in Novato Saturday and yesterday—more thousands, said Police Chief Robert di Grazia, than ever turned out for a Western Weekend before.

Di Grazia estimated the crowd that lined Grant Avenue for Saturday's parade exceeded that of last year, which was put down by police as "more than 20,000."

A float stalled in the parade, a fire broke out while firemen were having a waterball fight, and only two couples paid admission to an outdoor dance. But these were minor failings. For almost everyone, Western Weekend was "a whopping success."

From crowning of queen Jeanie Bergala on Friday night to award of a pony to 5-year-old Steve Bovaird on 20 Stacia Court, Novato, last night, it was one long round of excitement.

Steve, who got the pony as top prize in a Junior Chamber of Commerce drawing at the carnival grounds, cried and hugged and kissed the animal in a parade up Grant Avenue to Oscar Houge's Paint Store. Houge agreed to keep the pony until the boy's parents figure out a way to take care of it.

The Novato Junior Women's Club float stalled in front of Wright Hardware at 1305 Grant Avenue midway in Saturday's long parade. All efforts to start it failed for 45 minutes. Finally it was taken under tow, proceeding in that fashion to the end of the route. Parade judges disqualified it for failing to make the route under its own power. After the parade was all over, Police Chief di Grazia discovered the truck was simply out of gasoline.

The annual waterball fight between the Novato and Kentfield Fire Departments turned out to be a no-decision affair, as both departments left the battle to put out a fire.

The water was spraying fast

Viet Struggle Held Worth Risking War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Paul D. Harkins, outgoing U.S. commander in South Vietnam, said today that the struggle against Communist guerrillas in Southeast Asia is "very much" worth risking war with Red China.

Harkins made the comment to reporters as he returned to Washington from his post in Saigon. He said he believes that if the Communists take over Southeast Asia, "it would be a threat to the whole western world."

His remarks came not long after the State Department said that "there can be little doubt in the minds of leaders throughout the Far East and the world" that the United States is prepared to help "repel Communist aggression" in Southeast Asia.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

German Power Play

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, Communist leader of East Germany, says he wants no separate peace treaty with the Soviet Union. An East German news agency quoted Ulbricht as telling a group of visitors from West Berlin that he wants East Germany to become so strong that it can carry through a policy leading to a peace treaty for both German states.

CDC Shifts To Pierre

FRESNO (AP)—Democratic Senate nominee Pierre Salinger has won the endorsement of the California Democratic Council board of directors. The CDC supported Salinger's opponent, State Controller Alan Cranston, in the primary race. In a resolution passed yesterday the board of directors called on all CDC clubs to help Salinger defeat Republican George Murphy in November elections.

Bomb Wakes Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A bomb exploded outside the home of Stanley Morgan, leader of the Stanley Morgan Ink Spots, frightening his wife and son and blowing a hole in his cement block wall, police reported early today. Morgan, a Negro, said he had gone to work at the Hacienda Hotel, where his group is appearing, shortly before the blast late last night. His wife, Harriette, 50, and son, Sonny, 7, were not injured.

Borneo Battle Flares

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Indonesia guerrillas made one of the biggest attacks of the Borneo jungle war last night, only 24 hours after the collapse of the second Malaysian summit conference, a security forces spokesman announced in Sarawak. Five Gurkhas were killed and five others wounded in the six-hour battle near the frontier.

Royal 'Thaw' Urged

LONDON (UPI)—Three London newspapers yesterday urged Queen Elizabeth to let bygones be bygones and welcome back her uncle, the duke of Windsor, to the royal family. The Sunday Express said that one word from the queen could end the cold shoulder given to the duke and his duchess for the past 28 years. The duke and duchess have lived in Paris for the last 10 years. They make occasional private visits to Britain.

In Pidgin English, one word does the task of many. Grass may mean grass, beard, hair, fur or feathers.

Wedding Complicates Court Battle

BALTIMORE (AP) — The son of atheist Madalyn Murray has married the teen-aged girl who is in the middle of a bitter court wrangle between her parents and Mrs. Murray.

The wedding of William Murray, 18, and the former Susan Abramovitz, 17, was announced yesterday during a hectic session in Municipal Court.

Susan

Mrs. Murray, William, Susan and Mrs. Murray's mother, Bonna Mays, 73, all were in court to answer charges resulting from a brawl with police at Mrs. Murray's Baltimore home Saturday.

William and Susan were married last Tuesday in Maryland.

Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Abramovitz, in an earlier suit had accused Mrs. Murray and William of inducing Susan to move in with the Murrays and abandon her Jewish religion.

Mrs. Murray, who brought the suit which resulted in last year's U.S. Supreme Court decision that required religious exercises in public schools is unconstitutional, faces six charges of assaulting policemen.

The Saturday melee developed after police were tipped that Susan had been seen in the Murray home.

The judge hearing the criminal court case brought by Susan's parents had placed her temporarily in the custody of an aunt and uncle, ordered her to remain in Maryland, and prohibited her parents and the Murrays from contacting her until the case was settled.

Pope Paul Marks Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI marked his first anniversary as head of the Roman Catholic church yesterday with a Mass, a visit to a college and an appeal for support for his work.

In a brief speech to people assembled in St. Peter's Square, the pope asked for prayers for his "great mission" of searching for world peace.

"One thing moves us, that we have help. And you know that all our forces, sentiments and prayers are for you, for the church, for the world and for peace."

Beauty Queen Grateful To Mother

Sherri Lee

The 18-year-old University of California sophomore combined modern dance and baton twirling in her talent presentation in the state finals Saturday night. She had won the swimsuit competition earlier. She stands 5-9 and measures 38-24-36.

Sherri is from Fremont but represented Oakland in the contest.

When asked which woman in this country she most admired Sherri replied:

"My mother. Without all her help and kindness I could never do this."

Sherri's mother, Mrs. William R. Raap, placed second in the 1940 State Fair Queen competition. Her father is vice principal of Irvington High School in Fremont.

TINY BOOSTER — Gov. William W. Scranton, visiting Washington, D.C., to woo support for his presidential nomination drive from the District's national convention delegates, stopped Sunday at the airport to greet a pint-sized supporter boasting a Scranton sticker on her back. The would-be candidate also made a nation-wide television appearance in which he predicted that candidates now supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater would begin switching to him in a week and a half. (AP Wirephoto)

Scranton Says Delegates Will Switch To Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton says Republican convention delegates "in greater numbers than I expected" are lining up behind his presidential candidacy.

The Pennsylvania governor, who plans to confer starting Tuesday with key uncommitted state delegations, says he thinks the major swing to him by delegates now favoring front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater will start in about a week and a half.

Scranton gave no figures on shifts so far.

"If he doesn't win on the first ballot, it would be very difficult for him to win at all," Scranton said.

The latest Associated Press survey of GOP convention delegates gives Goldwater 694 first-ballot votes—39 more than the number needed for nomination. Scranton is credited with 138 votes.

A spot check of GOP delegates from Missouri, Nevada, Utah, Kansas, Nebraska, Tennessee and Georgia showed Goldwater's strength remained what it was before he voted against the civil rights bill.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., who will be permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention, said today Illinois might indicate whether Scranton can take delegates away from Goldwater.

The 58-delegate group, headed by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, meets next Tuesday to hear Goldwater and Scranton state their cases.

Sen. Kennedy's World Is A Canvas Frame

Known as a "Foster frame," it takes the place of a more uncomfortable, unwieldly plaster cast.

The frame will keep Kennedy, 32, as comfortable as possible while surgeons determine whether surgery will be needed for the three broken vertebrae he suffered in a plane crash Friday night in which two persons died.

Though the freshman Democratic senator, elected 19 months ago to fill his brother's unexpired term in the U.S. Senate, faces six to eight months of recuperation, doctors stress he will recover completely, barring unforeseen complications.

Also at Cooley Dickinson Hospital were Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.) and his wife. They were in good condition from less serious injuries suffered in the crash but were expected to be held at the hospital the rest of the week.

Kennedy cannot be moved for another 10 to 12 days.

State Demo Leaders Split On Distaff Appointee To Meet

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A scrap over who will be national committeewoman confronts California's delegation to the Democratic Convention when it holds its first meeting in San Francisco Saturday.

The contenders are Elizabeth R. Gatov, of Kentfield, the former treasurer of the United States who is seeking another four-year term on the party's national committee and Carmen H. Warschaw of Los Angeles, chairman of the State Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Gov. Brown, chairman of the delegation, is supporting Mrs. Gatov. So is State Democratic Chairman Eugene Wyman, and Roger Kent, northern section chairman of the state committee.

Brown and Unruh were previously on opposite sides in the primary race for the party's U.S. senatorial nomination with the governor supporting State Controller Alan Cranston and the speaker helping Pierre Salinger, the winner.

The 162 delegates are supporting President Johnson.

NIKITA GETS COOL SWEDISH RECEPTION

Papers Demand To Know Fate Of Diplomat Captured, Held By Russians Since 1945

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in the capital of neutral Sweden today. He was met by newspaper demands for information on the fate of a Swedish diplomat captured by the Russians in 1945.

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, came ashore in a Swedish motor torpedo boat after sailing through the Baltic Sea from Denmark in the Soviet liner Bashkiria.

It was a gray, chilly day —and Khrushchev's welcome from Swedish newspapers was chilly, too.

In big headlines and outspoken words they demanded an official statement from him on the fate of Raoul Wallenberg, Swedish diplomat who was arrested by Soviet troops in Hungary and has not been heard of since.

Wallenberg was traced to the Soviet Union and the Swedish government demanded his return.

The Russians for years maintained that they knew nothing about Wallenberg but in 1957 admitted he had been imprisoned in Lubianka Prison in Moscow in 1947.

Subsequently the Swedish government found increasing evidence that Wallenberg was alive. He was said to be in a prison in Vladimir, 12 miles east of Moscow, as late as 1954.

The Soviet leader sent a radio message from his ship requesting a postponement of political talks scheduled for this afternoon.

Khrushchev gave no reason. But Swedish officials privately hazarded the guess that he was a weary man after his visit to Denmark.

Tage Erlander, Sweden's Socialist premier, said on the eve of Khrushchev's arrival that the country would not be diverted from its neutralist policy and would oppose any attempt to change "the status quo in Europe."

CHANCE ENCOUNTER

By PHIL FRADKIN

A chance brush with an example of devout faith has prompted Larkspur real estate broker Maggi Walker to bring a Haitian family to Marin County.

The first member of the family, Azane Thermidor, arrived last week "at the most opportune time," says Mrs. Walker.

Mrs. Walker was seriously injured in a two-car crash on Memorial Day near Santa Cruz. It resulted in the death of the other driver, who had driven across the divider strip.

Mrs. Walker spent 12 days in a hospital. The day before she was to be discharged, a visa was granted to Miss Thermidor. The Haitian arrived a day after Mrs. Walker returned home to 109 Locust Avenue, Larkspur, and is taking care of her.

Mrs. Walker met the family when she was in Haiti in February, 1963. Miss Thermidor's brother, Edouard Celidor, was her tour guide during her stay in Haiti.

She was struck by the family's devout faith. "I am not a religious person. But I was impresser so much with how the family always believed that something good would befall them," Mrs. Walker said.

After Mrs. Walker left Haiti, a government upheaval cut the flow of tourist traffic to a trickle. Celidor, whose business was wiped out, wrote Mrs. Walker to ask if it was possible to come to the United States.

The problem was that 10,000 other Haitians also wanted to come to the United States at that time. The country's economy had collapsed.

Since Haiti has no immigration quota, first preference was given to Haitians who had relatives in America. Miss Thermidor arrived on a visitor's visa which can be renewed before she is forced to go back to Haiti or immigrate from another country.

Mrs. Walker believes that Celidor, his wife and four children will be able to immigrate to the United States in about 10 months.

Miss Thermidor will do housework and cooking for Mrs. Walker and her friends. Celidor, when he arrives, will get work as a mechanic or help out in an import store Mrs. Walker is thinking of opening in San Rafael.

After Celidor's business was wiped out and work became almost impossible to find, the family still kept its faith. Mrs. Walker again visited the family at Christmas and during carnival time in February of this year.

"I wondered how the family could keep their faith. If there was any hope there, which there was, then I thought how much more hope there would be here. A lot of people think I am foolish—that there is not a better life here," says Mrs. Walker.

"It is one of those chance things. You could meet 1,000 persons and it wouldn't have an effect. Then you meet one family and you are drawn to them."

Auto Takes Off, Kills Driver Of Second Vehicle

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—A San Gabriel man was killed when the top of his car was sheared off by a flying auto on the San Bernardino freeway Sunday.

Investigators said a northbound car driven by Alex Martinez, 23, of San Bernardino went out of control and into a ditch between the north and south lanes. Its momentum carried it up the other side of the ditch and it became airborne, sailing into the southbound lanes.

It cut off the top of a car driven by Donald C. Fish, 27, of 3328 Stephens St., San Gabriel. Fish was killed and his passenger, Walter Joseph Peterson, 26, of 504 E. Graves Ave., Monterey Park, suffered lacerations of the face and head. Graves was taken to San Bernardino Community Hospital and was reported in good condition.

Martinez, treated but not hospitalized, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter. A teenage girl riding with him refused treatment.

Beeves To Texas Like Coals To...

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP)—Texas supposedly has cattle all over the place so there was some surprise in these parts when the Maywood Farms shipped a load of cattle to a Texas ranch.

The shipment included 33 purebred Brangus cattle. Bardstown cattleman Cam Blincoe said the cattle are crossed three times to produce an animal five-eighths Angus and three-eighths Brahman.

Teachers Demand State Colleges Trustee Ouster

NORTHRIDGE, Calif. (AP) — A call for the resignation of Charles Luckman from the State College Board of Trustees was made by the California State College Council of the AFL-CIO Federation of Teachers.

James M. Smith, council chairman, said Saturday the demand was made because of Luckman's declarations that rigid restrictions should be placed on Communist speakers on state college campuses.

The council's San Diego State College chapter had earlier demanded Luckman's resignation after he urged the restrictions during a commencement speech June 12. Luckman has said he does not intend to resign.

After a full council meeting at San Fernando Valley State College, Smith said Luckman should have more faith in the centers of learning over which he presides.

Army Engineers Outline Flood Control Proposal

mouth of Corte Madera Creek, east of Highway 101. Elmore said the project would start at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks, but that no work would have to be done until the widening just east of the Bon Air Bridge.

Arks along the lagoon east of Bon Air Bridge would have to be removed if they are below flood level, Elmore said.

North of the bridge the channel would be straightened out, widened to 40 feet and levees will be constructed, he said. "I think the arks will have to go," he said, indicating a row of arks upstream.

Dredged material along this area would be spread out along the banks including a large swamp area behind Marin Catholic High School. Supervisorial candidate Ernest N. Kettenhofen suggested that the filled area be developed for recreation.

As the tour progressed upstream, Elmore pointed out that:

1. Tamalpais Creek running through College of Marin's physical education complex would be concrete-lined and covered, with the college paying for the cost of covering the channel.

2. From Lansdale Culvert in San Anselmo to 1,500 feet downstream from College Avenue in Kentfield, the creek would be in a concrete channel varying from 25 to 33 feet in width and protected by a six-foot, chain-link fence. From Lagunitas Road in Ross downstream there would be a 12-foot roadway and a five-foot roadway, on either side of this concrete channel.

3. Construction of the channel through the residential area of Ross would require cutting some trees.

4. In the downtown San Anselmo area, none of the buildings would have to be removed because the project would go underground.

5. There would be a 2,800-foot concrete channel along Fairfax Creek, including the Fairfax Park area, 5,450 feet of concrete channel along Sleepy Hollow Creek to Arroyo Avenue.

The tour ended at Granton Park in Kentfield, where there has been heavy flooding in past years. Elmore said pumps would be placed at the creek end of Laurel Avenue to relieve the flooding.

Elmore said the project is designed to protect against a 100-year storm. Several residents asked if such an extensive project is necessary.

"The government doesn't like to build anything less because then it wouldn't be protecting life," he said.

Some residents questioned the need for concrete channels. "Other systems are larger and costlier," Elmore said.

The tour, co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin and the College of Marin, was conducted by the Marin County Public Works Department in conjunction with the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Marin Rod and Gun Club at San Quentin will have a public informational meeting on the project at 8 p.m. today at the clubhouse at San Quentin Point.

Elmore said the federal government will participate in recreational development to the extent of building boat launching ramps.

Mill Valley Has Spate Of Snakes

Two rattlesnakes were reported by residents to Mill Valley police Saturday. One, really a rattler, was shot. The other, a misidentified gopher snake, was set free.

Howard Bleyle of 630 West Blithedale Avenue reported at 12:30 p.m. there was a rattlesnake in his yard. Officer Robert V. Kinney responded and shot the snake, which he said had 10 rattles and a button.

Robert Earl of 524 Throckmorton Avenue telephoned at 6:30 p.m. saying he had found a rattlesnake in his basement. Officer Douglas Stone, responding, found it was a gopher snake and let it go free.

Gets Woods Training

Donald A. Rudnick of 103 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, will be employed for the next six months by the California Division of Forestry at the Youth Training Camp at Oak Glen. He will receive basic training in forest firefighting, and work on natural resource preservation and protection and insect control.

Fair May Fete U.S. Bicentennial

PARIS (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson is laying plans for a World's Fair to celebrate the 200th anniversary of American independence, informed sources said today.

The president has instructed Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to open negotiations for U.S. membership in the International Bureau of Expositions to pave the way for such a fair in 1975 or 1976, these informants said.

Today's report came as representatives of the California World's Fair, set for 1967 and 1968 in Long Beach, met with bureau officials in an effort to obtain the bureau's blessing for their exposition.

Quake Jolts San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP)—An earthquake set off burglar alarms and rattled windows in San Diego Sunday, but police said no damage was reported. Seismologist Fred Robinson said the quake was centered nearby, perhaps in the offshore Coronado Islands.

Bloody Vietnam Battle

BANG LANG, South Vietnam (AP)—Two Vietnamese paratroop battalions suffered their heaviest casualties of the war in Vietnam yesterday as they charged through a Viet Cong suicide squad and routed dug-in Communist forces. The fighting took place 45 miles southwest of Saigon and followed the loss of three American soldiers and 60 Vietnamese in a Viet Cong human wave attack northwest of Saigon Friday.

Watch out! Stare too long at a Catalina, and next thing you know you're shattering another sales record in Pontiac's best year.*

People like to look at big, handsome Wide-Track cars, though. And drive them. And buy them. Obviously. We're selling more Pontiacs this year than ever before. Catalinas, naturally. And Tempests. Le Mans. Bonnevilles. And Grand Prix. Each with Pontiac style. Pontiac ride. Pontiac power. Pontiac resale value. All this is just what you're looking for, you say? Well, okay, go ahead and stare. Wide-Track Pontiac

*Latest figures show Pontiac a solid third place in sales again, up 24.34% so far in 1964, and every Pontiac bought now sets another all-time high.

Benoit is a 1963 graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and Pearson graduated from Novato High School in 1960.

Costly Collection Of Coins Stolen

A coin collection valued at between $15,000 and $20,000 was stolen from a home in Novato yesterday, according to Novato police.

Arlene May Esparza, 36, of 1409 Dawes Street reported to police that her coin collection had been taken sometime between 3 p.m., and 11:15 p.m. yesterday.

Ralph Clyde Heath, 44, of 95 Medway Boulevard, San Rafael, is part owner of the collection, which included more than $1,000 in silver dollars, according to police.

The house had been entered by forcing a back door, police said. Nothing except the coin collection was taken.

Small Turnout For Town Cleanup

Turnout for the annual cleanup day in Bolinas Saturday was a little smaller than expected, James Dougan said today, with about 125 persons attending the noon luncheon following the cleanup.

The people worked on painting all the fire hydrants yellow, opening trails, and cleaning up litter, trash and grass clippings.

Dougan, a member of the sponsoring Bolinas Fire Protection District commission, said 140 persons attended yesterday's pancake breakfast, sponsored by Bay Post 572, American Legion, and its auxiliary. About $100 was cleared from the breakfast to be used for community projects.

celebration, Di Graza said. They handled more than twice the usual number of cases.

"When one considers the big number of people that were in town and the amount of celebrating, by far the biggest majority of people behaved themselves," the chief said.

Over the weekend, nine people reported that their wallets were either lost or stolen, and two people reported finding wallets.

Those reporting lost wallets were: Michael J. Whitlow of 2 Westwood Drive, San Rafael; James Michael Naughle of 744 Wilson Avenue, Novato; Jeffry Lee Wedel of 60 Rudnik Avenue, Novato; Beverly Ann Warden of 1951 Maybe Lane, Novato; James David Doiel of Arroyo Grande; Fritz William Liebig of 23 Grande Vista, Novato; Charles Gregory Clover of 1541 Hill Road, Novato; Ruth I. Fallon of 575 Canal Street, San Rafael, and Frederick Joseph Angeloni of 14 Villa Place, Novato.

Virginia Rose Hoffman of 1663 Center Road found a wallet belonging to Danny Dotto of 142 Maby Avenue, San Rafael. Richard Howard Albert of 15 Fairway Drive, Novato, found a woman's purse containing $8.48 in cash but no identification papers at the Pacheco School grounds on San Jose Boulevard.

COURT

rant upon being denied service.

However, the three controlling justices—Brennan, Tom C. Clark and Potter Stewart—declined to be drawn into the constitutional controversy and their view prevailed for the time being.

In his dissent, Black commented:

"This court has done much in carrying out its solemn duty to protect people from unlawful discrimination and it will, of course, continue to carry out this duty in the future as it has in the past. But the 14th amendment of itself does not compel either a black man or a white man running his own private business to trade with anyone else against his will."

And of the pending civil rights bill, he remarked: "We express no views as to the power of congress, acting under one or another provision of the constitution, to prevent racial discrimination in the operation of privately owned business, nor upon any particular form of legislation to that end. Our sole conamendment, standing alone, does not prohibit privately owned restaurants from choosing their own customers.

"It does not destroy what has until very recently been universally recognized in this country as the unchallenged right of a man who owns a business to run the business in his own way so long as some valid regulatory statute does not tell him to do otherwise."

In the Maryland case, Brennan's opinion reversed the convictions because the Maryland law has changed since they were affirmed by a lower court.

The 12 had been convicted of trespass on June 17, 1960.

STATUE SEEKING AN OWNER—David N. Plant looked out from his Pomeroy Road property in Ross this morning and was somewhat surprised to see a rather-undraped lady standing on the neighboring Livermore property. Plant knew the lady, done in sanded cement, didn't belong there, so he called Ross police. Chief Joseph J. Regoni said anyone missing such a statue should call at the Ross police station for its return. It's lodged temporarily at the Ross town corporation yard. (Independent-Journal photo) would require a population basis for only one house of a legislature.

States traditionally have followed the pattern set by the U.S. Constitution, they said, in which one legislative body is apportioned by population and the other by political jurisdiction or area.

They called last week's court decision erroneous.

If California were required to apportion its Senate on a population basis, they said, 16 of the 40 state senators would come from Los Angeles County and that three counties in southern California would dominate both houses of the legislature completely.

This would mean domination of northern California's water supply.

Southern California could then appropriate all surplus water in northern California by legislative action and make it impossible for the northern part of the state to reserve enough water for its future growth.

STANTON, Mo. (UPI) — New York may have its World's Fair but Meramec Caverns here has the "Underworld's Fair."

Medical Costs Rise 135 Pct. In 25 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 136 per cent increase in the cost of medical care in 25 years was disclosed today by a commission of the American Medical Assn.

A three and one-half year survery, released at the AMA's annual convention, also showed that the cost-per-day charge for hospitalization in the same period rose from $7.41 to $30.94—a rise of 318 per cent.

Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City, chairman of the commission, said the four-volume, 513-page report, reflects "a virtual explosion of medical advances in the past 25 years."

As a result of improved medical care and better standards of living, he said, "the death rate has declined, life expectancy for the population as a whole has approached the Biblical three score years and 10, hospital stay has been shortened and certain diseases virtually eliminated."

He added that "since the quality of medical care has improved greatly and the present consumer price index procedures are ineffective in adjusting price indexes for these quality changes, the CTI overstates the true rise in medical care prices."

As an example, he said, physician fees increased 112 per cent between 1935-60—11 per cent less than the average price increase.

The study listed five significant medical advances and their economic and social benefits, including:

1. Polio vaccine. "The cost-benefit analysis of the polio vaccine showed that during the period 1955-61 an estimated 6.7 billion dollars in medical care costs and gross lifetime income loss were avoided through use of the Salk vaccine," the commission said.

"The cost of developing and administering the vaccine totaled 653 million dollars. Thus the economic benefit during this seven-year period was calculated as being more than six billion dollars."

2. Early diagnosis of cancer of the uterus. "During the period 1930-60, there were 447,000 deaths in the United States attributed to cancer of the uterus. Had the death rates that were recorded in 1930 prevailed throughout the 30-year period, it was estimated that 627,000 deaths would have been attributed to cancer of the uterus. This is a difference of 150,000 lives and the death rate is continuing to decline."

3. Surgical correction of congenital heart defects. "A study of the economic significance of surgical correction of these defects showed that because of the low incidence rate and the relatively high cost of treatment, the economic benefit realized by society may be less than that associated with other medical advances. However, the direct economic benefit per person may be great, since surgery is performed early in life and the correction in many cases enables the individual to survive and lead a productive life."

4. New drugs for tuberculosis. "New drugs have been primarily instrumental in dropping the death rate for the disease from 55 per 100,000 population in 1935 to six per 100,000 in 1960."

5. Disposable syringe needles. "It was estimated that hospitals realized net savings of 4.1 million dollars in 1963 through use of this disposable product.

WESTERN

and furious when a call came of a fire at the old Novato Cemetery at 1:42 p.m. Saturday. Novato firemen turned from playboys to their regular role in a hurry — and the Kentfield firemen went along to help. The blaze, in grass and brush, was extinguished after burning an area about 100-by-100 feet. Firemen blamed it to children with matches.

It was one of six blazes that gave Novato firemen one of their busiest days Saturday while Western Weekend was under way. Four were grass fires. None was serious, but Fire Chief George Cavallero said they gave the department plenty of trouble because of the crowds on the streets which made it difficult to make speed with fire trucks.

Police had a busy weekend, too. Numerous celebrants got out of hand. Worst was a brawl at the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue on Saturday afternoon, which grew to such proportions the Novato police called on help from the Marin County sheriff's force and California Highway Patrol.

The one financial flop was the outdoor dance at the Cloud Five parking lot on Saturday night. Paul Fry, president of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored Western Weekend, reported only two couples paid admission. When it became obvious there would be no paid crowd, the dance was thrown open to everybody for free. After that, there were plenty of dancers.

There was no shortage of crowd at the rodeos Saturday and yesterday. The sponsoring Novato Horsemen's Assn. reported they were the most successful in history.

Dearyl Deardall of Santa Rosa, running for the Marin Athletic Club, took first place in the cross-country race which preceded the parade. He ran the 6.87-mile course in just under 39 minutes. George Weed of Represa, running for the Sacramento Athletic Club, was second, and Sigurd Hope of Novato, a Marin Athletic Club entrant, was third.

In team competition, first place went to the Marin Athletic Club.

Prison Ordered For Felony Tool Theft

Donald Ray Lammerrill, 25, who admitted the April 3 burglary and theft of about $700 worth of tools from a San Rafael construction shack, was sentenced to the Department of Corrections in Vacaville today by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

Sentencing Date Set For Gas Station Holdup

Judgement for Humberto Zelaya Jr., 29-year-old Santa Rosa man who pleaded guilty in the $30 armed robbery of a Standard Service Station attendant May 13, is scheduled in Marin Superior Court July 6.

Victim was Paul B. McCarrick, 18, attendant of the station at 580 Redwood Highway in Alto. Zelaya was arrested only two hours after the robbery on a fishing boat berthed in Sausalito.

either coordination or elimination of duplication of services.

She also hade a pitch for an increase in staff of a new public health nurse, saying only one had been added to the staff in 11 years.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he would be happy to allow the ne wposition if the proposed increase in the clerical staff were cut by the same amount of money.

"If the paper work goes to hell, I could care less," Behr said, "as long as something is being done in the field."

"There comes a time when the avalanche of paper work just has to be faced and met," answered Dr. Albrecht. "We are almost paralyzed."

Leydecker made the motion approving the budget, and said that he would agree to a transfer of personnel allocated within the total funds approved.

Also on the bedside nursing program, Dr. Albrecht pointed out that the federal funds for the program might be cut by the transfer, because Dr. School had said the red tape involved was more than the money, about $7,000, was worth. Leydecker asked that a special study on this question be made.

Anti-Appraisal Center Closes

Sausalito assessment protest headquarters, asking for the abolishment of the county assessor's cyclical reappraisal methods, is closed and A. Leonard Bjorlund Jr., president of the sponsoring chamber of commerce, urged today that persons who oppose the cycle system appear before the county board of supervisors at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

At that time letters of protest, of which about 411 were collected at the headquarters in Sausalito, will be on the agenda.

Protest forms can be secured from the county clerk's office in San Rafael or from the clerk of the board of supervisors, Civic Center, Bjorklund said.

CLARENCE S. LEA

OBITUARIES

Former Rep. Clarence Lea Dead At 89

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Clarence S. Lea, former California Congressman from the First District, died Saturday at his home after a long illness. He was 89.

Lea, a Democrat, represented the First District which includes Marin County in the U. S. House of Representatives for 32 years, from 1917 to 1949.

During his 16 terms in Congress he co-authored an amendment to the Federal Trade Commission Act to prohibit false and misleading advertising of foods, drugs and cosmetics.

Lea was also active in the establishment of the Civil Aeronautics Authority, and he was a close colleague of the present House Speaker, John McCormack, (D-Mass.).

Lea was born to a ranch family in Lake County. He received his law degree from the University of Denver, and he was Sonoma County district attorney for 10 years before he ran for Congress.

He is survived by his widow, Daisey, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor. Services are pending.

MRS. READSTONE

Mrs. Margaret Readstone, 88, a resident of Aldersly Danish Old People's Home for 11 years, died Saturday at the home after a long illness.

She was the widow of William Readstone, a coachman on the Babcock estate in San Rafael. A native of Norway, she came to the United States about 1908 and settled in San Rafael.

Mrs. Readstone leaves three sisters, Emma M. Zirke of San Rafael, and Mrs. Matilda Nelson and Mrs. Agathe Thorup of Norway.

Funeral will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be private.

MRS. JUNE CASE

Mrs. June Case, 43, of Mill Valley was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 7:45 p.m. yesterday after being taken there from her home at 55 Mountain View Avenue.

Death was attributed to natural causes by William C. Bradley, assistant county coroner, who said an autopsy would be performed at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley, where funeral arrangements are pending.

Mrs. Case, a native of Madison, Wis., was the wife of Jack Case who works for Ampex Corp., Redwood City.

MRS. ARFSTEN

Funeral was held yesterday in Sonoma for Mrs. Florence Mary Arfsten, native of Ross, who died Friday in Sonoma Valley Hospital after a long illness. She was 75.

Mrs. Arfsten was the sister of Mrs. Janet Lindley of San Rafael, Andrew Gowans of Santa Rosa and Alan Gowans of Modesto. She is also survived by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Esther Gowans of Santa Rosa.

DAVID WERTHEIM

David K. Wertheim of Sausalito, retired president of Patek-Ecklon Co., San Francisco wholesale meat dealers, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Private funeral was held a few hours later at the San Francisco home of his daughter, Mrs. Lionel Alanson. Burial will be in Home of Peace Cemetery, Colma.

Wertheim was a graduate of the University of California who moved to San Francisco from his native Montana in 1919. In 1940 he married the former Gaby Lazard of Heidelberg, Germany, in Seattle. They moved to 4 Buckley Avenue in Sausalito in 1950 and five years later to the present home at 40 Currey Avenue.

Besides Mrs. Wertheim and Mrs. Alanson, he is survived by a son, Frederick Wertheim of Ross; a sister, Mrs. Richard S. Goldman of San Francisco, and five grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the David K. Wertheim Fund for Cancer Research at Mount Zion Hospital.

MARY FREITAS

Mrs. Mary F. Freitas, 84, of Petaluma, mother of John S. Freitas of Kentfield, died Saturday in a Petaluma hospital where she had been a patient two weeks.

She was the widow of Antonio Freitas. Survivors, in addition to her son in Kentfield, are a daughter, Mrs. Alice Avella of Petaluma; another son, Tony Freitas of Sacramento; two grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

She was a native of the Azores Islands.

Requiem High Mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael. The cortege will form at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Entombment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel.

MARIE ETZOLD

Funeral for Marie E. Etzold, 85, of Oakland, sister of Fred W. Etzold of Mill Valley, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Albert Engels and Co., Oakland.

Mrs. Etzold, a native of Germany, died Saturday in an Oakland rest home after a long illness. She is also survived by two sitsters, Margaret Wolf and Martha Duchesne of Germany, and another brother, Otto Etzold of Germany. Burial will be private.

MINNIE GOTCH

Mrs. Minnie Gotch, 52, a resident of Marin County for more than 17 years, died yesterday at her home, 254 Alpine Street, San Rafael, after a long illness.

She was a teacher at Woodside Way Nursery School in Ross for more than six years until she became ill. Before coming to Marin she was a high school teacher in New York state.

Mrs. Gotch, a widow, leaves two sons, Robert Daniel and Allen Roy Gotch, who lived with her; two brothers, Louis Ganapoler, manager of the Trident restaurant in Sausalito, and Paul Ganapoler of New York state; and four sisters, Mrs. Sonia Shain, Mrs. Rose Mayer, Mrs. Freida Edelstein and Mrs. Pearl Rand, all of New York state.

There will be no funeral service. Contributions may be made to cancer research at University of California.

Tax-Cut Report Due Supervisors

The Stanford Research Institute report on Marin County, contracted for in the hope of finding ways to improve the county tax base and thus to help cut tax rates for homeowners, will be handed to the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

The report was paid for in part by the county and in part by private developers, including the Draper Companies. This fact has caused a charge of conflict of interest against Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker by his opponent in the coming election, San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis.

Leydecker owns stock in the Draper Companies. The supervisor has challenged McInnis to go before the Grand Jury with his charges.

Also scheduled for the meeting, which will start at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center, will be discussions again on the problems of houseboat owners at Waldo Point and of southern Marin residents on the cyclical reappraisal system.

The board will also be faced with the request by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on the Aged that a referendum on public housing be called for November.

A new contract between the county and cemeteries within the county for indigent burials will be suggested by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

An agreement with the City of Novato and developers of the Scottsdale subdivision about flood control facilities will be brought up again by the public works department and use permit renewals for the two Santa Venetia schools for the mentally retarded will be considered.

Burglars broke into an expensive home in Ross Saturday night and carted items ranging from jewelry to antiques while the owners were out for the evening, Ross police said today.

Entry into the home of Virgil W. Asbell, 17 Ivy Drive, was made sometime between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. while Asbell, his wife and visiting father were gone, Police Chief Joseph J. Regoni said.

Items taken, including a small gold antique clock, an AM-FM radio, and large amounts of clothing and jewelry, were valued at $961, according to police reports.

The house was thoroughly ransacked, said Regoni. Juvenile thieves were listed as suspects, he said, since items such as typewriters, cameras and a television set were not touched.

Entry was made through a window or, said owner Asbell, a door which might have been left slightly ajar. Asbell is employed by the Saber Construction Co. of San Francisco.

Book Policy Review

A review of the proposed policy on book selection will be made by Mill Valley School District trustees today at 8 p.m. in the district office. Trustees also will discuss certain policies and election of chairman and clerk in preparation for the annual board meeting July 13.

New Air Force Recruiter Takes Up Duties In Marin

Staff Sgt. Erhardt E. Bonkowski of Petaluma has taken over the duties of the Marin County Air Force recruiter in the San Rafael recruiting office at 819 A Street.

He succeeds M/Sgt. Stanley M. Allen who is retiring June 30 after 20 years of service.

Allen, who lives with his wife and two teen-aged sons at 131 Grande Visita, Novato, has accepted employment as a supervisor with a San Francisco detective agency.

Bonkowski served in the Navy for nine years before joining the Air Force in 1956. He was awarded the good conduct medal several times and has the Korean service medal which represents participation in eight campaigns.

A native of San Francisco, he is a member of Morning Star Chapter 61, Order of the Eastern Star in Petaluma and is a Master Mason in the grand lodge in Washington, D.C.

His predecessor is chairman of the Boy Scouts in the Novato ward of the Church of Latter-day Saints and a counselor in the Mutual Improvement Assn., a youth group of the church.

Clinics For Vaccination Of Dogs Are Scheduled

Twelve public clinics for vaccination of dogs against rabies will be held by the Marin County Health Department during July and August.

Written evidence of current rabies vaccination will be needed in order to purchase a dog license for the year beginning July 1, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Vaccinations may be done at a veterinarian's office or at one of the clinics.

Dogs vaccinated since Jan. 1, 1963, do not have to be revaccinated this year, Dr. Albrecht said, because the immunization with chick embryo vaccine lasts two years.

Every dog brought to the clinic must be on a leash and accompanied by a responsible adult, she said. Children under the age of 16 will not be allowed in the public clinic area.

Schedule of clinics which will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. is: July 7 at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael; July 9 at the County Fire Department in Woodacre; July 14 at Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato; July 16 at the Mill Valley Corporation Yard, Sycamore and Camino Alto; July 21 at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Avenue; July 23 at 500 Tamalpais Avenue, Corte Madera Sanitary District 2 office; July 28, Stinson Beach Community Center; July 30, at the fire department at Point Reyes Station; August 4 at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael; August 6 at Marion School in Novato; August 11 at the Mill Valley Corporation Yard and August 13 at the San Anselmo Corporation Yard on San Francisco Boulevard.

"It is very easy and safe to vaccinate dogs against rabies," Dr. Albrecht said.

"On the other hand, a person who has been bitten by a rabid animal must have a long series of vaccine injections to save his life. This treatment, known as the Pasteur treatment, is painful, expensive and in some cases dangerous."

Musical Melodrama Tryouts Are Slated

Tryouts for the Terra Linda Little Theater's presentation of the musical melodrama "East of the Rockies" have been scheduled for June 28 at 2:30 p.m. and June 29 at 8 p.m. in the Marinwood Community Building.

Singers, dancers and actors are needed for the production, slated to be shown in October.

"Ask any Camel smoker!"

Why Camel?

Well, like most people, Camel smokers shopped around a lot before they made Camel their brand. They still try another smoke once in a while when they run out.

The best tobacco makes the best smoke. It's as true today as ever before.

That's why, year after year, Camel remains the overwhelming choice of smokers who prefer regular cigarettes...the millions of men and women who enjoy the smoking pleasure that goes with Camel Time

GRANT AVENUE THRONGED FOR NOVATO PARADE

Young marchers go through tricky maneuvers as Novato's Western Weekend parade makes its colorful way down Grant Avenue. Thousands of visitors lined the streets Saturday to see 163 floats, bands, majorettes, drum and bugle corps, drill teams and other entries in the biggest parade in the festival's history. Winning entries received cash prizes, trophies and ribbons. Western television personality Marshall J led the parade, and one of the attractions was an authentic Wells Fargo stage coach drawn by a team of horses.

SLIPPERY SADDLE — Rider Gary Kopt of Santa Rosa hits the dust as bucking horse shows his temper in the Novato Western Weekend rodeo. One of the highlights of the festival, the rodeo drew cowboys from all over the West to compete for $4,230 in prizes for the two shows. Sponsor was the Novato Horsemen's Assn.

'LET FREEDOM RING'—Santa Rosa Moose Lodge float featuring patriotic theme won first place in Novato Western Weekend parade for club float built by amateurs. The parade drew a throng estimated by police and firemen at well over 20,000.

WATERY WEEKEND—Novato and Kentfield firemen spent a very damp Saturday afternoon staging their fourth annual waterball fight as part of Western Weekend festivities. On the left, Bob Mariani, Ken Holyome and Rod Biddleman of Kentfield try to push a disc along a wire with a stream of water from a fire hose. Pushing in the opposite direction are Novato firemen Walt Nolan and Jim Berthinier.

FILL 'ER UP—The barbecued chicken at Novato's Wild West Weekend was quite satisfactory, judging by the vigor with which Lisa and Kari Sletten attacked their portions. Lisa, 4, and Kari, 3, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sletten of 706 Alice Street, Novato.

HE CARRIED THE BRIDE

Undaunted by knee-length casts on both legs, as the result of broken heels suffered in a fall nine weeks ago, Sandra Kubisiak managed to hobble down the aisle of San Francisco's Star of the Sea Church yesterday, to exchange vows with Carl Lesher. At the door, her new husband picked her up and carried her out. (AP Wirephoto)

New Racial Clash On Florida Beach

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Negroes and whites clashed at a public beach again today as integrationists sought a federal court order lifting a ban on after-dark demonstrations in this uneasy city.

Nineteen integrationists waded into the surf at the beach and were immediately attacked by a gang of about 20 white men and youths. One Negro girl received a bloody nose and several other demonstrators were struck.

The whites chased the integrationists out of the surf onto the broad white beach and were themselves chased out of the water by highway patrolmen and other officers.

National Chamber Raps Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce called on the Senate today to slash a minimum of 390 million dollars from the 3.5-billion-dollar foreign aid authorization bill passed by the House.

The chamber's spokesman, John O. Teeter, vice president of Pfizer International, New York, endorsed the aid program in general as one which "can promote our national interest" by "promoting the cause of freedom everywhere."

But he urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to cut back President Johnson's original request for nearly 3.4 billion dollars "not to exceed three billion dollars."

Mill Valley Democrats To Map Initiative Drive

Ways of fighting the Rumford Act nullification initiative will be outlined for Mill Valley Democratic club members at their meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Hall ,467 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Legal, local and organizational opposition to proposition 14 will be described by Wyman Hicks, Dr. Sam Hanzell and Harold J. Truett, according to William Ramsey, program chairman.

Business Ransacked, But Nothing Missing

Someone broke into the Camgros Gravel and Fuel Co., 626 Third Street, San Rafael, Saturday night and thoroughly ransacked the building without stealing anything, it was reported to San Rafael Police yesterday.

Entry for the burglary attempt was made by breaking a side window. Roger A. Camgros, owner, of 296 Union Street, San Rafael, reported nothing was missing.

Handbag Is Stolen

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Mill Valley reported to police yesterday that when she went into her home at 376 Edgewood Avenue to pick up the family wash, between 10 and 11 a.m., someone took a purse from the seat of her car containing $6.50.

Civil Rights Bill Wending Way Through House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders started the century's most sweeping civil rights bill past its final hurdles today over shouted southerner objections. The bill's managers said it would be law by July 4.

Formally triggering the last parliamentary sequence before the bill can be sent to the White House, Rep. Emanuel Celler, (D-N. D.), at 12:30 p.m. (EDT) asked unanimous consent of the house to take up the House-passed bill and agree to the Senate's amendments.

As expected, southern members outdid each other in leaping to their feet to object. They objected so fast and in such volume, in fact, that speaker John W. McCormack had to quiet the momentarily while the clerk formally read Celler's request.

This time at least four abjections were heard. McCormack ruled that the official objection had come from Rep. William M. Colmer, (D-Miss.) others on their feet included Reps. John Bell Williams, (D-Miss.), Horace Kornegay, (D-N. C.), and Joe D. Waggoner, (D-La.).

Once that formality was out of the way, Celler dropped in the House hopper a resolution making acceptance of the Senate's amendments in order by majority vote. This was routed to the rules committee.

To preclude its gathering dust there, Celler followed up with a formal letter to rules chairman Howard W. Smith, (D-Va.), asking action on the resolution. Three rules members arranged to follow through with a letter to Smith formally requesting that he call the committee together.

They don't expect that he would, unless forced.

Highway Bullet Victim Reported 'Doing Well'

The 19-year-old San Rafael driver who received a bullet wound in the stomach during a highway brawl over driving manners Saturday was "doing very well" today at San Rafael General Hospital.

Joseph J. Immel of 1722-A Lincoln Avenue was reported in satisfactory condition, recovering from extensive surgery which was performed at the hospital after he was shot during a struggle over a .22-caliber revolver at the side of Highway 101 in Terra Linda.

The other driver, James Warren Baxley, 19, of 116 Ward Street, Larkspur, has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder and is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Immel said he walked over to Baxley's car after being stopped and as he tried to grab the gun Baxley pointed at him, the gun went off and he was wounded.

The Independent-Journal on Saturday incorrectly gave the address of an occupent of the Baxley vehicle, Thomas Ray Vardon, 19, as 119 Ward Street, Larkspur. Correct address, according to sheriff's officers, is 116 Ward Street, same as that of Baxley.

Nazi Murder Camp Ritual Told, Denied

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — SS block leaders used to push for the job of selecting newly arrived prisoners for the gas chambers at Auschwitz concentration camp, a witness told West Germany's largest war crimes trial today.

"They would then return and say things to each other like: 'Look I got a bottle of schnaps' or 'Look how much money I took from a Jew.'" testified Hein Heinrich Duermayer, a 59-year-old Vienna lawyer.

"I deny that. I never decided over life or death at Auschwitz," shouted former SS Sgt. Osward Kaduk when he heard the statement. Kaduk, 57, is on trial with 20 former functionaries at Auschwitz.

Chat With Jail Inmate Lands Youth In Jail

A few words with a friend were somewhat costly for Robert Glynn Lezzeni, 18, of 1841 Lincoln Avenue early yesterday.

Lezzeni was jailed Sunday at 12:20 a.m., charged with communicating with a prisoner without permission. He was later released on $550 bail. According to Marin County Sheriff's reports, the youth was observed talking with an unidentified county jail inmate through a barred window.

New Plea Set To Hospitalize Ruby

DALLAS (UPI)—Condemned killer Jack Ruby's lawyers compiled a psychiatric record today to support their request to move him out of Dallas County Jail to a hospital for mental treatment.

Clayton Fowler, Ruby's chief counsel, had indicated that he might try to see Judge Joe B. Brown today. But Brown was out of town. Fowler said he was compiling psychiatric reports into a record to present to Brown as soon as he returns.

Campus Fire Kills

Durham, N.H. (UPI)—One student died and more than a dozen other scrambled to safety early today when fire swept a three-story fraternity house on the University of New Hampshire campus. The flames raced through the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house where the students had checked in prior to the opening of summer school today.

Three Big Years On His Horses

NEW YORK (AP)—In three full years of riding in the United States, Panamanian jockey Braulio Baeza's mounts have earned $5,021,535. His mounts have won 598 races in that period.

When he began riding here in 1960, Baeza won only eight stakes races but the following year his mounts took down 14 stakes, including the Belmont and Lawrence Realization with Sherluck.

Haitian Strong Man Takes Office For Life

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier was sworn in as president for life today in formal ceremonies at Haiti's legislative chamber.

The chamber was packed to the hilt and thousands of Haitians massed in the streets outside for the oath-taking. Thousands of peasants had been trucked into the capital by the government for the occasion.

Court Sets Trial Dates For Morals Suspects

Ronald Gene Arrasmith, 18, of Boyes Hot Springs, Sonoma County, will be tried July 28, and Harold Dean Arrasmith, 23, of 1679 Hill Avenue, Novato,is scheduled for trial Aug. 4.

Southern Race Schedule Is Set

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Southern Ocean Racing Conference has listed the following sailing schedule for 1965:

Feb. 5, St. Petersburg to Fort venice, Fla.; Feb. 13 St. Petersburg to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Feb. 26, Miami to Cat Cay.

March 6, Lipton Cup, Miami; March 8, Miami-Nassau race, and March 12, Nassau Cup Race, Bahamas.

Doctors Lean Heavily In Favor of Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Chronicle yesterday told of a random sampling of the presidential preferences of 100 doctors attending the American Medical Association convention.

It said the group voted 82-18 for Sen. Barry Goldwater over president Johnson.

Heart Specialist Tell Of Silent Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A New York heart specialist says millions of Americans over 35 may be suffering from hidden heart diseases without knowing it.

Dr. Arthur Master of Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York said Sunday that about two million Americans have heart attacks every year without knowing it, and that as many as four million may suffer from "silent coronary disease" that can go undetected until it is too late.

Failure to recognize heart disease still is a major problem, despite advances in diagnosis, he told the American College of Chest Physicians, meeting with the American Medical Association.

Lack of detection is "an ominous oversight," he said, because it denies the benefits of modern treatment to patients who could be helped.

Dr. Master said that many patients with heart trouble never realize it because they feel no pain. Of 600 patients recently referred to him because of known heart disease, he said, more than a third of them experienced no pain.

And after a hidden heart disease is discovered:

"Work and exercise, but moderately," said Dr. Master. "Avoid all undue emotional and physical stress. Don't get mad at your wife.

"The happiest people I know are those of my patients with silent coronary disease whom I've been able to teach a philosophy of life without stress."

Woman's Back Hurt In Novato Area Traffic

An automobile passenger last night complained of a whiplash injury after a three-car collision on Highway 101, 200 feet north of the Black Point cut-off.

Eleanor Andrews, 43, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Richard in the rear-end accident at 9:15 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol. A car driven by Norman Healion, 27, of San Francisco, hit the Andrews car, which was pushed into a car stopping for traffic driven by Rosin Gust, 46, of Vancouver, Wash.

Boy's Leg Broken As Bicycle, Car Collide On Grade

Kevin Purcell of 141 Vista Grande, was listed in good condition at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco. His bicycle collided with a sedan driven by Elizabeth E. Stuz, 68, of 205 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo.

Mrs. Stuz was traveling downhill toward Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The boy had coasted onto the road from an adjacent driveway, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Flood Control Plan Calls For Tidelots Purchase

Purchases of some tidelots in Richardson Bay are expected to start soon, if the Marin County Board of Supervisors approves the recommendation of the flood control zone 3 advisory board.

The proposal is to raise $120,000 by a tax of about 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation in zone 3 to start to buy underwater land for the floodway through the upper part of the bay.

According to the engineering estimate, flood control will require a channel 1,000 feet wide at the part of the bay between the southwest shore and Strawberry Point, narrowing to 900 feet near Richardson Bridge, and narrowing still more beyond the bridge.

The money would also be used, partly, for more purchase of right of way along tributary streams into the bay. The flood control zone includes all of the watershed draining into the upper end of the bay.

Engineer Mogens Ring of the county department of public works said no formal appraisal of the land involved has been made yet, so no formal estimates are available on how much territory could be purchased.

In another flood project, the board will be asked tomorrow to continue the present $1 tax rate for zone 7, which includes Gallinas Village, to pay, over two years, for a $59,000 36-inch concrete pipe on Hawthorne Avenue to the pumping plant on Vendola Drive.

The pipe would drain water which has flooded the subdivision from nearby hills.

GOP Backs Hike In Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican Platform Committee plans to consider a proposal to raise income taxes — rather than Social Security taxes — to pay for health care for the aged.

"We have always favored progressive taxes rather than regressive taxes," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.), chairman of the committee that meets in San Francisco next month.

"An increase in the Social Security tax, as the Democrats have proposed to pay for their medical care program, would weigh heaviest on those least able to pay," he said in an interview.

Story Of Marin City Traced At Historical Society Session

The story of Marin City was traced at yesterday's meeting of Marin County Historical Society in the gymnasium of Marin City.

Cooperating in the program were the Marin City Historical Committee and several church and civic groups.

The program highlighted the period from the land grants to the present. Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park of Mill Valley told of Mariana Richardson, daughter of Capt. William A. Richardson, who was given the grant to Saucelito Rancho, riding over the hills on her pony, which was later confisticated by Capt. John C. Fremont. Dan Allen of Larkspur, former member of the Citizen's Council of Marin City, and John A. Thomson, former member of Sausalito City Council, brought the audience up to date with the story of Rosie the Riveter. Allen said Marinship was first known as the Bechtel Co. shipyards and that 20,000 people worked there at one time. Twenty-five per cent of these were women. They painted the metal of the ships, riveted and welded.

The keel for the first ship, William A. Richardson, was laid June 27, 1942, and soon was off the ways. From then on about one ocean-going tanker was built per week.

Allen said housing the shipyard workers was a big problem. It was overcome when federal funds were provided for building Marin City. Dormitories as well as single dwelling units were quickly erected.

The wartime buildings have been replaced by modern homes and apartments. To show the public the improvements which have been made, a house and garden tour, under auspices of the Marin Garden Club, followed the program.

Hiker Collapses On Mountainside

A 50-year-old San Francisco sightseer collapsed, apparently of a heart attack, while climbing the trail to the lookout tower on the east peak of Mount Tamalpais yesterday at 2:20 p.m.

Rangers, county firemen and sheriff's deputies carried the victim, Nand Kishore of 100 Broderick Street, by stretcher to the east peak parking lot. He was taken to Marin General Hospital where he was reported in fair condition today.

Factions Differ On Rights Bill Future

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and other top integrationists told the largest civil rights rally in Chicago's history yesterday that Negroes must move quickly to test compliance with the new civil rights bill.

Their call for action was met with a plea for moderation by Roy Wilkins, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It is necessary to move vigorously," King urged the more than 70,000 persons who jammed Chicago's soldier Field for the afternoon rally. "We have a long, long way to go."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), called for immediate compliance with the bill so that "the constitution will be more than just a scrap of paper, but will be the lifeblood of 200 million people."

In Washington, however, Wilkins told a news conference that the NAACP will move slowly in testing the provisions of the new bill. "We ought to be smart rather than loud in the manner we choose to implement the bill," he said. He said King and Farmer were trying to outdo each other in plans for acting on the civil rights bill.

Rev. King told the crowd the Senate action "doesn't mean that we have reached the promised land in civil rights."

He said opponents of the bill have "lost the moral and legal battles" and may turn to violence as a last resort to stall integration.

Even as Foreman spoke, Northern students were starting to pour into Mississippi for the "Mississippi summer project" —conducting voter registration drives and setting up so-called "freedom schools."

Ancient Greek Scheme May Drive Helicopter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A new helicopter, using a 2,000-year-old propulsion idea, is reported in final development stages at Hughes Tool Company's aircraft division.

Ground tests were reported complete Sunday for the XV-9A Hot Cycle research helicopter propulsion system. Company officials said flight testing will begin this fall.

The propulsion system employs one of the oldest known principles of mechanical propulsion. "Hero's Turbine," first demonstrated in Alexandria about 120 B. C., company spokesmen said.

The turbine idea consists of a vessel of water heated by fire to generate gas steam which is ducted into a sphere and out-tilted jets to produce rotation.

XV-9A relies on two gas turbines to generate high energy gases. The gases are forced through the three rotor blades and out the tips.

Initial estimated maximum cruise speed for the system is 150 knots, but later adaptions should push the limit to between 250 and 300 knots, officials said.

De Borba Zoning On Agenda For Novato Planners

The request of Frank J. De Borba to rezone from single family to multiple two parcels of land on South Novato Boulevard will come before the Novato Planning Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

One parcel is at Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard, and the other 400 feet farther south.

The commission will also consider tentative maps of Hamilton Park Subdivision of eight acres across Highway 101 from the north gate of Hamilton Air Force Base, submitted by Growth Properties; Cerro Vista 4 of three acres submitted by Cerro Vista Homes, Inc., and Marin Golf and Country Club Heights of 44 acres submitted by Andrew Talbot.

FIRE FLARES WHEN DRIVER MISSES TURN

A car driven by a Pacifica janitor missed a turn eastbound on Olive Avenue in Novato saturday evening and set fire to a hillside.

Down went the pole. Electric wires set fire to dry grass.

While firemen put out the blaze, Goodwin was treated at Novato General Hospital for scrapes and bruises and cited by the highway patrol for speeding. An area about 100-by-100 feet was burned, firemen reported.

Nerve Graft Gives Teacher Use Of Her 'Spanking Hand'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A three-inch section of nerve grafted into a Los Angeles schoolteacher's right wrist restored feeling to her "spanking hand," she related at the American Medical Association annual convention.

"Unfortunately, we're not allowed to spank," Blanche Sheets said with a laugh in answer to reporters' questions.

Mrs. Sheets, who teaches the fifth and sixth grades, is one of the first persons to undergo a successful nerve homograft — a transplant from another person. Hers came from the newly amputated leg of a man.

Mrs. Sheets is a patient of Dr. Leonard Marmor, orthopedic surgeon at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

Dr. Marmor and his associates started experimenting with nerve grafts in dogs in 1960. In November 1962, he successfully grafted borrowed nerve tissue in an 18-year-old boy who lost five inches of the ulnar nerve from a shotgun blast through the forearm. Mrs. Sheets' nerve transplant was made in December of that year.

Dr. Marmor said that nerve grafting has been almost a complete failure in the past.

Previous nerve graft failures resulted from severe inflammatory response to the foreign tissue, Dr. Marmor explains. He overcomes this by having the "spare part" nerve irradiated prior to surgery. The nerve section is obtained quickly from the donor body or member, refrigerated, and air-expressed to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for irradiation, he said.

Dr. Marmor said the nerve implant acts like a pipe through which the patient's own live nerve can grow again. While sensation has been restored in human patients, motor function—movement control—has not.

Mrs. Sheets injured her hand opening a can of fruit cocktail. It took six months after the operation for feeling to come back to her thumb, index finger, middle finger and part of the ring finger.

She now has full use of the injured hand, she demonstrated, because other, uninjured nerves control its movement.

Our Area Draws Heavy Interest Despite World Fair

More Americans than ever before are now answering the siren calls for touring in Europe and Japan. The World's Fair is making the Atlantic Coast the magnet for more vacation visitors than usual. But despite these counter-attractions, Marin and the other Bay Area counties are already moving toward new high marks in tourism this year.

An added stimulus will be the Republican National Convention in San Francisco next month. A heavy percentage of those attending will not be heading straight home after the Presidential ticket is named, the platform adopted, and the tumult and shouting cease. Out-of-state citizens have heard too much about our great bridges, Marin's outstanding new Civic Center, Muir Woods, miles of redwoods and a myriad of other attractions to pass up opportunity to include these in their Western itineraries.

Tourist travel got off to an early start —and increased tempo this year. May in Marin brought many visitors from all over Northern and Central California. In March, 44,567 visitors to Muir Woods were a 7,000 increase over March 1963.

Our local chambers of commerce and other tour organizations are busy answering inquiries. Also The Redwood Empire Association's San Francisco office received 3,230 letters in April alone. The Association's visitor information center ended its first year of operation June 1 with a record of service to 16,000 inquiring tourists.

If you're not traveling out of the area this year, why not enjoy what thousands are coming from a distance to see?

Explorer Scouts Show Self Reliance

Newsworthy is the 23-day hike eight Explorer Scouts of Post No. 88 are now making along the John Muir Trail, from Yosemite National Park to the summit of Mount Whitney. The Marin lads arranged for mule-pack relays to put their food at strategic points, and also received expert advice on the 215-mile passes over 10,000 feet high.

So much for determination and planning. But especially heartening, in these days of teen-age critics, is the fact that the Explorers also arranged their finances in advance, cutting and selling cordwood. Self-reliance is still a factor in determined youngsters.

That New No-Top Bikini

The new revolutionary style in bathing suits—the bare bosom bikini — is upon us. We imagine that it will forever be limited to private pools and sundecks. The Puritan strain is too strong in American blood to permit such unveiling in public.

We would advise males with a normal voyeur tendency not to cancel their subscripitons to Playboy and rush to Stinson Beach. They will likely be disappointed.

It is arguable that ultra-violet light upon the bared breast can conceivably be a factor in breast cancer. Another reason we doubt it will seriously catch on: most women just don't have the figure for it. What would Maidenform do?

State Leaders Putting Brakes On Hasty Reapportionment Proposals

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—What probably will work out to be a delaying action on the matter of the United States Supreme Court's opinion on state reapportionment is seen in the various comments of state government leaders.

Despite a hue and cry in Southern California for a special session of the legislature and the panic button hit by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who said immediately after the decision that the state "must" reapportion, time has elapsed now, permitting a saner study of the document, and it seems that, while it needs discussion and a plan of action set, there is no immediate crisis of political life and death involved.

SEN. ED REGAN (D-Weaverville), chairman of the powerful Senate judiciary committee, has called the committee together, and probably it will meet later this week to discuss tactics.

These tactics, of course, will be directed to saving, if possible, the present set-up, or a moderately modified version, of the present State Senate.

Senators have more than a cursory interest in the matter, as about half of them would drop into political oblivion if the Senate were reapportioned on the basis of the U. S. Supreme Court decision. New districts would be located in the populous areas of Southern California, and the theory of apportionment on the basis of not more than three counties to a senator banished forever.

THE CHORE at the present time, then, is to see what can be done to save the less populous areas of the state from turning over their resources and political sovereignty to the masses, which is what the reapportionment contemplated by the U. S. Supreme Court would amount to.

While the decision applies to all states of the Union, there is a question as to whether it is enforceable in California, due to other cases pending.

Senator Regan says, in effect, that California should accept nothing until these cases are decided, and that the state should proceed through its attorney general to follow through on the cases to a final conclusion to the Supreme Court itself.

THIS WOULD appear to be the saner method of determining what will be the final outcome of the decision, which the senator said contains "the very seeds for destruction of the democratic process," meaning not only in California, but in the rest of the states as well.

The senator's observation along this line well could extend to the federal government itself, as eventually there will be a hue and cry to the effect the United States Senate is not representative of population, in that states with less population have as much representation in that august body as do states with large populations. California and Nevada are examples—each has two U. S. senators.

In any event, such a complete change of democratic government demands lengthy and thoughtful consideration on how to accomplish it in the best interests of all the population. Senator Regan intends to see that this consideration is given.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Broemmel's Duties And Changing Times

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I read with interest and sympathetic understanding the expressed reactions of some property owners, particularly in Sausalito, at the announced increases in assessed values of real estate properties.

As a former public official and a citizen of our community with some modest understanding of the relationship between real estate values and taxes, I want to express my confidence in the judgment and intentions of our assessor, Bert Broemmel. I know from first-hand experience that he is a man of high principle.

He has a broad knowledge of his job and a personal intent to be fair. It may well be that the demands of his public responsibilities result in comparative "inequities" for some people on the basis of past experiences, but I am sure his actions are entirely defensible and he is trying to do the very best he can.

It is a fact that population increases and business expansion in Marin County have caused great changes in basic values. This has caused our county to assume great increases in public responsibilities, most of which cause large increases in the need for public income.

So, I hope that real estate owners and taxpayers will realize the depth of the problem and maintain an understanding of Mr. Broemmel's job and responsibilities to all citizens of Marin County.

I-J's Editorial On Appraisal Appraised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This has reference to your Editorial of June 11, 1964 entitled "Bagley Appraiser Reform Bill. . ."

I agree that the bill is a step in the right direction. Assemblyman Bagley was kind enough to consult with me and other appraisers before he prepared the bill and we have discussed its progress in the Legislature since that time.

Mr. Bagley, a prominent attorney, is certainly in a position to know that the present Inheritance Tax Appraisal System is wrong in many respects. The political patronage part of it is one of the minor faults when compared to some of its other shortcomings.

The public as a whole appears to be completely ignorant of the importance of this major source of tax revenue for the state. Your statement that "Inheritance tax appraising is not considered a terribly difficult job" is a good example of this lack of understanding. You must have made the statement without thought and most certainly without any research on the subject.

After thirty years in the appraisal field, let me assure you that inheritance tax appraising, if done properly, is the most difficult of all appraisal or valuation work. The inheritance tax appraiser is called upon to appraise and establish the value of both large and small estates when death occurs and the property of the deceased passes on to the heirs.

These estates frequently are made up of every kind and type of real estate, industrial plants, mining, manufacturing, ranching and agricultural enterprises, stock, furniture, fixtures, notes and mortgages, patent rights, ships, aircraft, oil wells, fractional ownership, limited partnership, life insurance policy, accounts receivable, as well as various common and preferred stocks, bonds, debentures, valuable jewelry, antiques, hidden treasures, etc. This is "not terribly difficult," you say.

All of these things have to be located, inventoried, and a value placed upon them to determine the value of the estate. If this work is not done correctly the state may lose much of the taxes it is rightfully entitled to under the law, or the heirs to the estate may suffer a loss by being required to pay too much tax.

1. The law does not require that people appointed to do this important work have any experience or knowledge in the appraisal field. This is almost unbelievable, isn't it? If you doubt it, check the last two appointed in this county. The tax loss to the state could run into millions through incompetent appraisals.

2. The fee received as compensation by the inheritance tax appraiser is based upon the value in dollars he or she places upon the estate. At first glance this does not appear to be of vast importance, but compare it to the cost-plus contractor who makes a dime every time he spends a dollar. He is usually watched very closely. Compare it, too, with the independent appraiser, who is required to certify on his appraisal report that his fee was not contingent in any way upon the value which he placed upon the property. This is required by appraisal societies, the U.S. Government and lending institutions.

There are many more things wrong with the present inheritance tax appraisal system. I lay no blame to Mr. Cranston or his predecessors or either of the political parties for this half-baked system. It has been so good for both parties that they have never informed the public about it. It took a dirty inter-party fight to bring it out into the open. . . .

Bouquets to Assemblyman Bagley for his courageous efforts to correct, through new legislation, this much abused tax program! Correction is long overdue.

Goldwater, Kennedy Views Contrasted

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

Senator Barry Goldwater's main argument against the Civil Rights' Bill seems to be the fact that you can not sew love in the hearts of men through law. The best rebuttal to this stand that I have seen so far was addressed to the Senate by Senator Edward M. Kennedy on April 9, 1964:

"It is true, as has been said on this floor, that prejudice exists in the minds and hearts of men. It cannot be eradicated by law. But I firmly believe a sense of fairness and good will also exists in the minds and hearts of men, side by side with the prejudice; a sense of fairness and good will which shows itself so often in acts of charity and kindness toward others. This noble characteristic wants to come out. It wants to, and often does, win out against the prejudice. Law, expressing as it does the moral conscience of the community, can help it come out in every person, so in the end the prejudice will be dissolved."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Reapportionment Likely To Be Under Republican Saddle Blanket

WASHINGTON — Two far-reaching, nation-wide consequences will flow from the Supreme Court ruling that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned by population:

1. This wholesale redistricting will free the state legislatures from being dominated by rural minorities, will force them to be responsive to voter opinion and turn them into active instruments of modern government.

2. Together with the earlier Supreme Court opinion requiring congressional redistricting on the same basis, these developments at both the state and national level will challenge the Republican Party to make an effective appeal to the mass-concentration of voters in the big cities.

IT IS IN THE big cities where the Republican Party has been withering for many years. The certainty that metropolitan voters will before long have equal representation in Congress and state legislatures means that the Republicans must prove themselves able to win in the cities—or else.

It seems to me that such redistricting is not only morally right but beneficial to the states and to the nation.

When in the Tennessee case two years ago the court ruled that the federal courts should take jurisdiction to make sure that city dwellers should have roughly equal representation as rural voters in order not to be denied their voting rights, Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and some others called it a "death blow" to states' rights.

My view is that the opposite is the truth, that redistricting will prove to be an incalculable boon for states' rights.

THIS IS WHY I think so:

The effect of the state redistributing will be to revitalize the legislatures, to move them to action, rather than inaction, in solving problems which should be dealt with at the state level.

It will mean that as the state legislatures become responsive to all of the electorate, rather than dominated by the disproportionately powerful rural vote, the need, the demand, the pressure from the cities to turn constantly to Washington will decrease.

This is the reason I see the ultimate consequences of the Supreme Court decision as strengthening the capacity of the states to discharge their responsibility to their citizens and thus to protect states' rights by exercising them rather than neglecting them.

I submit that the Supreme Court decision on redistricting serves conservative principles because they work in the direction of arresting the flow of political power to Washington and to retaining political power nearer to the people.

IT IS PROBABLE that the first effects of redistricting of both congressional and state legislative districts will be adverse to the Republicans because there will have to be more urban representation. It is in the cities where the Democrats have been strongest and the Republicans have been weakest.

This fact was vividly illustrated in the 1960 election. Richard M. Nixon suffered acutely in the big cities. Of the 40 cities with a population of more than 300,000 Nixon carried only 14. The cities he carried were all in the West and South except Columbus, Indianapolis and Omaha. The cities carried by Kennedy were for the most part in the large pivotal states east of the Mississippi River.

This will be an uncomfortable bur under the saddle of the Republican Party — but a needed bur. When you consider that the Republicans have received a majority of the congressional vote only once in 34 years — that was in 1946—it is evident that most of the time they will remain a minority and impotent party until they can win more of the vote in the cities where more voters are concentrating all the time.

Arms Race 'Sleeper' Pending In Congress

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A far-reaching legislative sleeper to watch for during the final days of this session of Congress is a bill establishing a National Economic Conversion Committee.

This carefully camouflaged disarmament proposal, requiring all defense contractors to prepare plans for an eventual changeover to non-arms production, will get the full endorsement of the Johnson administration.

Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance will lead a parade of administration witnesses before the Senate interstate commerce committee this week, hailing it as an integral part of the president's program for building the "Great Society."

DRAFTED BY THE Pentagon's "Whiz Kids" to pave the way for Secretary Robert S. McNamara's military base shutdowns and unilateral disarmament moves, the commission plan is being vigorously pushed in Congress by a group of 20 senators headed by Sen. George McGovern (D-S. C.) and 35 members of the House led by Rep. Brad Morse (R-Mass.).

It provides for the establishment of a nine-member commission to be headed by the secretary of commerce and to include the secretaries of defense, agriculture, labor and interior; the Atomic Energy Commission chairman; Disarmament Agency director; the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and the National Aeronautics and Space administrator.

The commission would be empowered to report on the various programs needed for a gradual conversion of U. S. military spending into other areas of the economy.

UNTIL THE JOHNSON administration decided to endorse the commission this week, its major support came from the controversial Council for a Liveable World, which is causing a mild sensation in political circles with its sizable contributions to legislators supporting the peace lobby's disarmament objectives.

For example, the council has quietly contributed funds to the campaigns of Senator McGovern ($22,000); Sen. Quentin Burdick (D-N. D.) ($14,000); Sen. Gale McGee (D-Wyo.) ($8,000), and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) ($2,500).

SIGNIFICANTLY, Senator McGovern is circulating an unpublished report, supplied by the Defense Department, revealing that 50 major defense contractors in 20 states will have their contracts terminated by Secretary McNamara's new economy moves.

"When it is considered that roughly 50 per cent of the total federal budget and about nine per cent of our working force is directed toward national defense efforts," reported McGovern, "we dare not pass lightly over the economic and political factors resulting from a curtailment or a change in these efforts."

Since Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash), chairman of the commerce committee, has privately endorsed the commission, the odds now favor swift approval by his committee and the Senate unless the public strongly protests the legislation.

At present, only three members of the commerce committee—Sens. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.) and Thruston Morton (R-Ky.)—have indicated they will oppose the measure.

Skeeter made it through high school, taking his time, in nine years. If he had a major, said Chuck Crawford, it was probably printing, since he waited for the Davies' boys outside the print shop perhaps as much as any other classroom door.

There is a dog named Duke, we're told, who, during Pony League games in Novato, fetches foul balls from the outfield when told "go get the ball, Duke." Duke is friend and companion of Jeff Akey, third baseman.

It's a grand time of year for the short ones. We saw two boys riding one bike with those long handle bars the other day past city hall, one hunched over the front riding backward with his arms on the bars and feet on the frame, while the other boy went forward, pumping. There's something about three month's worth of vacation and being a boy.

A DEAD SCORPION turned up at our house plus some pinching crayfish. Robby Gross, who recently came into the office with a Wolfback Ridge gopher snake wrapped around his arm, now says he has found someone's pet turtle, which "must have washed down Blithedale Creek in the big June rainstorm. He was kind of battered."

Rattlesnakes were all over the place in Live Oak, Fla., where Slue Cardwell took vacation. He said they came out after a big flood. Florida was hot, 105, and there are a lot of other things, and he was glad to get back to the fog, said Slue.

Asked about his horse, Art Carpenter said Buster is fine but he never comes when he is called, only if you have hay in your hand.

"There are no debits in that great bank in the sky," according to Theodora Stone, banker. This is good to know.

CARL W. GABRIELSON reports that following his talk on "painted gardens" to 75 men at San Quentin, the men all walked up to him, shook his hand and looked him straight in the eye. Many asked him to come back again. "They're just like everyone else," he said.

The latest edition of the newspaper, Sam's Song, is on the stands. It is the third, one being published once a year from Sam's Anchor Cafe, Tiburon. Harry V. Plate is editor and "Yproc Id" is editorial consultant.

Jim Canepa, back from a three-week visit with his wife to Tahiti, says if he were 21 and single he would go there to look for business opportunities.

TAHITI IS LIKE this, he said: "Papaya, pineapple, coffee grow wild. Bananas grow like weeds. French bread is subsidized at five cents a loaf and a child will take a half a loaf to school for lunch, picking off a couple of bananas on the way.

"It is a beautiful spot. The French aren't too friendly toward Americans. People eat a lot of fruit and fish. You can go out the front door and spear fish for your dinner. There is no milk except a little powdered. Teeth are bad, probably because of lack of milk and soft foods. They do not have the new American-type swimming suit but plenty of bikinis. Natives, if they can afford one, wear a bikini; otherwise they wear a pareu."

Lt. William Walsh was getting dressed to go away following his wedding the other day when he discovered to his alarm he had no going-away pants.

He'd forgotten to pick them up at the cleaners. So he went to the cleaners and, though it was Sunday, got them to open up, got his pants and went on his way.

Dredging Studied On Gallinas Creek

The Army Corps of Engineers will look over plans for dredging and developing Gallinas Creek.

Maj. Donald A. Wisdom, acting district engineer, has asked for documents from the county showing authority to do the dredging job and assurances of local payments if the project costs more $200,000. Present predictions have set the cost at about $90,000.

Wisdom said that when he receives the necessary papers from Marin County he will move to seek authority to make a preliminary report on the project. The county is forming a county service area to finance a dredging project up to, but not including, the Civic Center Lagoon.

Man On The Street Speaks Up On Topless Swim Suits, Gowns

WASHINGTON—News reaches us from the heart of the New York fashion industry that the topless bathing suit and transparent evening gown are now being sold to top stores around the country.

For years designers have been working on a breakthrough in swimming and evening apparel without any visible success. But 1964 will go down as the year the bottom fell out of the top, and historians in centuries to come may mark it as the date when women returned to the cave.

NOBODY HAS BOTHERED yet to get the reaction of men to this most interesting and disquieting bit of news, so we took two photographs — one of the topless bathing suit and one of a transparent evening gown — out into the hot Washington streets to ask them how the male sex felt about the whole thing.

First we showed them the photographs and then we asked them what they thought.

The first man we spoke to, said, "M-m-my my g-g-g-osh, wh-wh-wh-ere did y-y-ou buy th-th-those dirty pictures?"

"They're not dirty pictures," we said. "They're fashion photos of the latest bathing suits and evening gowns. Would you want your wife to wear a bathing suit like this?"

"S-s-sure, except sh-sh-she can't sw-sw-swim."

The second man we showed the bathing suit to was horrified.

"My God," he cried, "they've covered up the navel."

"Yes, sir," we said, "they had to in order to do away with the top."

"How prudish can you get?" he said in disgust and walked away.

THE THIRD MAN we spoke to studied the transparent evening gown for a while and then said, "I don't care what they do, as long as they tell us what to do when they wear one of those things."

"What do you mean by that?"

"What are our instructions? How are we supposed to behave when a girl comes out in one of those? I mean, are we supposed to stare or ignore her or ask her to dance?"

"I guess each man will have to decide for himself."

"I think I'm against it," he said.

"Why?"

"It will make my shirt wilt."

The fourth man we talked to said, "I think I seen that girl in 'Playboy' magazine."

"I doubt it," we said. "This is a high fashion model and she only works for dress designers."

"Well, there's something familiar about her."

"What do you think of the idea of the swimming suit?"

"It came out too late," he said.

"Why too late?"

"It should have been put on the market for Mother's Day."

THE FIFTH MAN looked at the photographs for about ten minutes. "If you want my honest opinion, I think this evening dress is a shocking disgrace."

"Why do you say that?"

"The bow should be in the back of the skirt. Any designer knows that."

Two teen-agers were peering over his shoulder and one said, "And they're always rapping us for juvenile delinquency."

The last man we talked to said, "I think it's a good idea."

"Why?"

"It will give the missionaries in America something to do."

NAACP May Go Slow On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the granddaddy of America's civil rights organizations, today opened its 55th annual convention.

Impact of the civil rights bill on NAACP strategy was to be a chief topic of discussion during the six-day convention, which was expected to draw 2,000 of the NAACP's half-million members.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, indicated at a news conference yesterday that the association would move slowly in testing compliance with the bill, once it is signed into law. Wilkins also reacted heatedly to claims by some civil rights groups that the NAACP is too conservative.

Wilkins was to speak tonight at the convention's first mass meeting. Other speakers during the week will include Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), and Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), who helped to guide the civil rights bill to Senate passage; Sergent Shriver, head of President Lyndon B. Johnson's anti-poverty program, and Carl Rowan, director of the United States information agency.

Delegates will make a pilgrimage Thursday to Arlington Cemetery to visit the graves of President John F. Kennedy and Medgar Evers, an NAACP leader who was slain in Jackson, Miss., last summer.

There will be workshop discussions of various topics, including "Accelerating School Desegregation" and "Direct Action."

Wilkins charged that the Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and James Farmer, who heads the Congress of Racial Equality, were attempting to beat each other to the draw in announcing plans for acting under the civil rights bill.

"We don't consider that we are in a race to make the first announcement," said Wilkins. "We ought to use every bit of wisdom we can muster in taking advantage of this bill.

"We ought to be smart rather than loud in the manner we choose to implement the bill. If you have to change the spark plugs in your car, you don't use a sledgeham-

Backers Of Houseboat Pair Set Fund-Raiser

The "Blank Communism Defense Committee" will hold a fund-raising party at 9 p.m. Friday on the ferryboat Charles Van Damme in Sausalito to aid the defense of H. Kenneth and Mary Ellen McCurdy, charged with displaying an obscene sign on their houseboat.

Two bands will provide music, and headline entertainers will appear at hte party, said chairman Greg Baker. Proceeds will defray court expenses in the McCurdy trial.

Dredging Hopes Reported Bright In Mariner Cove

Hope for eventual dredging of waterways in the Mariner Cove area of Corte Madera has increased, Herber C. Leney, chairman of the board of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., said today.

Leney said Dominic Mussi of Millbrae, who owns undeveloped property north of Mariner Cove, has agreed to pay "a good portion of the cost" of dredging in return for the fill which would be placed on his property.

The Corte Madera Town Council last Monday decided to consider the request of the association to pay part of the cost when it reviews the budget at today's 7:30 p.m. meeting or next Monday.

Leney said one estimate on the dredging, which would provide a 30-foot wide channel seven feet deep, was between $20,000 and $25,000. He said the channel would have to be dredged every seven years because of silting.

Marin Architects Win Kudos From S.F. Masonry Institute

Marin County architects have always seemed to do pretty well in picking up awards. And we see that a number of them have recently come in for special recognition by the San Francisco Masonry Institute which has passed out engraved plaques for outstanding designs in unit masonry.

Among them were Crawford and Banning of San Rafael for their work on the Marin Municipal Water District building in Corte Madera. Another San Rafael firm, Gromme and Priestley, was honored for a design in stone of a garden crypt at Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

Neill Smith of Mill Valley, principal in Neill Smith and Associates, San Francisco, received a plaque for his design for the Granny Goose office in Oakland; Masten, Hurd and Gwathmey of San Francisco (Cabell Gwathmey is a Belvedere resident) received one for the Homestead High School in Cupertino, and San Francisco firm Hertzka and Knowles (Wayne S. Hertzka is a Mill Valley resident) has been honored for its work on the Columbus Savings and Loan Assn. Building in San Francisco.

Rex Whitaker Allen of Mill Valley, principal in Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates, San Francisco., can take two bows—one for his addition to the Mercy Nursing Home and Chapel in Sacramento, and another for being named a national vice president of the American Institute of Architects.

HENRY (BABE) GHILOTTI of San Rafael, who sold out his interest in Shamrock Materials Co. a while back, has joined with Sausalito engineering contractor Elmo V. Maggiora to form the new firm Maggiora and Ghilotti, Inc. They will continue temporarily at 509 Spring Street until a new office is chosen.

MORE THAN 1,500 real estate men will converge on Los Angeles Thursday, Friday and Saturday for committee meetings and a directors' meeting of the California Real Estate Assn.

Members of the Marin County Real Estate Board who will attend are: Joe H. Stewart, president; Hugh Marchant, vice president; Blanche Redmond, treasurer; executive manager Daniel F. Deedy, and past presidents Paul E. Crowley and Edward P. Ward.

TWO MARIN MEN have received promotions at Wells Fargo Bank. Donald C. Smith of Tiburon has been advanced from loan officer to assistant manager at the Mill Valley office, replacing John P. McNamara who has moved to another assignment. Derrell C. Ireton of Novato was moved up from assistant trust officer to trust officer in charge of stock transfers at the head office.

Smith joined Wells Fargo in 1960 and was assigned as loan officer last October. Ireton came to the bank in 1958 and has been in the trust division the entire time. He was made assistant trust officer two years ago.

THE THREE CHAPMANS of Chapman's Shoes in San Rafael and Novato—Irving, Irving Jr. and Richard—will be taking turns through Wednesday this week greeting Marin doctors at the Buster Brown shoe booth in the American Medical Convention at Brooks Hall, San Francisco.

Two West Coast Firms Proposing Stocks Merger

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stockholders of Financial Corp of America Corp. will be asked to vote next July 24 on a merger proposal announced Thursday.

The proposal is that stockholders of Financial will receive one share of General America $20 par cumulative preferred stock for each common share of Financial, directors explained.

They could convert each preferred share of General America into 4-35ths of a share of common.

General America, an insurance holding company based in Seattle, Wash., listed assets of $333 million last Dec. 31. Financial Corp., a Los Angeles firm whose main subsidiary is Security Title Insurance Co., listed assets of $29 million on the same date.

Wall Street's Old Symbol Updated

The ticker, called the "900," is designed to keep track of up to 10 million shares a day. It changes speed automatically to keep pace with trading.

The ticker replaces a box-like model in use since 1930.

Alitalia Gains

SAN FRANCISCO—Alitalia Airlines has shown a steady net profit for the past five years in a row, it has been announced. The 1963 fiscal year showed a profit of $1,781,602.

Permanente Will Change Its Name

OAKLAND — Permanente Cement Co. has declared regular quarterly dividends on its common and convertible preferred stocks and announced that the company will change its name to Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp.

The announcements were made by Peter S. Hass, president, following the annual meeting of share holders and a meeting of the board of directors.

The dividend on the common stock is 17½ cents per share, and the dividend on the convertible preferred stock is 62½ cents per share. Both are payable July 31 to share owners of record July 17, 1962.

Hawaiian Firm Hikes Dividend

HONOLULU—The directors of Castle and Cooke, Inc., have declared a quarterly cash dividend of 35 cents per share for the first period of the 1964-65 year increasing the quarterly rate over the 30 cents per share prevailing for the past two fiscal years.

The dividend is payable July 17 to stockholders of record June 30.

In the 1963-64 fiscal year Castle and Cooke paid a regular dividend of $1.20 plus a year-end extra of 30 cents per share. The new regular rate would total $1.40 per share.

Contract Awarded

Health Insurance Costs Keep Rising

CHICAGO (UPI) — The keeper of today's family budget may grumble as he writes out larger and larger checks for insurance coverage — but nevertheless, he continues to write them.

And he in joined by more and more people in a security-conscious United States every day.

The over-all cost of health insurance soared 68 per cent in the five years between 1957 and 1962, according to figures compiled by the Health Insurance Institute. The total amount of premiums paid for health insurance jumped from $5,508,000 in 1957 to $9,269,000 in 1962.

The institute maintains the cost increase isn't quite as severe as it appears, considering the increased number of individuals who are sharing the bill. During that five-year period, insurance companies added 16.5 per cent more policy holders to their hospital protection section alone.

A spokesman for the American Hospital Association said it is impossible to figure exactly how much the average hospital insurance rate has gone up over any particular period "because the level of benefits have changed so drastically and also because of the various types of packages offered." Blue Cross alone offers more than 70 different programs.

How much your insurance costs may also depend on where you are. During the last three years in Allentown, Pa., the rate for the Blue Cross family certificate (the most popular plan) rose 3.5 per cent from $8.55 per month to $8.85. But over the same period, costs in Birmingham, Ala., went up 43 per cent from $6.50 to $9.30.

The rate in Phoenix, Ariz., went from $7.14 a month late in 1962 to $9.46. Columbus, Ohio, saw its $7.10 rate go up around the same time to $7.55. In Pittsburgh, Pa., the old rate of $10.10 was hiked in June, 1962 to $12.15.

According to the insurance companies, their rates go up because hospital costs are going up — from 6 to 7 per cent annually.

The hospital association reports that daily hospital costs per patient rose from $19.95 in 1953 to $36.83 in 1963. Based on these figures, the cost per patient day has increased 7.2 per cent each year.

The amount of health insurance benefits paid out by insuring organizations reflects this upward trend. The amount climbed to a record $7.1 billion in 1962, a gain of 240 per cent over the amount of benefits paid in 1952. In the five-year period between 1957 and 1962, these payments rose 67 per cent from $4,247,000,000 to $7,077,000,000.

The prime reason for the heightened hospital costs, industry sources say is the steady rise of wages received by hospital personnel.

The Health Insurance Institute said that in 1962 wages comprised 67 per cent of the hospital's operating costs. Between 1952 and 1962, the average payroll expense for each employee rose 56 per cent, the institute said.

Since the end of World War II, the institute reports, hospital labor costs have increased 333 per cent, while non-labor costs have risen only about 200 per cent.

Even science isn't helping to make things cheaper. At the turn of the century, the average stay lasted about 30 days. Now it is 7.6 days. Facilities are not always filled to capacity and the hospital must raise prices to come out on top.

The complexities of modern hospital care also mean more specialized equipment and specially trained staff members. Surgery is becoming more complex.

Research and development are more extensive — and expensive.

The different methods employed by insurance companies to keep up with increasing hospital bills are as numerous as the companies themselves.

Blue Cross plans are required by law to set up reserves, ½ cent to 2 cents on the dollar of income. Under the plan, benefits are paid out of the reserves for a specified period of time and then rates are increased in order to replenish the reserves.

The rates are then held at that point for two to four years while costs continue to mount. When they hit the break-even point, the reserves are drawn upon. Blue Cross predicts another increase in two or three years and sees no end to the rising scale of hospital costs.

Still, more people are paying more for insurance. According to Blue Cross, only 10 per cent of the U.S. population had some form of health insurance protection in 1940. Fifty-three per cent had insurance in 1950 and 76 per cent in 1962.

Early Gains In Market Are Trimmed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today in moderate trading. Early gains were trimmed.

Steels afforded consistent leadership but motors turned mixed.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.5 million shares compared with 4.04 million shares Friday, the slowest day in a week.

The steel group apparently benefited from higher steel orders during a period that normally brings a summer lull. Jones and Laughlin advanced 2. Lukens and McLouth Steel were up more than 1 and Copperweld Steel was up nearly 1½. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic tacked on major fractions.

Auto issues lost most of their upward edge as Henry Ford II implied his company was ready to undergo a strike rather than meet union demands although the company is determined to make a peaceful settlement. Chrysler and GM, the market's most active issues, each had a gain of about ½.

Trading in Curtis Publishing was temporarily halted after the company announced copper and zinc ore finds on its land in Timmins, Ontario. The stock was up about 1½ at the time.

New York Central added a full point. Western Maryland was up almost 2, Chicago and North Western gained about 3 and the Pennsylvania Railroad was up a big fraction.

There were scattered minus signs among the utilities and airlines but most major sections were definitely higher.

IBM fell about 1 and Harris Intertype around ½ as the two companies considered an agreement that would put IBM into the office photocopying business.

Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds advanced. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

HE 'SEES' BIG TREE

Nicky Stone, 10, of Hayward, studies the rough texture of redwood bark with one hand, while reading Braille name plate with his other hand, at unique Enchanted Hills Camp north of Napa. Nicky and 32 other blind younsters are attending the camp, getting special lessons to help them become independent in a sometimes hostile world. (AP Wirephoto)

Highest Court Revokes Ban On Passports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court on the final day of the term today struck down as unconstitutional a section of the 1950 internal security act which denied U.S. passports to American Communist party members.

The vote was 6 to 3 with justice Arthur J. Goldberg delivering the majority opinion. Under the law, the government was empowered to withhold passports and thus prevent U.S. Communist party members from travelling outside the western hemisphere.

In other actions today, the court:

1—Ruled 5 to 4 that confessions may not be used in state trials if they are given to the police while a suspect has been denied consultation with his attorney. The ruling reversed the murder conviction of Danny Escobedo, a Chicagoan sentenced to 20 years in prison for the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law in 1960.

2—Struck down by a 5-4 vote the long-time practice in New York courts of allowing a jury to decide whether a defendant's confession was voluntary. The majority opinion said the jury could rule on such a question only if the trial judge or another judge or jury had determined that the confession was given without coercion.

The dissent in the passport case was by justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White.

Kentfield Burglars Gain $1,500 Loot

Burglary of items worth about $1,500 from a home was reported today by Marin County sheriff's officers.

Stephen C. Petrusich, 16 Vista Drive, told deputies his home was entered between last Thursday, when he and his wife left for Reno, Nev., and their return yesterday.

He said a television set, radio, jewelry, bedding and clothes totaling a value of between $1,000 and $1,500 were missing. No sign of forced entry was evident, officers said.

Defendant Changes Plea In Theft Case

Dennis L. Fredericks, 19, of 20 Green Way, San Rafael, changed his plea to guilty to a grand theft charge in Marin Superior Court today and judgment was scheduled for 10:30 a.m. July 13.

He is accused of taking about $400 worth of mechanics' tools from John Kean, 102 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, on May 11.

Gutted Norwegian Ship May Be Stripped Of Loot

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The fire-gutted ship Sandanger, hard aground and now enmeshed in three salvage claim suits, may be stripped of her treasure and scuttled at sea.

The Norwegian freighter and her one-million-dollar cargo of silver, copper and aluminum was beached after a pre-dawn flashfire a month ago when she was steaming 380 miles south of here, bound for France.

She was towed to the Silver Strand beach while still burning.

Navy firemen helped fight the blaze, and the government has removed $260,000 in silver to cover fire-fighting costs.

Nearly all the $100,000 aluminum cargo has been removed. Three salvage claim suits have been filed by firms that towed the vessel and those that helped fight the fire.

Salvage master William Miller said he will remove the $600,000 copper cargo. Then, he said, he may refloat the vessel, tow her out to sea and scuttle her.

Nine persons, including the captain, perished in the fire. Forty-five crewmen were rescued at sea.

A $75,000 suit has been filed by the family of Miss Joyce Wilson, 22, who remains unaccounted for. She is believed to have leaped through a porthole during the blaze.

Testimony from survivors revealed only that the fire apparently started near or in the passenger quarters amidships.

Volcano Erupting Near Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An active volcano about 35 miles northeast of Anchorage in the Chugach Range was reported today by a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service official who had flown over the area.

The crater was smoking and shooting up quite an amount of volcanic ash, said Theron Smith, aircraft supervisor for the service.

"It's the first active volcano I've ever heard of in the Chugach Range," he said.

Areas of volcanic activity in Alaska have been to the west and southwest of Anchorage, chiefly on the Katmai Peninsula.

West Point Cadet Is Home For Vacation

Cadet Sgt. William C. Bradley Jr., son of the assistant coroner of Marin County, has returned to San Anselmo for a 30-day vacation from West Point.

He returns July 20 for his senior year. The parents reside at 38 Ridge Road, San Anselmo.

The National Park Service has camping facilities in 76 parks.

Doctors Fearful Of Annual Check

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The average physician is as fearful as anybody else when it comes to getting a physical examination, say doctors attending the American Medical Association convention.

"Getting a doctor to a physical examination is harder than breaking a wrestler's arm," said Dr. Harvey Widroe of Berkeley, Calif.

The thousands of doctors attending the weeklong convention are urged to take extensive physical checkups by a special clinic, without charge. In past years, such clinics have done a poor business.

Woman Denies Guilt In Illegal Surgery Case

Dorothy Frances Leet, 30-year-old cocktail waitress from Mill Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to a charge of conspiracy to commit an abortion. Trial was scheduled for Sept. 1.

To be tried jointly with Mrs. Leet, of 108 Circle Drive, is Theodore Stephen Caruso, 46, of El Sobrante. Caruso is also charged with the conspiracy in an alleged April 5 abortion of a San Anselmo woman, and performing the abortion, itself.

New-Hatched Tiburon May Face Neighborly Boundary Problems

While Tiburon goes through the time-consuming legalities of forming a new city, its neighbor Belvedere is politely but hopefully waiting on the sidelines, already wanting to change the boundaries of the city-to-be.

At issue is the boundary along the Boardwalk and Beach Road. The Boardwalk is a line-up of stores and offices on land owned by Belvedere Land Co. The joint boundary line of the two cities cuts diagonally through the boardwalk operations, leaving what was meant as an integrated shopping-business area under the jurisdiction of two separate cities.

Councilmen of Belvedere would like to see the area under the name of Belvedere and in years previous had been eyeing at least that area for annexation. But with the incorporation of Tiburon, Belvedere feels it has lost what rightfully belonged to it.

"It seems to me it's in the best interests of everybody to have this straightened out," says Belvedere Mayor Merritt K. Ruddock.

"I'm sure they are interested in discussion . . . Whether we are or not, I don't know; it depends on the council," says Gordon W. Strawbridge, Tiburon councilman now called "chairman" of the council until it takes the oath of office and elects a mayor tomorrow night.

"Tiburon has so many things that they need to consider at the moment," says Ruddock. "I assume they'll let us know when they're ready to talk."

The Belvedere councilmen also want to talk about Beach Road, the most obvious entrance to Belvedere, which now will be in Tiburon. Belvedere would like control.

The boundary line in question cuts diagonally through the Boardwalk shopping center, leaving a portion of the entrance drive to the Standard Oil Station in Tiburon, a part in Belvedere. A corner of the Corinthian Pharmacy is in Tiburon, but most of it is in Belvedere. A front corner of Dixson's Distinctive Fashions is in Tiburon; the major portion of the store is in Belvedere.

Details on where the boundary runs come from the land owner, Belvedere Land Co., whose president David Allen says he would prefer his land to be in Belvedere.

The question of the bisected stores brings up problems which cause councilmen to shake their heads: who would be responsible for fighting the fire in the Tiburon side of the store, or policing the Belvedere side, or paving the parking area? To whom would the assessed valuation of a "split" operation be attributed?

Merchants in the affected stores have a slick business possibility. For sales tax purposes, the location of the cash register determines which city gets the money. If one city were to prove not amenable to what merchants wanted, there might be a quick switch in register locations.

Printer Finds It Really Good Life

Mrs. C. M. Waddey works a 40-hour week as owner of a printing shop and has no desire to retire.

Mention retirement, and she shakes her head.

"I want to work all my life," she says.

British Factory Sells More Buses To Castro

LONDON (UPI) — The British motor firm of Leylands today signed a contract to sell 500 more buses to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The deal brings the number of buses sold by the company to Cuba to 950 — worth about 25.2 million dollars.

Saddle Journeys On The Up Swing

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Traveling with your horse this summer? Then you might need some advice on where to stay. And help seems to be on the way. The Chamber of Commerce here received a letter asking for information on places in the area that lodge horses. G. P. Monard, a Colorado resident who requested the information, said he was compiling a book, "Travel Guide for Horses," to aid those traveling with their steeds.

New Mexico Is Dotted With Ghostly Villages

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Santa Fe County has 33 ghost towns and 29 ghost post offices according to a ghost town map of New Mexico just published by the State Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources.

There are three kinds of ghost towns in New Mexico. First, those which have completely disappeared. Second, those which have buildings or foundations remaining. Third, those which are occupied but have a portion of the historical buildings in a state of emptiness or ruin.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Met fans thought they'd seen it all — Marvelous Marv Throneberry, a 32-inning doubleheader, you name it — until a slim sidewinder from Southgate, Ky., came along and treated the New Breed to the sweetest sight of all — perfection.

And, as Philadelphia's Jim Bunning set down Met after Met in the first flawless pitching performance in modern National League history — a 6-0, no-hit, no-base runner masterpiece in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader — the Shea Stadium faithful were caught up in the wonder of it all.

They forgot to root for the home team.

The fans were with Bunning all the way and the 32-year-old righthander, an N.L. newcomer after nine years with Detroit, didn't let them down. Pinpointing an assortment of curve balls and sliders, he retired each of the 27 batters he faced, a feat last accomplished by Don Larsen of the New York Yankees in a 1956 World Series game.

Charlie Robertson pitched a regular season perfect game for the Chicago White Sox in 1922. Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix hurled 12 perfect innings against Milwaukee in 1959 but lost the game 1-0 on a 13th inning hit. A National League pitcher hadn't won a perfect game since 1890.

Bunning also became the first to win no-hitters in each league, having blanked Boston in 1958 for the Tigers.

The Mets, not to be denied entirely, found a place in the record book, too. Their three hits in the nightcap, won by the Phils 8-2, tied the low hit total for a doubleheader.

While Bunning was spinning the gem for the league-leading Phillies, the rest of the league went about its business with surprising, though less spectacular results.

Houston climbed into seventh place and sent Milwaukee reeling to ninth with 5-2 and 5-4 victories over the Braves. Chicago swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh 2-1 and 7-2. Los Angeles split with Cincinnati, winning 4-2 and losing 2-1. San Franciso trimmed St. Louis 7-3 in a single game.

The New York Yankees beat the White Sox 2-0 and 2-1 in 17 innings, taking the American League lead from Baltimore, 9-6 victim of Boston. Washington won a pair from Kansas City 13-2 and 5-2, Detroit beat Minnesota 4-2 and Los Angeles down Cleveland 4-1.

Bunning was as much aware of the imminent no-hitter as the Father's Day crowd of 32,026 which included his wife Mary and 12-year-old daughter Barbara, the oldest of seven children.

"You always start to think about it after the fifth inning," he said after it was over. "I don't believe in jinxes."

"He talked about it on the bench," said batterymate Gus Triandos. "I'd never seen him so gabby. He must have felt something coming on."

So did Mrs. Bunning. "I was so nervous," she said, "that I lost my sunglasses twice."

Bunning — and everyone else — credited Phils' second baseman Tony Taylor with the game's fielding gem. Taylor dove to stop Jesse Gonder's fifth inning bid in the hole and threw Gonder out from a kneeling position.

Otherwise, it was all Bunning. He doubled home a pair of runs. He struck out 10 and went to three balls on only two batters. Philadelphia outfielders made four putouts.

The crowd roared with every delivery as he got Charlie Smith leading off the ninth, on a foul pop-up. He fanned pinch hitter George Altman, went to a 2-2 count on pinch swinger John Stephenson and struck him out on a curve ball.

Elsewhere, Houston's Rusty Staub went on a four-hit, two-homer spree against Warren Spahn and two successors in the opener with Milwaukee. Second game homers by winning pitcher Ken Johnson and Joe Gaines helped the Colts sweep the four-game set and hand the Braves their sixth straight setback.

Larry Jackson pitched a three-hitter, retiring the last 22 Pirates in order, and drove in both Chicago runs in the opener. Lew Burdette allowed five hits through seven innings in the second game before yielding to Lindy McDaniel.

Sandy Koufax became the second N.L. pitcher to win 10 games, checking Cincinnati in the first game with the help of Frank Howard, who drove in two runs with a single and his 15th homer. Vada Pinson doubled and Deron Johnson homered in the first inning of the nightcap for the Reds' margin.

FERRARIS SWEEP LE MANS

LE MANS, France (AP) — Ferraris won the famed 24-hour Le Mans auto classic yesterday, but the Ford team which made an early challenge was confident today it was gaining on the persistently winning Italians.

Ferrari protoypes finished 1-2-3 with a Ford-powered Cobra in fourth place at the finish of the race marred by the death of three spectators who were killed by flying debris by a collision from which the drivers escaped injury. It was a far cry from the accident that killed 79 spectators in 1955.

The winning Ferrari, driven by Jean Guichet of France and Nino Vaccarell of Italy, set a speed record of an average 121.5 miles per hour and a distance record of 2,911 miles. The previous records of 117.84 m.p.h. and 2,828 were set last year by another Ferrari.

The Ford factory challenge dissolved quickly with mechanical ills. Ford's colors passed then to Carroll Shelby of Venice, Calif., builder of the two Cobra works entries with Ford engines and two similar cars entered privately.

One of Shelby's cars, driven by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Bob Bondurant, of Los Angeles, finished fourth over-all and first in the grand touring category.

Shelby was happy with his team's performance and the Ford people were pleased to have done so well in their first at Le Mans.

GETTING SETTLED

"We're getting settled down now after three defeats in Europe," Shelby said. "We will be in even better shape for the Reims 12-hour race July 4-5. There are five more races this season and I hope to make them all."

Two Fords went out with broken gear selector forks in their Italian made transmissions.

"You can assume we are working on our own transmissions," said a Ford representative with a smile. "They knew we were here," said another Ford spokesman. "We didn't expect to win. We only hoped to finish."

A Ford driven by Richie Ginther of Granada Hills, Calif., and Masten Gregory of Kansas City took an early lead before forced out by transmission trouble on the 64th lap.

The Ford driven by Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., and Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, also was in contention before forced out by persistent gear box trouble near dawn.

Before this happened Hill and McLaren had climbed from 44th to fourth place and set a lap record of more than 131 m.p.h.

Only about half of the 575 starters finished.

Giants, Reds Open Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Bolin will be looking for his second victory of the season tonight when tees off for the San Francisco Giants against Cincinnati.

Bolin (1-2) will face John Tsitouris (3-4) in the opening game of a three-game series here.

The Giants beat St. Louis 7-3 yesterday, gaining a 2-2 split for their series with the Cards. They are still in second place, trailing the National League leading Philadelphia Phils by two full games.

The Redlegs are in third and trail San Francisco by 2½ games. So it's obvious they will be hungry.

Rookie Hal Lanier, recalled from Tacoma only recently, was the hitting hero for the Giants yesterday. He smashed four hits and drove in three runs.

Lanier has 8 hits in 17 trips to the plate for a blistering .471 average.

Paced by Lanier, the Giants bombed the Cards for 13 hits. Orlando Cepeda cracked three doubles and batted in a run and Jose Pagan went three for three and drove in a run.

Bob Skinner dropped Harvey Kuenn's fly to right to lead off the first, and the costly fumble was an omen to Cardinal hopes.

Kuenn reached second on the error and scored on Lanier's single to center. Lanier came home on Cepeda's double after Jesus Alou had lined out and Mays walked.

The Giant two-run lead was never topped but Skinner partially atoned for his bobble of Kuenn's fly when he drove a double to the left-center field wall scoring Flood and Brock to knot the score 2-2 in the bottom of the first.

Cepeda doubled for the second time after two were out in the third. Davenport walked and Del Crandell singled scoring Cepeda. Davenport moved to third on Crandell's hit and scored the winning run on Jose Pagan's single to left.

The Giants chalked their two final runs in the ninth on Lanier's first major league home run and Willie Mays 22nd homer of the season.

Two Marin Men Win Net Titles

Two Marin County men won championships yesterday in the Portola Valley tennis tournament.

Henry Jungle of Hamilton Air Force Base won the men's singles title and Bob Hill of Mill Valley copped the championship in singles for men aged 45 and older.

Ralston Is Upset At Wimbledon

WIMBLETON, England (AP) — American Davis Cup star Chuck McKinley easily won his opening round match in the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament today, but his Cup teammate, Dennis Ralston, went down to defeat.

McKinley, the defending champion from San Antonio, Tex., coasted to a 6-2, 6-1, 6-3 victory over Terry Ryan of South Africa, on the center court.

Ralston, seeded fifth, dropped a long match to Tony Pickard of Britain, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 9-7, and became the first seeded player to lose.

Pickard is only ranked fifth in England and has occasionally represented Britain in the Davis Cup, but only in doubles.

McKinley and Ralston teamed to win the Cup from Australia last December.

Four other Americans won their opening matches.

Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., defeated Stanley Matthews, Jr., of Britain, 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Cliff Richey, Dallas, defeated Andrew Licis, who is stateless, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3.

Hugh Stewart, South Pasadena, Calif., defeated Ray Senkowski of Detroit, 6-4, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2.

Besides Senkowski, two other Americans went down in the first round.

Tomas Lejus of Russia, who went to the finals of the Queen's Club tournament last week, defeated Allan Fox of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

McKinley survived a mild rhubarb over a magazine article he authorized, before he took the court and won. There had been talk he might be barred because of a rule against players writing stories about the tournament, but officials let him play.

Vamonos Surprise Regatta Winner

The upset of the day in yesterday's Encinal Yacht Club's regatta occurred in Cruising Club "B" division with Bill Stewart's Vamonos of St. Francis Y. C. romping home the winner by a near nine-minute margin, corrected time, over second placer Amorita, Henry Grandin's San Francisco Y.C.'s entry.

It was Vamonos' first win in bay races and was accomplished by some astute sailing by Stewart. On the second thrash to windward out to Crissey Buoy, he chose to beat up the city front whereas the other boats to the fore headed for Angel Island, and that was an unwise choice.

In Cruising Club "A," Santana again had company in a surprise starter, Jim Wilhite's Athene. It was a good tight race with Athene moving out into an early lead. Yet, once in the groove, Santana hung tough and finished but three minutes behind her larger rival on elapsed time.

On corrected time, it was Santana by nearly four minutes. Hank Easom was forced to scratch his eight-meter Yucca from the race due to a recurrence of his back problems.

It was a near perfect day for the regatta, good winds and smooth seas; quite the opposite of conditions faced by the class boats on Saturday. That was a day of 25 knot winds and heavy seas and casualties were heavy as at least five boats were dismasted.

Bill Trask of the host club piloted his Farallone Clipper sloop Hoyden II to an easy victory over 10 opponents in Class C with Javelin second place.

In Performance Handicap events, here are the winners: Division 9-I, Ripple; Division 10-J, Jonmar; Division 11-K, Genii; Division 14-L, Atlanta; Division 15-M, Baum's Away.

MARIN YOUTH WINS PACIFIC TENNIS TITLE

Andy Moffat, 11-year-old Mill Valley youngster, won the boys 12 singles title Saturday in the week-long 75th annual Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championships at the Berkeley Tennis Club.

With a strong finish, Andy defeated Chris Couture of Modesto, 7-5 and 6-1.

There were nine other Marin netters among the 286 entrants but they were unable to gain berths in the final round.

Knalfec Ends Grid Career

Gary Knalfec, a 10-year veteran of the National Football League who played offensive tight end for the San Francisco 49ers, has retired, according to head coach Jack Christiansen.

Knafelc, who lives at Green Bay, Wis., was a college star at Colorado. He was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals and then played with the world champion Green Bay Packers in 1961-62.

He is the third 49er from last year's squad to announce retirement. Tackle Leo Nomellini and back Joe Perry previously said they would retire.

Bear Crew Shouts: Bring On Harvard

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "Bring on Harvard" chanted Jim Lemmon's jubliant California varsity crew today as they finished celebrating their decisive victory in the Intercollegiate Rowing Championships.

Now it was back to work for Lemmon's strapping unbeaten crew, who will work out on Cornell's Cayuga Lake before traveling to New York for the Olympic trials at Orchard Beach Lagoon July 8-11.

Second seeded in the two-day 2,000-meter championships on Ondaga Lake, the Golden Bears swept confidently to victory by two lengths over Washington's dark horse Huskies Saturday.

Cornell, defending champion and the strong favorite, was third by about another half-length.

California, rowing 39 strokes a minute through the body of the race, sprinted into the lead at about 450-meter mark and opened water the rest of the way. The Bears went to a count of 40-41 at the finish. They made their first appearance in Eastern waters, plan to stay East for the Olympic trials and a possible trip to Tokyo.

SEEKS PERMISSION

"I still don't have permission from the athletic director. Maybe I better call him" Lemmon said with a glint in his eye.

Washington's crew also plans to stay in the East and compete in the Olympic trials.

But Stork Sanford, whose Cornell crew had hoped to take its 22nd IRA crown was undecided. "We'll wait and see," he said.

Legion Team Divides Pair

American Legion Wilkins Post team of San Rafael split a pair of weekend games with Fairfield, winning 12-4 Saturday at Albert Field in San Rafael, then losing 9-5 on the road yesterday.

San Rafael pitcher Bill Lee held the visitors to three hits and struck out 11 while his teammates were banging eight hits in Saturday's triumph. Dave Beswick with a double and single and Bill Brody with a triple and single, led the Wilkins batters.

In yesterday's game, Bill DiGrazia had a home run, Brody came through again with a double and a single, and Beswick also had a double for San Rafael.

San Rafael Yacht Off For Tahiti

O'Rion, the yacht owned and skippered by J. C. Tinkler of San Rafael, and Mistral, the largest boat in the seven-boat entry list, were the first out of the gates in the Tahiti Race which started Saturday from Los Angeles.

Because of light winds, the start of the race was delayed for one-half hour and didn't get going until 12:30 p.m.

Bolero Has Lead

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Bolero, a 73-foot yawl skippered by Tim Moseley of San Carlos, Calif., held a slight lead on the field after one-third of the Newport to Bermuda yacht race.

Stormvogel, a 73-foot ketch of Cornelius Bruynzeel of South Africa, was within hailing distance of the leader, according to sightings made by the U. S. Coast Guard.

Venturi—The Ben Hogan Of The Future?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The white cap, stiff-legged walk and shots that fly at the pins as if fired from a machine — once the trade marks of the great Ben Hogan — may again become a source of fear in big-time golf.

During the next decade, the Golden Boy who turned to tarnish should be a formidable challenger for the No. 1 position in the game.

He won the 64th Open impressively.

While the sport's finest players folded under the last day pressure and oven heat, the lean Californian took the big course apart Saturday with finishing rounds of 66 and 70.

Venturi is cut from the Hogan bolt of cloth, although in physical appearance he is taller and leaner, and in temperament less grim and more relaxed.

But he gives a definite impression of Hogan as he strides up the fairways with a stiff, jerky walk — the white-billed cap pulled low over his eyes — and hits his shots with methodical precision like a tailor sewing a shroud for his adversaries.

His swing is one of the best golf has seen. He has power off the tee. His iron play is almost faultless and, like any champion, he is better than an adequate putter. He is a stylist of the old school, in contrast to the modern "home run hitters."

Venturi's payoff for his dramatic triumph comeback was $17,000. He should realize another $100,000 - plus in other benefits that go with the U.S. Open championship.

Tommy Jacobs, leader after three rounds, wilted to a 76 on the final 18 and was four shots behind Venturi at 282. He won $8,500.

First round leader Arnold Palmer faded badly down the stretch with rounds of 75-74 to finish in a tie with Gay Brewer Jr. for fifth place at 286.

Other leading scorers:

Bill Collins, 287 ($3,000); Dow Finsterwald, 288 ($2,500); Johnny Pott and Bob Rosburg 289 ($1,950 each); George Bayer, Gene Littler and Don January, 291 ($1,333 each).

Tony Lema of San Leandro, winner of the two straight tournaments prior to the National Open, finished at 293. Pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus wound up in a tie at 295.

Marin Runners In Easy Novato Win

Darryl Beardall led Marin Athletic Club runners to a resounding victory in the first Western Weekend Cross Country Run through the streets of Novato Saturday.

Beardall, of Santa Rosa, toured the 6.65-mile course in 38 minutes and 17.2 seconds to win first place honors out of a starting field of 104. Out of that huge field, 78 finished the race.

Five Marin A.C. runners were among the first nine competitors to finish the sun, so Marin easily won the team trophy with a total of 26 points. With the inverted scoring used in cross country events, Marin was far out in front of second place San Francisco Track Club with 101 points and third place Golden Gate Track Club with 102 points.

Then came Sunnyvale High School with 126 and the Redwood City Striders with 201 points.

Marin A.C. runners to follow Beardall were Sigurd Hope, third; William Ferlatte, fourth; Keith Krieger, fifth, and Carl Jensen, ninth.

The last man to cross the finish line, Dennis Bianco of the Redwood City Striders, took 1 hour, 5 minutes and 12 seconds to complete the course.

Beating that time and one other was Donna Thurlby of the Laurel Track Club of San Francisco, the only girl entered in the race, with a time of 58:42.7.

As far as the runners were concerned, everything was going fine until they reached the steep hill at Canyon Ridge at about the midway point in the race. The hill proved the better of a few runners who dropped out.

The course, starting from the main Novato firehouse, led the runners through the main part of the city, up Canyon Ridge, across to Indian Valley Road and back to the firehouse.

The event was sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce as part of the Western Weekend activities and is expected to become an annual part of the celebration.

Softball Victory

The Indian Valley Lumber softball team of Corte Madera scored a 5-2 victory over the Terra Linda Merchants yesterday at Albert Park in San Rafael. Winning pitcher was Marty Granados.

Treemen Get Split In Doubleheader

Earl Loew pitched a sparkling three-hitter to give Sohner Tree Service a 2-1 victory over Parkside Merchants of San Francisco and a split in Saturday night's doubleheader played at Albert Park, San Rafael.

In the nightcap, the Treemen tallied twice in the first inning on hits by Earl Beyer, Dave Hughes, and Art Donati, and then held on behind Loew's superb hurling to grab the verdict.

B-H Team Stops Tiburon Sox On One-Hitter

Behind the one-hit pitching of Jerry DeRosa, the Billings-Hutchison Builders of San Rafael remained tied for the top spot in the Marin County Semi-Pro Baseball League with a 6-0 win over the Tiburon Sox yesterday at San Rafael's Albert Field.

Lone hit off DeRosa, who had to leave the game in the seventh inning because of the heat, was a drag bunt by Tiburon centerfielder Chip Collins in the top of the fourth inning.

M & M Boys Heroes For Mill Valley

The M&M boys of Mill Valley, Fred Mack and Jess Munyon, led the Merchants to their opening game win in the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League yesterday, 5-1 over the San Anselmo Merchants.

Munyon had a great day, rapping a double and three singles in five trips to the plate, and Mack hit a 433-foot home run which was measured by Bob Selna, Mill Valley manager, at Memorial Park in San Anselmo.

Keith Fraser, who needed help in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and no outs, was credited with the victory. Getting the "save" was Dave Perlis, who did a great relief job.

Aussie Rod Laver Wins Top Money In Pro Tennis

MONTEREY (AP) — Australian Rod Laver collected top money yesterday in the Monterey Professional Tennis Tournament with a 10-8, 6-1 victory over Alex Olmedo of Peru.

In doubles play, Laver teamed with Butch Buchholz of the United States to beat fellow Australians Ken Rosewall and Lou Hoad 6-3, 13-15, 6-4.

Rosewall defeated Andres Gimeno of Spain in straight sets for the singles third place.

Other money winners included Rosewall $1,000, Gimeno $650, Buchholz $550, Hoad $500, Luis Ayala of Chile $450, and Pancho Gonzales of the United States $400.

DeMaestri's In 9-8 Win Over Novato Club

DeMaestri's Fairfax Garage baseballers watched their nine-run lead dwindle to only one run yesterday as they nipped the Novak Builders of Novato, 9-8 to remain tied for the lead in the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League.

After the Fairfax team jumped off to a 9-0 lead, the Builders started closing the gap, only to fall one run short. Gary Johnson, the Fairfax winning hurler, picked up his second straight league triumph. The game was played on the Novato High School diamond.

Quote the Raven, a Little More

And, so we return to the Land of straight-back enchantment, if for no other reason than to determine whether it was a good idea to dump all that tea in Boston Harbor. Trying to fathom the logic of custom decreeing all commerce cease activities promptly at 1:00 P.M. Saturdays, while Parliament wrestles with measures calculated to boost the economy, can move one to applaude the tea dumpers.

A drastic extreme is the nauseating sight of mangy beatle-proto types, who travel in packs in apparent need for ego-bolstering companionship. These hopelessly retarded teenagers should make us properly grateful for our own, who may sometimes present us with worrisome moments, but rarely turn our stomachs. I tell you, citizens, go abroad, and you, too, will return a dedicated flag waver—American, that is.

It was interesting, though mystifying, to see the huge ravens zealously protected by apparent royal order, strut arrogantly around the grounds of the Tower of London. The pigeons and other birds had doubtlessly discovered the wisdom of giving this unpretty beast of prey a side berth. Frankly, I didn't get too close, either. Ultimately, we were re-herded to the airport, where we frantically spent the few pounds, shillings, and pence we had left, at the duty free shops. These British don't miss too much, at that. You travelers with pre-war memories may recall the status-symbol mark of the sophisticated world traveler: luggage stickers. Now, of course, in this enlightened and dissipated age, stickers are passe'. A neatly packed carton of garishly-labeled duty free booze is the new accepted mark of the knowledgable traveler. Being three, we were entitled to three cartons. Being weak and already overloaded with baggage, we carried one.

In the interest of minimizing the sour grape content of this literary recital, I'll skip over the two-hour visit with customs at New York. And determined to exude sweetness and light, I'll skip over too, our short, but not short enough ride in a New York cab. The crudity and rudeness of this species cannot be accidental. It has to be cultivated.

We actually enjoyed a nostalgic two-day stopover in Detroit, where, as expected, I succeeded in getting lost every time on a straight express way. It wasn't easy, but I managed it. The family was properly impressed with the over-dressed California contingent in the rented Continental. (I'm loyal to you, Mr. Ford. I would have Thunderbirded, but our ten or eleven bags would have crowded us to three in two bucket seats—slightly impractical.) Old landmarks were gone, including the blackened stone City Hall where I peddled papers. But, the Saunder's Hot Fudge Sundae and Vernor's Ginger Ale were abundantly available, and all was well with the world.

The memories of our trip are already fading, in the day-to-day pre-occupation of peddling Fords. No, that's not right. You peddle papers; you sell Fords. Peddle-smeddle. We've got acres of new Fords, and Doug Cowan keeps looking at me suspiciously. I'm sure he's wondering where my marbles went when I ordered all these cars and trucks from the eager factory men, I keep reassuring him Ames Ford is equal to the task, and soon there'll be acres of space between the cars.

Doug keeps calling me the "world traveler", which in itself is not bad. Except he used to call me a cracker-jack automobile man. So, this traveler will swing around to still another oft-visited land, and borrow from our Land of enchantment—Hawaii. If you should pass by Francisco Boulevard this coming weekend, and spot our men arrayed in Lava-Lavas, swaying in time to an Hawaiian trio, complete with genuine Hula girl, rub your eyes, and come on in. We'll quote you a deal on a new Ford or used car that'll be music to your ears.

Car's Floor Mat Blamed For Blaze

A smouldering floor mat, carelessly thrown from a car on Highway 101, caused a seven-acre grass fire Saturday afternoon beside the California Park overpass south of San Rafael.

Flames burned to a point several hundred yards short of the Hutchinson quarry 65 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard before firemen had the blaze under control at 4:05 p.m. Four units from the Marin County Fire Department and two from Larkspur responded to the alarm at 3:27 p.m.

Firemen said someone had tossed a burning auto floor mat into dry grass near the overpass.

The secret of silk making was carried to Europe from the Orient in 550 A.D. by two Persian monks in the service of the Roman Emperor Justinian.

Boys Admit Candy Raid On Little League Stand

Two San Anselmo boys have been charged with breaking into the refreshment stand near the Little League diamond in San Anselmo's Memorial Park and taking dozens of candy bars, pack of gum and boxes of other goodies.

Juvenile citations were issued to the 13 and 14-year-old boys last night after they admitted removing the padlock on the building and stowing their loot in nearby bushes, Police Chief Raymond P. Buchignani said today.

Officer Michael Berney discovered the break-in at 10:10 p.m. yesterday and questioned the boys, who were walking on Sais Avenue away from the park, eating sunflower seeds. They admitted being in the park but denied having taken the food.

When questioned separately, their reports differed and one of the boys took police to the place where the boxes of sweets were hidden.

Both are scheduled to appear before the juvenile probation department Thursday and are in their parents' custody.

GOP Women To Hear Small School Leader

Mrs. Winifred Frederick, director of the California Small School Districts Assn. will speak on "A Referendum on the Unruh School Reorganization Act" at a meeting of the Tamalpais Federation of Republican Women at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Kent School in Kentfield.

Mrs. Frederick has said the referendum was started by persons who believed the act an improper and unconstitutional attempt to force reorganization of school districts.

'Navy Training'

Naval Commander P. C. Llewellyn will speak on "Navy Training" at the next meeting of the Naval Reserve Composite Unit 12-17 to be held tomorrow, 7:30 p.m. at College of Marin, room 35. The reserve unit meets on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

Patricia A. Baird Recites Vows At Mission Ceremony

In a double-ring rite at Mission San Rafael Arcangel, Patricia Anne Baird became the bride of David LeBeck. The Rev. John McCarthy performed the June 13 ceremony.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert LeBeck of Corte Madera. He is the brother of Patricia, Ann and Steven LeBeck.

For her wedding, Patricia chose a floor-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta trimmed with Alencon lace and seed pearls. She was escorted to the altar by her father.

Maid of honor was Ann LeBeck and bridesmaids were Marie and Aileen Kennedy of Bakersfield and Pamela Preuss of Santa Barbara. The honor attendants were dressed alike in blue floor-length gowns.

The bridegroom's brother, Steven, was best man and ushers were Glenn Wentz and Stanley Chapman of San Anselmo and Alan Gizzi of San Rafael.

Patricia is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton S. Green of Arcadia and Mr. and Mrs. John Manka of Albuquerque. She attended Dominican Upper School and the University of California.

The grandson of Mrs. Mary LeBeck of Storm Lake, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Levant Pease of San Francisco, David was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin. He is employed by the Indian Valley Lumber Co.

The young couple went on a wedding trip to Carmel following a reception at the Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base. They will live in San Rafael.

Martha Claire Tobener Is Wed In St. Patrick's Church Rite

Martha Claire Tobener became the bride of James Brodie Smith Saturday in a nuptial mass at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur. The Rev. James Healy officiated. During the ceremony the blessing of Pope Paul VI was bestowed on the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edward Tobener of Corte Madera and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brodie Smith of Red Bluff.

Martha was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Holy Names and Portland University. She is the sister of Mrs. Louis Dallara and Ralph Tobener Jr. of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Joel Kiff of Corte Madera.

A recent graduate of Portland University, James is a lieutenant in the Air Force.

Following a reception at the Meadow Club, the young couple went on a wedding trip to Yosemite. Later in the summer they will go to Texas where he will be stationed.

MR. AND MRS. DE VERNE POTTER

Potter-Lowery Nuptials Held

Married recently in a double-ring ceremony at the Chapel of the Bells in Reno were Suzanne Lowery and DeVerne Potter. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mead of Novato and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Potter of Point Reyes Station.

With her aunt, Mrs. Glenda Smith as her honor attendant, Suzanne was given in marriage by her father. For the occasion she wore a pink afternoon dress.

Suzanne has two brothers, Timothy and Carl and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Ella Howard of Claysville, Pa., and Mr. Chester Lowery of Geneva, N.Y. She attended San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools.

DeVerne is the brother of Kenny and Morey Potter. He graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is now in the Army stationed at Limestone, Me. The young couple drove to his post after their wedding. Upon completion of one more year in the service, they will return to Point Reyes Station where DeVerne will be associated with his father in business.

Campbell-Broshear Nuptials Held Yesterday In Novato

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Broshear of Novato was the setting for the wedding of their daughter, Lura Michelle Broshear and Herman E. Campbell yesterday.

The Rev. O. Max Bradford of the Church of Christ of Novato performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white floor-length gown of peau de soie. Her honor attendant, in an electric blue satin floor-length dress, was Amelia Azevedo of Novato.

Bruce Bradford of San Pablo was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Campbell of Charleston Heights, S.C. He is with the U.S. Army stationed in Marin County. Herman is the brother of M. L. Campbell of Florida, Mrs. L. E. Sessoms and M. L. Campbell of Charleston, and R. G. Campbell of Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended Marinello Beauty School. She is a member of the Novato Assembly 194, International Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Parties Given Mill Valleyan To Mark His 90th Birthday

Several parties are being given to honor the 90th birthday of Albert von der Werth Sr. of Mill Valley.

Saturday he was a guest of honor at a dinner party given by Mrs. L. M. Peterson of Mill Valley, and Sunday, his actual birthday, a picnic was planned for him by Mrs. Andrew Cassell at her home in Mill Valley with 15 guests, mostly relatives of Mr. von der Werth.

Tonight his two sons, Albert Jr. and Gordon, will take the von der Werths to dinner in Marin, and next week his stepdaughter, Mrs. Victor Lund, will have a dinner party for him at her Sea Cliff home in San Francisco.

Mr. von der Werth was born on June 21, 1874, in a small town near Dusseldorf, Germany, and came to this country with his parents when he was 6 years old to live in Brooklyn, and then the family lived in Portland, Ore., until they came to Mill Valley 25 years ago.

Mr. von der Werth was an importer of things from China for many years. Now he works with his sons in the von der Werth Construction Co. in Greenbrae.

Kenneth Schultz Claims Bride In Palo Alto Church Ceremony

The First Baptist Church in Palo Alto was the setting for the marriage Saturday afternoon of Kenneth Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley, and Mary Louise Abbott.

She was given in marriage by her father in the nuptial ceremony performed by the Rev. Lynn Hunwick. She wore a full length gown of white silk organza and lace with bell skirt and chapel train.

Gowned identically in full length gowns of floral print in shades of turquoise were her attendants, Sandra Galeppi, of Minden, Nev., maid of honor; and Vicki Connett of La Canada, Anne Herzberg of Palo Alto and Judy Gilpin of La Canada.

Best man was Frank Ker of Palo Alto, an Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity brother of Kenneth's. Escorting guests to their seats were Roger Bloom of Patterson, the bridegroom's cousin; Robert Abbott, the bride's brother, and Richard Hulett of Glendora.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Freemont Hills Country Club. The young couple then flew to the Hawaiian Islands for a two weeks' honeymoon, and on their return will live in Palo Alto, where Kenneth will do graduate work in nuclear engineering at Stanford. Both of the young people were graduated from Stanford this month.

Mary Louise is a graduate of Palo Alto High School. She spent last spring and summer on the Stanford-in-France campus.

Kenneth was graduated from Tamalpais High School. In his junior year he was a student on the Stanford-in-Germany campus.

Today is Monday, June 22, the 174th day of 1964 with 192 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1874, Dr. Andrew Taylor Sill of Macon, Mo., established the science of ostepathy.

In 1940, France fell to Nazi Fermany, which invaded Russia exactly one year later.

In 1942, the U. S. Post Office sent its first filmed "V" mail to American soldiers in England.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

All Bridge Players Need A Reliable Crystal Ball

What this country needs is a good five-cent crystal ball so that a bridge player can find out in advance which suit is going to break well for him.

In the meantime, ask the opponents. If you ask them the right way they may give you a truthful answer.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

West leads the ten of spades and you count seven fast tricks. You need two addition tricks for your contract.

NEEDS TRICK

The king of diamonds is one. You simply must assume that West has the ace since otherwise you will not make this hand. But you still need one other trick.

You can develop a long club if each opponent has three clubs. Or you can develop a long diamond if each opponent has three diamonds. You have to develop the right suit quickly, since otherwise the opponents will get their five tricks before you get nine.

You're not likely to find out much from playing the diamonds, but you may get an answer if you let the opponents signal to each other in clubs.

SIGNAL COUNT

Win the first trick with the king of spades and lead the king of clubs. In this case West may begin a high-low by playing the eight; and this will tell you that the clubs will not break favorably.

Having discovered what you want to know, you switch to a low diamond and play low from the dummy. When a spade comes back, you win with the ace and lead your other diamond.

Now West cannot shut out dummy's diamonds. You can get to dummy with the queen of spades to cash the king of diamonds and then run the rest of dummy's long suit.

OPPONENTS FAIL

What if the opponents fail to signal when you lead the clubs? Too bad. There's quite a good chance that they will signal.

If the lowest missiong club appears, keep on with the clubs; if it fails to appear, switch to diamonds.

What if neither suit breaks 3-3? You may not be able to buy a crystal ball, but you can buy a crying towel almost anywhere.

QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A K J
♡ A K 5 3
♣ A K 6 2

What do you say?

Answer: Most experts would bid one club.

The opening bid of 2 NT should guarantee a stopper in each suit. Still, some fine players would take a chance on bidding 2 NT to describe the general strength of the hand.

200 feet of waterfront anchorage set at the tip of land adjoining a private deep water canal. This 2½-story East San Rafael home is tree-surrounded with a large living room, formal dining room with exit to the patio. The kitchen has a bay-windowed breakfast area with view of the canal and Mt. Tam. The main floor also has a bedroom and bath. Upstairs are two more bedrooms, adjoining bath and study room. Downstairs is a rumpus room which leads out to a large concreted, glass-sheltered patio with a barbecue area. There is also a completely fenced in area which could be used for a children's protected playground or a pool site.

AN ORDINANCE RESTRICTING THE PARKING OF VEHICLES ON PORTIONS OF TIBURON BOULEVARD, A STATE HIGHWAY, TO THIRTY MINUTES BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 8:00 A.M. AND 6:00 P.M.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS of the County of Marin, State of California, do ordain as follows:

SECTION I: That the southwesterly side of Tiburon Boulevard, State Highway Route 52, between 46 feet and 91 feet northwesterly of the intersection of the southwesterly line of Tiburon Boulevard and the northwesterly line of Juanita Lane, is hereby designated pursuant to Section 22506 of the Vehicle Code of the State of California, as restricted and limited to parking for intervals or periods not exceeding thirty minutes in duration between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 6:00 P.M. on each and every day, and it is hereby directed that the necessary parking signs be erected on said Tiburon Boulevard as required to direct traffic.

SECTION II: This ordinance shall cease to be operative six months after receipt by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin of written notice of withdrawal of approval of the State of California Department of Public Works.

SECTION III: This ordinance having heretofore been submitted to and approved in writing by the Department of Public Works of the State of California, shall go into effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance, the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; providing, however, that the parking limitation and restriction for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of the highway in the County of Marin.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to wit:

ORDINANCE NO. 1364

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 35 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portion of the local highway hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 25 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highway and is reasonable and safe. It is also determined that an emergency exists which requires urgent and immediate intervention by the County of Marin through the adoption of this ordinance to regulate the prima facie speed limit hereinabove referred to.

SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be twenty-five (25) miles per hour upon the following portion of the local highway in the County of Marin:

a. Along County Road No. 103, commonly designated as Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, extending from a point approximately 1.3 miles northwest of Fairfax to a point approximately 1.7 miles northwest of Fairfax.

SECTION III: This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency ordinance and shall go into effect immediately upon its adoption and shall be published once within fifteen days following its adoption in a newspaper of general circulation published and circulated within the County of Marin with the names of the Supervisors voting for or against the same. The facts constituting the emergency and which require that this ordinance become effective immediately upon its adoption are set forth in Section I hereof.

SECTION IV: This ordinance hereby repeals any and all other ordinances or parts thereof in conflict herewith.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors held on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to-wit:

ORDINANCE NO. 1363
AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, APPROVING PRECISE DEVELOPMENT PLANS FOR THE LOS RANCHITOS R-P DEVELOPMENT AND SETTING FORTH CONDITIONS WHICH MUST BE OBSERVED.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: The precise Development Plans for the Los Ranchitos R-P Master Plan are hereby approved, which approval shall be in accordance with the following:

A. The development, maintenance and use of the property shall be carried on in conformance with certain maps and plans entitled as follows:

1. "Proposed 46-unit Apartment Development, Merrydale Road," W. P. Beck, Designer, marked "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans, May 4, 1964," Sheet 1 of 3.

2. "Proposed 46-unit Apartment Development, Merrydale Road," W. P. Beck, Designer, marked "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans, May 4, 1964," Sheet 2 of 3.

3. "Perimeter Planting Plan, Apartment Development," Claire Tilden, Landscape Architect, marked, "Los Ranchitos R-P Development Plans," Sheet 3 of 3.

B. The development, maintenance and use of the property shall be further subject to the following conditions:

1. Prior to issuance of building permits for any buildings, an improvement agreement shall be executed, supported by performance bond, providing for improvement of the Merrydale Road frontage of this project with curb and gutter, sidewalk, and intervening paving, in location established by the Director of Public Works, and for installation of planting on the project according to the plans hereby approved.

2. Site grading and drainage shall be performed according to plans subject to the approval of the Director of the Department of Public Works, and, if involved, the Division of Highways.

C. The maps and plans designated in Sub-section A hereof shall be filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, along with a copy of this Ordinance, by the Planning Department, after authorization in writing for such filing, and the filing fee has been secured from the owner or owners of said land, and said authorization shall be construed to constitute his or their acceptance of the conditions set forth herein.

D. No building shall be constructed, maintained or used other than for the purposes specified on the maps and plans as described in Sub-section A hereof.

SECTION 2: Adoption of this Ordinance is not and shall not be construed as acceptance by the County of Marin of any streets or roads proposed or offered for dedication and shown on said approved Development Plans.

SECTION 3: This Ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect after the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage and the same shall be published before the expiration of fifteen (15) days with the names of the members voting for and against the same at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 16th day of June, 1964, by the following vote, to-wit:

Unpledged Elector Scheme Extinct?

By JAMES FREE
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Is the unpledged presidential elector movement unconstitutional?

A legal historian, writing in the latest journal of the American Bar Assn., thinks the answer is "Yes." And he forecasts that the U.S. Supreme Court will kill this relic of "a by-gone day" when it is confronted with the issue.

Donald A. Meyer, New Orleans attorney and an official of the American Society for Legal History (ASLH), thinks the issue may be presented to the high tribunal before long.

Writing in the June issue of the Bar Journal, Meyer says:

"The problem will present itself boldly in 1964. It is suggested that the language of Gray vs. Sanders (Georgia redistribting case of 1963) foretells that the court recognizes the problem and anticipates colliding with it in the not-too-distant future."

He does not mention Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace by name, but clearly has the Wallace operation of 1964 in mind. Governor Wallace already has a bloc of unpledged electors committed in Alabama and is seeking more in Louisiana, Mississippi and other states.

Meyer reasons that development of the national party nomination system since 1832 has made obsolete the original concept of free and independent electors who would meet in each state to decide how that state's votes for president would be cast. He cites a number of state and supreme court decisions to support his thesis.

In the Georgia case last year, the Supreme Court said that the 14th, 15th, 17th and 19th amendments show that the Alexander Hamilton philosophy of unfettered electors "belongs to a bygone day and should not be considered in determining what the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment requires in statewide elections."

Meyer also cited a 1962 supreme court decision in an Alabama case, Ray vs. Blair, in which it was held that the long-standing practice of candidates for elector pledging their votes in advance was constitutional. Other rulings of the high court, he said, have held that electors are state officials, and that "all who participate in their election must have an equal vote under state law."

State court decisions cited by Meyer included:

1. Nebraska, in 1942, determining that Republican electors "ipso facto" vacated their positions when they refsued to support the GOP nominees.

2. Utah in 1953 refusing to include on the primary ballot persons running for elector who were not pledged to support nominees of a political party.

3. New York in 1948 holding that electors do not have the right to vote independently of their political party.

Meyer said in an interview that any Alabama voter so inclined could challenge in court Governor Wallace's unpledged "Democratic" elector plan under which the voter will be denied the right to vote for nominees of the national Democratic Party in November.

Electors pledged to support President Lyndon B. Johnson lost to unpledged electors by a wide margin in the May 5 Alabama primary. No Johnson electors will appear on the November general election ballot in the state. The choice there will be between pledged Republican electors and unpledged Wallace electors.

Meyer noted that a similar suit would have been possible in Louisiana had the State Democratic Central Committee adopted a recent proposal for elimination from the November ballot electors pledged to the national Democratic Party nominees. As in Alabama, Meyer contends that Louisiana voters who wanted to vote for the Democratic nominees would have been in effect disenfranchized.

Meyer also maintained that a state delegate attending a national party convention in response to a "call," such as the national Democratic Party issued in 1960, would breach an implied third party contract by supporting candidates other than those nominated by that convention.

Any such delegate who happened also to be a presidential elector would be subject to a suit for breach of trust, according to Meyer.

Car-Crash Victim Says He Intended To Leap Off Span

A Daly City man who crashed into the car of a Golden Gate Bridge toll officer Saturday night said later he had intended to jump off the bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The officer, Edward A. Ashoff, 49, of 415 Johnson Street, Sausalito, had been alerted earlier by Daly City police that Raymond Lindsay, 44, might be planning to leap from the bridge.

Observing Lindsay's car enter a northbound tollgate, Ashoff drove in front of it to prevent it from traveling onto the bridge. Lindsay failed to see the Ashoff car and crashed into it, the patrol reported.

The Daly City man was taken to San Francisco General Hospital where he was still under observation today.

Mill Valley Student Gets Bachelor Degree

John C. Aird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Aird, 80 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, has received a bachelor of arts degree from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

Aird, who plans to teach, was captain of the school's 1963 football team, vice-president of the college Varsity Club, a member of the Gleen Club, and a cast member of the Class Night productions.

Fairfax School Board Will Review Budget

Fairfax School District board will review the budget for 1964-65 and consider the resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin, a seventh grade teacher at Fairfax Central School, at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Central School.

Request for authorization to purchase an air conditioner for the district office also will be considered.

Kentfield Man Gets Sheepskin In East

Daniel N. DeWilde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. DeWilde of 135 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, has received a bachelor's degree in English from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

He was a member of the college glee club and on the staff of the campus radio station. He plans to do graduate work in communications at Stanford University.

Grasshoppers were convicted of trespassing in a 16th Century English court trial. Defense witnesses — nature lovers and scientists — argued that the insects had the same right to life as humans. But the judge held that grasshoppers were subject to extermination if they remained in farmers' fields.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Heart attacks occur for many reasons, varying from too much cholesterol in the blood to emotional stress. Many victims of coronary thrombosis are overly ambitious and tell of having worked long hours or holding down a job that produces frustrations, restlessness or discontent. Others were insecure. Some also have high blood pressure and are overweight.

IT IS DIFFICULT to single out any one of these factors as causative but combinations increase the chances of developing a heart attack. A high blood cholesterol, plus obesity, plus hypertension is worse than one of these alone.

A low fat diet is reasonable, especially when the amount of cholesterol in the blood is too high or the individual comes from a coronary-prone family. An elevated cholesterol and hypertension encourage hardening and narrowing of the coronary arteries. But this does not represent a heart attack which occurs only when an artery is obstructed. It is here that other causes enter the picture.

Evidence exists that many heart attacks follow a hemorrhage into the wall of a coronary artery. As a result the inner lining of the blood vessel swells and obstruction occurs. Heart attacks after emotional stress could be explained on this basis.

A VITAMIN C deficiency also may play a role by making the capillaries more fragile. In addition there is evidence that a coronary artery becomes plugged by a clot that forms because blood is too "sticky." This is the opposite of hemophilia, in which the blood will not coagulate.

A tendency to clot is marked in certain types of coronary candidates, especially men between 40 and 60 years of age with an overabundance of cholesterol. The blood returns to normal when a low fat diet is consumed, along with vegetable oils.

HERNIATED DISK

H. O. writes: What is meant by a crushed disk in the back?

REPLY

The disks separate the vertebras and also act as cushions. When crushed, the soft material in them may protrude and press upon the spinal cord. Most slipped or herniated disks fall into this category. The structure usually is tough and unless it degenerates through age or injury, can withstand considerable abuse.

SORE WRIST

G. R. writes: I fractured a wrist 1½ years ago. It still pains me and the doctor says I have traumatic arthritis. Is there any relief for this type of soreness?

REPLY

Traumatic arthritis is best treated with physical therapy—heat, massage, and gentle manipulation. A wrist support spares the joint when working.

BLADDER TUMOR

A. W. writes: How is tumor of the bladder diagnosed?

REPLY

By means of a cystoscopic examination and removing a small piece of tissue (biopsy) for laboratory study. The cystoscope is a tubular instrument with a light on one end and a magnifying eye piece on the other. It is passed into the bladder through the urethra.

MANIC - DEPRESSIVE

A. H. writes: Does a split personality refer to a mental disease?

REPLY

Yes — schizophrenia. In this mental disorder, the individual suffers from hallucinations, delusions, fears, or feelings of inadequacy. Some alternate between a depressive and a manic personality.

HEEL SPURS

C.B. writes: X-rays show spurs on both heels and the doctor is injecting cortisone into these growths. But I don't feel any better and wonder if there is a sure cure.

REPLY

Surgery may be needed if injections and padding of the shoes do not help.

BACKACHE FROM KIDNEYS

A.G. writes: Is pain in the lower back a symptom of kidney trouble?

REPLY

Kidney pain usually is located on one side or the other of the small of the back, depending upon which organ is involved. Low back pain usually stems from arthritis or strain.

Scientists Report Link Between Virus, Cancer

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—Another link has been put into a chain of circumstantial evidence which connects a certain "virus-like particle" with human leukemia.

It was first found in persons who had that cancer of the blood. Then its shape and size were found to be practically indistinguishable from those of viruses which are proved canusers of leukemia in mice and fowl.

Now three cancer scientists have compared its population density in the blood of leukemic children and of healthy children and adults. The former harbored relatively large numbers and the latter had hardly any.

Whether viruses cause any form of sickness or don't often is a matter of viral numbers. Hence the investigations of quantities of Drs. Matilda Benyesh-Melnick, Kendall O. Smith and Donald J. Fernbach of Baylor University, Houston.

They magnified the blood samples 5,000 times in the electron microscope. Then they counted the "virus-like particles" in the field of magnification which is exceedingly small when magnification is so high.

In 10 out of 24 leukemic children there were 40 or more particles per field. In six there were 20 to 39 particles per field and in three the count was between 10 and 19. In one child there were only six to nine per field, in three there were only one to five and in one child there was none.

Of 40 normal children, 12 showed no particles. The highest count among them was 10 to 19 per field and the samples of four were in the category. Eight had six to nine and 16 had one to five. Out of 13 normal adults particles were found in the blood of only one and the count was below five. The scientists considered any count less than five a "negative" finding.

The search for human cancer viruses is among the most difficult and most frustrating phases of cancer research. Most cancer scientists have no doubt that viruses cause at least some human cancers, since viruses are the proved causers of a number of animal cancers.

But the proof that it is so remains elusive despite the best efforts of untold hundreds of research workers. So far there is no scientifically acceptable proof that viruses are responsible for even one human malignancy.

One basic trouble is the lack of a suitable "biologic system" for testing. Mouse viruses can be isolated and purified and injected into mice to see what they do. You can't put human viruses or even human "virus-like particles" into human beings experimentally when you suspect they may be cancer-causers.

At this stage scientists can't even be positive these "virus-like particles" are really viruses. It is conceivable that they might be debris from disintegrated cells. But the high magnifications of the electron microscope show they are contained in external membranes and have internal structures. That would seem to make them viruses.

Topless Suits Won't Do On New York's Beaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who wear topless bathing suits on the city's beaches will be arrested, says Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris.

A woman wearing such a suit Morris said yesterday, can expect a policeman to come up with a blanket, cover her, take her to a police station, and give her a summons.

Most earthquake faults are under the sea. One underland is the San Andreas Rift in California, which triggered the catastrophic San Francisco earthquake in 1906.

Demo Committee Suggests Choice For Postmaster

Theoder J. Lehmann of 23 Acacia Avenue, Belvedere, has been endorsed by the Marin County Democratic Central for appointment as postmaster of the Belvedere-Tiburon post office.

The endorsement of the 10-year-resident of Belvedere has been forwarded to Sen. Clair Engle in Washington, according to Robert Harmon of Belvedere, central committee member.

Lehmann's career in the postal service began in 1937 when he was a mailman in Minneapolis, Minn. He has served as an Army postal officer in Japan, Germany, Korea, the Canal Zone and at Fort Riley, Kan., and the San Francisco Port of Embarkation. Since 1960 he has been regional costs analyst for the post office department in San Francisco.

Car Whacks Pole, Passenger Hurt

Randolph F. Osborn, 19, of 26 Mohowk Avenue, Corte Madera, suffered cuts on the left arm early yesterday when the car in which he was riding hit a utility pole on Kent Avenue in Kentfield.

The driver, Michael F. Burke, 21, of 301 Oak Street, San Anselmo, told California Highway Patrolmen he saw a car coming at him as he rounded a curve adjacent to 207 Kent Avenue. He swerved, crashing into a wooden stake, several yards of fence, and finally the utility pole, according to patrol reports.

Osborn was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Three Girls Enter In Beauty Contest

Three Sonoma County girls have entered the "Miss Sonoma-Marin" beauty contest at the Sonoma-Marin Fair, July 9 - 12. They are Sharon Ann Klemenok of Petaluma, Jan Taylor of Santa Rosa and Linda Korb of Rohnert Park.

Contestants must be single, between the ages of 16-26, a resident of California for one year and of Marin or Sonoma for 90 days. Entry forms may be obtained from the chambers of commerce of the two counties.

Marinite Gets Vacaville Job

Leonard J. Clark of 7 Crescent Lane, Fairfax, has been appointed a student professional assistant at the California Medical Facility in Vacaville, Solano County.

A former Soil Conservation Service Technician, Clark has a bachelor's degree from University of Arizona and is a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

He will assist the facility's Protestant chaplain during the summer.

Auto Blaze Stalls Traffic On 101

An automobile fire in the northbound lanes of Highway 101 on Puerto Suello Hill caused a traffic jam yesterday about 12:30 p.m.

Albert Ahern of Santa Venetia told San Rafael firemen he was towing a friend's auto when his car's automatic transmission overheated, setting fire to some oil underneath the car. Traffic behind the mishap was backed up for some 500 yards, according to witnesses.

The car's floor mat and some electrical wiring was also scorched. Ahern lives at 29 Roosevelt Avenue.

Today an estimated half-million Tuaregs roam the mountains and plains of the central and southern Sahara, ignoring frontiers. They are divided into five proud clans, speak their own language and accept the tenets of Islam.

MILLION-DOLLAR JAGUAR—NOT FOR SALE!

Deep within the largest pyramid is a chamber dominated by a throne in the shape of a red jaguar, spotted with inserts of green jade. The Mexican government refused $1,000,000 for it 30 years ago!

Far to the north stand the remains of another ancient city, Teotihuacan, which housed 250,000 people in 700 A.D.

And only 35 miles from there is a modern capital of today's world—Mexico City. Here, the tall buildings are examples of the best in modern architecture. Commerce and industry, theater and the arts, education and medicine, people and customs—all are of today's world.

Presented in the interest of international goodwill through the cooperation of The Advertising Council, the Consejo Nacional de la Publicidad, and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

SCULPTURE SHOWINGS—The sculpture of Joe Clark of Tiburon can be seen in three locations this summer and fall. His works will be on exhibit at the Palace of Legion of Honor in San Francisco starting Saturday and through July 26. The San Francisco Museum of Art will show some of his classical studies in an Arts of San Francisco exhibit July 7 through Aug. 9. Other works can be seen this fall at the Quay Gallery, Main Street, Tiburon.

Bay Air Defense Command Shifts

Lolli graduated from the National War College in 1957 and has commanded Air Defense groups in New York and San Francisco. He was deputy chief of staff for plans and operations at Air Defense headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo. There, he developed the Short Notice Annual Practice (SNAP)) system, a test of air defense missile readiness.

He has also taken part in 11 international conferences, including the Baghdad Conference, the Balkan Conference, and the Aegean-Black Sea Conference. At Fort Baker, Lolli will direct joint-service air defense operations for several western states.

Off-Road Tumble Injures Cyclist

David G. Danish, 29, a San Francisco postal clerk, suffered chin cuts yesterday when his motorcycle hit a log and rolled on an unmarked trail west of China Camp.

Danish was riding his late model cycle on a trail four miles east of Highway 101 at 1:30 p.m. when the vehicle hit the log, throwing him over the handlebars. He was given emergency treatment at San Rafael General Hospital after driving to a friend's house for help, and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco where he was released after further treatment.

Receives Certificate

Mrs. Eugenia K. Papp of 659 Wakerobin Lane, Terra Linda, has been awarded a certificate of completion for attending a series of seminars in nursing leadership at the California School of Nursing. Mrs. Papp is an in-service coordinator at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

The bastinado, or beating, method of reducing taxes was once practiced in the Near East. Potential taxpayers suspected of concealing assets were beaten until they promised to pay up—the sum required growing less with the amount of punishment suffered.

Girl Is Preparing For Summer Trip To Iran

Nina Suntzeff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Suntzeff of 64 Presidio Avenue, Corte Madera, is haunting the libraries to prepare for a summer trip to Iran.

Nina, who will be a senior at Redwood High School next fall, will leave June 27 from New York with other students who will be taking part in the American Field Service summer program. She is due to return on Sept. 26.

She will live with an Iranian family. The father is a retired army major who works at the United States Mission in Tehran. The mother has a doctorate in chemistry. There are two boys, ages 17 and 9, and a girl, age 15, in the family.

Nina has been studying the history and customs of Iran in libraries and plans to learn "a little" Persian while living with the family. She has been advised to pack no more than 40 pounds of light summer clothing for the 100-degree summer heat in Tehran.

Japanese Consul Talk

Kenya Iwasaki, Japanese consul in San Francisco, will speak on Japan's relationship to the United States to the San Rafael Kiwanis Club at noon Thursday at the Mission Inn, 720 B Street, San Rafael.

Pre-School Recreation Signups Announced

Registration for the San Rafael Recreation Department's summer recreation program for preschoolers will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at neighborhood parks and playgrounds.

Classes will be held for three to four-year-olds on Tuesdays and for four to five-year-olds on Thursdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Architects Elect Mill Valley Man As Vice President

Architect Rex Whitaker Allen of 258 Hillside Avenue, Mill Valley, was elected a vice president of the American Institute of Architects at the group's convention in St. Louis last week.

He is the chairman of the institute's committee on hospital architecture and has served as consultant on California's Hospital Advisory Board. The firm of Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates of San Francisco had designed many hospitals and related medical facilities including the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael and San Francisco's French Hospital.

Four Earn Certificates In Child Care Class

Two sisters from St. Vincent's School for Boys and two social workers from Marin County Juvenile Hall will receive awards of completion from University of California Extension Saturday for finishing a program in residential child care practice.

Sister M. Francis Damien Hennies and Sister M. Guala Wimmer from St. Vincent's will receive awards, along with juvenile hall workers Jack J. Hoffman of 162 Belvedere St., San Rafael, and William J. Jackson of 2063 Huckleberry Road, San Rafael.

Victims of alcoholism often experience blackouts — complete loss of memory for hours or days at a time.

Planners Will Set Hearing On Bid For Kaiser Hospital

San Rafael Planning Commission will set a hearing date at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on a requested revision of the Northgate North master plan to permit a Kaiser medical clinic and hospital instead of a motor hotel. A date also will be set for a hearing on a use permit for the project.

Permanente Medical Foundation plans to build the hospital if a proposed agreement is approved by the foundation's board of directors late this month. The 10-acre site immediately north of the shopping center had been approved for an office building and motel-convention center.

Public hearings are scheduled on rezoning of the old Coleman School property from unclassified district to administrative-professional, and on a request from Drs. Michael Franzblau and William Filante for a use permit for a medical office building at 540-44-48 D Street. Architectural approval also is requested for the proposed building.

The commission also will consider architectural approval for the Northgate Dental Building on the east side of Northgate Drive and for a new American French Laundry building at Lovell and Jordan Streets.

Also on the agenda: resubdivisions of Peacock Gap units one, three and four; tentative map of the Rafael Woods subdivision on D Street and Meyer Road; architectural approval for an 18-unit apartment addition to a duplex on Prospect Avenue near Lincoln.

Community Band Sets Rehearsal Schedule

The College of Marin Community Band will rehearse each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. during the college summer session, starting June 24. A concert is planned in July.

The band has openings for players of wind and percussion instruments. Membership is open to high school, college and adult musicians.
